Of course, I turned them all down," said the big fellow. "I had all I wanted to think about for a while. My experience? Well, it seems miraculous that I was ever gotten out alive. It was on the 7th of December, and I had been working for the Edison Electric com-pany. While working underground I suddenly found myself buried under earth and stone. I was partially pinned down, but did not think there was, and that I should soon be res-cued. It was three days before I could get a reply to my signals, made by tapping the rail 21 times with a stone, which I gathered from under my body. On the third day I heard 21 taps on the rail in reply to my sig-nat, and knew they had heard me. We signalled back and forth every little while until they drove the pipe through which I afterward derived sustenance until I was dug out. The little pipe came through first right above my head and they poured some water through it and I licked it up from the ground. It was the drst I had tasted for three days. I directed the driving of the larger pipe, and they stopped it just where I wanted it. I got mike every 15 minutes through this pipe the first day, and atterwards egg nogg with the mitk. for Copper City, some three miles dis-tant. About 7 o'clock p. m., April 25, Fre-mont Cobb, L. M. Culver, J. Edward Sproat and Mrs, Sproat were slitting in a tent at Copper City. Mr, Sproat heard a step outside and, stepping to the opening, met Jack Warde. The latter asked: "Who sent for me?" Mr, Sproat replied: "No one that I know of." Mr, Culver then went out-side and, placing his hand on Warde's shoulder, asked him to leave and areid trouble. Jack pulled his gun and warned Culver not to touch him. With his gun drawn and pointing slightly upward. Warde stepped to the tent door and, seeing Cobb, called him a "divty cur" and invited him out on the flat to "shoot it out." Noticing the presence of Mrs. Sproat, Jack remark-ed: "I beg your pardon. I hate to do this in the presence of a lady, but I've got to." At that instant two quick teports rang out. Warde fell to his knees, then to his hands and knees, then fall on his face. Partly rising, the unfortunate man muttered "Jack Warde will never"—and expired. One shot had entered his chest, the other entered his head just back of the right ear. Theater-It would have been worth several hundred dollars to the Augustin Daly company, if it had opened its Sait Lake engagement in "The Cingaiee," instead of the "Country Girl." The engagement, which has been drawing only fair business at the theater since the opening, due largely to the lack of interest in the "Country Girl." promises to take a bound the remainder of the week, as "The Cingalee" last night made an emphatic hit. The opera is more amusing, brighter and opera is more amusing, brighter and permits of much more gorgeous secti-ery and mountings than the other, and its music, while light, is much more pleasing to the average andience. The principals, too, were given better op-portunities, and a special hit was made by Miss Finlay in the part of the Cing-alese Girl. She did some charming singing and acting and was altogether efficient in her role. Mr. Mostyn, in the part of the Indian noble, was good as ever and his typical song, "There STOP GRUMBLING

Mr. Stewart's sweet baritone volce, was also heard to good advantage and he and Miss Fin-lay had some hearty recalls for their clover duct work. Mr. Collins, the comedian, was again the center of laughter and his dancing work with Miss Kellogg drew uproarious ap-plause. The costumes of the chorus, especially the Indian rug effect, were admirable, while the scenic mounting, in particular the Illumination of the last act, was most beautiful.
