

CONFERENCE OF ENSIGN STAKE

President Richard W. Young Reports on the Conditions Prevailing.

PRESIDENT ANTHON H. LUND

Urges the Advisability of Assisting Young People to Remain Within The Confines of the Stake.

The morning session of the quarterly conference of the Ensign stake convened yesterday in the Assembly Hall with President Richard W. Young presiding.

Of the general authorities of the Church present there were Presidents John R. Winder, Anthon H. Lund, Elders Francis M. Lyman, John Henry Smith, Heber J. Grant, Rodney Clawson, Hyrum M. Smith, Seymour B.
Young and Andrew Jensen.

The Thirtieth and Eighteenth ward Sunday schools were in attendance and furnished music for the services under the direction of William N. Shoen-berger, chorister of Sabbath schools. The meeting commenced at 10 o'clock by the schools singing the song entitled "Joseph Smith's First Prayer." Invocation was offered by Elder Willard Young, after which the singers rendered a selection entitled "My Sabbath Home."

PRESIDENT R. W. YOUNG.

President Richard W. Young made the opening address, welcoming those present, and in reporting briefly the conditions prevailing in the stake. Since the organization of the stake three and a half years ago, good progress had been made throughout the stake and in the several wards and their various departments, and all at present are in a prosperous and flourishing condition.
He referred to the fact that owing to the steady advance in the price of real estate within the boundaries of the stake, many of the young people were desirous of making homes moved to suburban parts of the city, and thus the stake's population was kept down and they were deprived of many whose services would be of great value in the various organizations, and he therefore urged that the bishops of wards and prominent brethren and sisters use their influence and assistance to retain these young folks, as there was still considerable property situated upon the north and east bench of the city and within the confines of the stake which might be obtained very reasonably and make desirable homes. President Young also strongly urged the importance of parents encouraging their sons and daughters to attend the schools of the various auxiliary organizations, where they may receive valuable instructions and training in the principles of the gospel, as the spiritual development and education of children were of greater importance and matters in which the Latter-day Saints should be more deeply concerned than even their temporal education, while, of course, that too should not be neglected.

The speaker stated that for some reason or other the enrollment in the Relief societies of this stake fell below the average membership of other wards throughout the Church. In order that membership might be increased in this association, an appeal was made to the younger sisters to identify themselves with the organization, and it was pointed out that owing to the nature of the work among these societies, the younger members might render valuable service in ministering among the people.

President Young then submitted the report of the general authorities of the Church and stake officers all of whom were unanimously sustained.

BISHOP M. S. WOOLLEY.

Bishop Marcellus S. Woolley of the Twenty-first ward made a brief statement with reference to the work they were accomplishing in his ward. About five years ago, what now composes the Twenty-seventh ward was cut off from the Twenty-first ward, greatly reducing its size of the former. However, the people since that time had quite generally rallied to the support of the bishops and a steady advance and prosperity had been made in all the departments of the ward. The times had improved with every year, and he pointed with pride to the commodious ward chapel had built since that time, and the splendid conditions and attractiveness of all the ward buildings and their surroundings. Good feeling prevailed among the people and in all the organizations, and he believed that the Lord was attending their labors.

PRESIDENT A. H. LUND.

President Anthon H. Lund emphasized the suggestion thrown out by President Young in his remarks regarding the advisability of using influence and assisting the young people of the stake to make their homes within the confines of the stake, and also endorsed the counsel given to the younger sisters to unite with the Relief societies in performing the noble work devolving upon them.

He also called attention to the fact that today being the 23rd of September, it was just 30 years since the Prophet Joseph Smith received the plates from which the Book of Mormon was translated, and that 34 years ago today the Prophet received his first vision from the Angel Moroni, and it was about 37 years ago since he received his first vision in answer to his prayer as to which of all the religions dominating the world he should unite himself with, believing as he did at that time that he should be able to find one among them that was right. In response to this petition he received a visitation from the Father and the Son and to his surprise was informed that none of the churches existing at that time was accepted as His true Church; but that all had gone astray more or less; but that in the due time of the Lord he should be chosen to re-establish the true Church of Christ upon the earth. The speaker dwelt at some length upon the manner in which the Prophet Joseph in his youth was prepared and instructed in the great work about to be ushered in.
He also pointed out that the promises contained in the eleventh chapter of Isaiah regarding the setting up of an sign in the latter days unto which all the peoples should gather, and also regarding the gathering together of the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth was being fulfilled as a result of the work established by the Prophet Joseph Smith.

PRESIDENT F. M. LYMAN.

President Francis M. Lyman endorsed the remarks of President Young with reference to the importance of giving children the proper spiritual training in connection with their education along secular lines, as it was of vital importance to them that the love of God, which also embraced the love of mankind, be impressed strongly upon their souls, together with the purity which should be most thoroughly developed within them and strongly established in their hearts. He felt that with proper and careful training children would retain their faith,

As a rule it is a safe practice not to put into the stomach anything that is not nourishing and easy of digestion.

and that very few of them would contract bad habits or be given to wickedness to any degree. The necessity of all holding positions of responsibility of setting proper examples was emphasized. In addition to preaching the gospel to the world an important part of our mission is to live the gospel at home. In his travels throughout the various stakes he was pleased to note improvement among those called to preside and occupy positions of responsibility among the people, and therefore the people are becoming stronger and more firmly established as a Church, and he felt that the Lord was pleased with the people in the efforts they were making to perfect themselves.

