Prof. Truman Henry Saftord Will be Buried at Williamstown, Mass.

New York, June 14 .- Prof. Truman Henry Safford, the mathematician and astronomer, whose death has just been announced, will be buried in the college burying ground at Williamstown, Mass Since he first suffered an attack of par-alysis in 1884, Prof. Safford has been conducting several elective courses at Williams college. A widow, four sons, a daughter, Mrs. F. E. Dewey, of Milwaukee, Wis., survive him, He was born at Royalton, Vermont, sixty-five years ago. At an early age he attracted attention by his powers o calculation. He could mentally extract the square and cube root of numbers of nine and ten places of figures and could multiply four figures by four figures as rapidly as it could be done upon paper. In 1845, when he was nine years old and nine years before he was graduated from Harvard college, he prepared an almanac and at the age of 14 he calculated the elliptic el mon's of the first comet of 1849. By a method of his own he abridged by one-fourth the labor of calculating the rising and setting of the moon. After long and difficult problems had been read to him once, he could give their results without effort Prof. Benjamin Peirce said of him it 1846 that his knowledge "is accompany led with powers of abstraction and concentration rarely possessed at any age, except by minds of the highest order." He spent several years at the Harvard observatory after his graduation and between 1850 and 1862 he computed the orhits or many planets and comets. In 1865 he was appointed professor tronomy in the University of Chicago and director of the Dearborn observa tory, where he discovered many nev nebulae. From 1869 to 1871 he was en-gaged upon the great catalogue of stars then in course of preparation by the co-operation of European and American astronomers. Interrupted in this work

The chief interest centered in the pending American proposition that the indemnity complication be referred to The Hague tribunal. None of the governments has yet announced its poslsald tion as to this plan, but the prevailing sentiment among the callers seemed to be that a reference to The Hague would intail more delay. One of them re-marked that it would mean at least nother six months of negotiation.

If the Russian government concurs in the suggestion, as has been reported unofficially, it will materially add to the chances that the reference to The Hague will be made. On the other hand, at least one of the continental powers is thought to be quite strongly opposed to removing the negotiations from Pekin.
