Millerand means to take advantage of the czar's visit to negotiate a treaty which will assist French wine growers in the Russian market."

Mayor Hawley gave a brief address of welcome, and the Vice President was then introduced. He spoke of the measure of obligation of the country as that which ended in procuring in-spendence for Cuba, and giving to the Philippines a freedom to which they could not have attaned had we per-mitted them to fall in anarchy or un-der tyranny. Un-der these circumstances, the cablegram states, it will be necessary to meet the move of Ecuador by having Colom bian war vessels in Pacific waters near

The privilege of purchasing commis-sary stores at the government ware-houses in the Philippines was taken away from all civilians by an order of the secretary of war issued in June, and as that order was widely published, it was presumed that the teachers who sailed subsequent to its issuance were aware of its existence. The letter and circular issued by the war department to applicants for these positions in the Philippines contain no direct statement upon the subject of commissary privileges, but the promise that they would have these privileges might have been assumed from statements contained in a "Manual of information in relation to the Philip-allas Matteson, was arrested at Meeteetse a few days ago and brought to Cody to stand trial for the murder of Samuel Cartson, the Paint Rock ranchman, who was killed during the latter part of June.

Cartson lived alone in a little cabin on Paint Rock and it was supposed that he had hidden a large sum of money in his house. Hunters found the dead body of Cartson at the cabin and unmistakable evidence of murder. A careful search was made for the mur-derer, but the officers were completel, baffied, there being not a single clu upon which to work.

A few days after the finding of Cart son's body, Curley Roberts came to Cody and as he rode into town he called to the people to keep away from him as he had the smallpox. An examination showed that Roberts told the truth and he was confined in the pest house until cured of the disease. After his dis-charge from the hospital Roberts tended bar at a local saloon, and it was while intoxicated one night recently that he made several remarks that aroused the suspicions of the officers.

Following the clue the officers are said to have obtained sufficient evidence to warrant Roberts' arrest. The bartender got wind of the matter, how-ever, and fled to Meeteetse, where he was caught It is said the authorities have a good case against Roberts, and that in all probability the mystery surrounding the death of Cartson will be cleared up.

Australian Politics.

London, Sept. 6 .- The Melbourne cor-London, sept. 6.— The Melbourne cor-respondent of the Times says that in the debate on the postal bill in the federal parliament, a labor member proposed an amendment prohibiting colored labor on mail steamers, the ministers sympathized with the object of the amendment but opposed it on the ground that the insertion of the clause would probably lead to the royal assent to the bill not being granted. The labor party pressed the amendment, and Mr. Barton, the premier, then accepted it, saying that if the bill were vetoed, the house must remember the warning that had been given. One labor member thereupon cried: "Down with the imperial veto."

The correspondent goes on to say that it is believed that the federal tariff bill, now under consideration by the cabinet, comprehends substantial protection for exotic industries; other duties purely for revenue, and a low dragnet duty on merchandise otherwise unprovided for. The dragnet duty is disapproved by commercial circles. The terms of the tariff bill will probably be decided on late next week.