PRESIDENT WINDER.

President John R. Winder said he was gratified with the feature introduced at these conferences of assembling the children of the Sabbath schools to furnish the splendid music.
He also called attention to the desirability of keeping up the excellence of the tabernacle choir, and to this end he suggested that if the presidency of the stake or bishops of wards knew of brethren and sisters possessed of good voices for singing, they should encourage them to identify themselves with the tabernacle choir, and as far as possible such individuals should be released from other duties on the night of their rehearsals, which occur every Thursday evening, and they should always be free to attend the afternoon services at the tabernacle. The people generally should be urged to attend the tabernacle services.

The Sabbath schools then rendered the selection, "Peace be Still," after which benediction was pronounced by Elder John C. Sharp and conference was adjourned to meet in the tabernacle at 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Elder Andrew Jensen Gives Discourse
On the Book of Mormon.

The afternoon session of the Ensign stake conference convened in the tabernacle, President R. W. Young presiding. Elder Andrew Jensen gave the address, and in his discourse upon the coming forth of the Book of Mormon and cited historical facts to prove its authenticity. The choir sang: "Praise be to the Lord," and the Cumorah valley hills, a sacred region, was reconstructed. The "Hallelujah Chorus," Elders V. L. Halliday and John Henry Smith led in the invocation and benediction respectively.

Elder Jensen spoke first of the early manifestations that were given to the Prophet Joseph Smith and related many incidents which attended the translating and publication of the Book of Mormon. "Eighty years ago today," said the speaker, "look place an event that we may say has turned the world upside down. On that memorable day stood two personages on the hill Cumorah, one an angel of God, the other a farmer boy only 17 years of age. On that occasion the angel of the Lord delivered to this boy a record which has become universally known throughout the civilized world.
The nature of the work among these societies, the younger members might
among the people.

MANY TRANSLATIONS.

The Book of Mormon has been published as follows: Four editions in the Danish language, French, German (six editions), Italian, Spanish, Swedish (two editions), Swedish (two editions), Dutch, Maori, Spanish, Samoan, Tahitian, Turkish, Japanese; it has been translated into other languages but not yet ready for the press. The speaker related the result of investigations he had made in regard to the three witnesses and the eight witnesses, and he read numerous statements from the children and grandchildren of those witnesses which proved that they never denied the statements they made in regard to the Book of Mormon.

Elder Jensen then called attention to the historical importance of the Book of Mormon; referred to the period of time which it covers in the history of the western land, and related many traditions which have been handed down for generations which corroborate the historical data given in the Book of Mormon. The Spaniards, in conquering Mexico, destroyed most of the Aztec records, but from a few fragments which have been preserved much light has been perpetuated. The speaker referred to many traditions held by the Indians of America which prove their origin to be as stated in the Book of Mormon. In a work written by C.
Colton and published in London in 1832, mention is made of the tradition held by the Indians of Mexico that a book was once in the possession of their ancestors which told them that the Great Spirit used to foretell future events for their fathers, that angels once talked with them, that all the Indian tribes descended from one man who had 12 sons. The Indians also believe that the spirit of prophecy and manifestations of the spirit which their ancestors once enjoyed would some day be restored to them, and that they would recover the book which had so long been lost. In addition to the numerous traditions of the Indians to which the speaker referred, he quoted from various writers to show that there are many customs and parts of ceremonies which led even those writers to believe that the early inhabitants of America were of Hebrew origin.

NATIVE TRADITIONS.

The speaker then related experiences which occurred during his visit to various islands of the Pacific. The natives have a tradition that they came from a land far off, and that prior to that time they came from a land still farther away. This would correspond to the facts in the Book of Mormon, in which mention is made of the travels of the ancestors of the American Indians from Jerusalem till they landed on the coast of South America. The Book of Mormon tells of one Hagar who built vessel ships in which he and his companions sailed to the westward. The colonization of the islands is thus accounted for.

Elder Jensen spoke of the unsuccessful attempts which have been made to establish monarchies of various types in this land, and declared that such attempts will never succeed. He read from second Nephi the following statement: "And this shall be a land of liberty unto the gentiles, and there shall be no kings upon the land, and I will fortify this land against all other nations."

The speaker closed by bearing his testimony to the divinity of the Book of Mormon and the truth of the latter-day work.

SALOON RAIDED.

C. S. Swain Caught in Act of Lifting
The Lid Sunday.

Yesterday afternoon the police swooped down on a saloon operated by C. S. Swain at 168 west South Temple street and placed the proprietor under arrest for violating the Sunday closing law.

The police got a tip early in the day that Swain was operating a bar quietly in the rear of his place. They secured the necessary evidence and then made a raid on the place. Swain was taken to police headquarters but was released upon furnishing $100 bail.

SALT LAKE GETS IT.

G. A. R. Encampment of 1909 is Scheduled for This City.

Alfred Kent and R. G. Sleater returned yesterday from the national encampment of the Grand Army at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where over a million of dollars were brought into the city by the event. They say that Salt Lake will have the 1909 encampment, and might have had next year's, could the town have taken care of the crowds. The parade was held in a rainstorm, when the fatigue of the execution resulted fatally to two veterans, and 39 more were taken to the hospital. Mrs. A. B. Lawrence of this city, aged 60, was the only woman in the parade, and Thomas Loughney of Utah was the youngest man, being only 11 when he was mustered into the service, and 15 when mustered out.

SALT LAKE GETS FIRE CLAY PLANT

Further Details Regarding Big Industrial Concern Set Forth In Saturday's News.

EMPLOYMENT FOR 250 MEN.

Deal Involving Vast Acreage in Utah Clay Properties.

The extensive fire clay plant proposed to be instituted in this vicinity, mention of which was made in Saturday's "News," will doubtless be erected in Salt Lake, though the exact location has not been definitely settled upon.
The proposition, however, is well under way, and it is thought that early spring of next year will see the factory in operation.

For the most part, eastern capitalists will furnish money for the launching of the scheme, although it is quite possible that local parties will figure not a little in the venture. For many months Stowe & Palmer of this city have been busy on the project, with the result that options have been secured on several hundred acres of clay lands, which, it is thought, will turn out as fine a product as can be found anywhere in the west, and that means that the very best is obtainable here.

One of the largest tracts of clay lands, lying to the westward, of five miles, is near Fairfield.

Tar and Feathers Ready For the Local Drunkard

A certain individual living on the northeast bench near the city cemetery will be treated to a covering of tar and feathers if he persists in coming home crazy drunk with his past frequency. Some time ago he was arrested because he had arrived at home under the influence of liquor and made threats against his wife and children, of which he has several.
Neighbors at this time were tempted to turn in and horsewhip him but calm judgment was given the upper hand.
As the wife would not appear in court when her husband's hearing came up, he, of course, was released and since then has been a source of continual annoyance to everyone living within several blocks of his domicile or alone the wobbly path he follows between it and the rum shops down town.

The ugliest, most woeful exhibition of depravity and lack of manhood came a few nights ago. The respectable people in the neighborhood were awakened after midnight by loud laughing and cursing, the former in children's voices, the latter in a man's.
As the noise continued the thoroughly disgusted persons to whom sleep was impossible because of the racket right below their windows, got up to see what was carrying on. The sight was a pitiable one. Prone in the gutter was the neighborhood's drunkard; trying to get him on his feet his wife and one of his little daughters tugged and pulled at the helpless mass of liquor-soaked degeneracy. Another daughter held an infant in her arms, and could not aid. Both mother and daughters were laughing at the attempts of the husband and father to get up. Finally he succeeded with their help.

When he fell the next time it was flat across the street car tracks. The last car was coming up the street and frantically the mother and daughters pulled and lifted while the individual he can not be called a man--swore freely, cursing the wife and little daughters for making fun of him. Unluckily, though, the neighbors who got him up from the track before the car passed and he managed to reach the opposite side of the street where he clung desperately but unsuccessfully to a tree to save himself from rolling into the ditch. By this time the woman and her little ones were worn out by their exertions; the girl with the infant in her arms and the sister who "held the baby and I will try to lift papa up." It was some time before they could get him on his feet this time but crying and sobbing the girldren at last succeeded and supported their drunken parent out of hearing, clinging to him as he hurled curses at everything and nothing.

HENDERSON PAROLED.

He Has Served a Year and a Half of Three Year Sentence.

Frank K. Henderson, a convict in the state prison, was paroled Saturday afternoon, after serving a year and a half of a three year sentence, for assaulting a woman in Liberty park. A man who stole a cow and was sentenced to serve eight years in the state prison was denied the clemency of the board.

The board transacted the following business at its session Saturday: John W. Freshwater was pardoned after serving all but one day of his sentence. He was sent up by Judge Booth of Provo in 1904, on a voluntary plea.
He has been out on parole for some time.

George A. Williams, grand larceny four years from Feb. 25, 1905. Denied.
Samuel Cheneveth, grand larceny, four years from Dec. 6, 1905. Denied.
Leroy Horrocks, assault, eight and two years from January 27, 1906. Continued 60 days.

A. T. Day, murder of Horace H. Voss, sentenced to death. Application for commutation continued one month.
The following made application for commuted sentences, which applications were denied:

Peter Charland, burglary; Harry H.
Hawley, burglary; Charles Cromer, burglary; Hyrum Jusef, statutory offense; Clifford John Humphreys, highway robbery.

Thomas F. McNamara was granted a pardon after serving since January on a two-year sentence. He was sent up for breaking into a Bingham saloon while he was intoxicated. No longer a virtue.

Will R. Swan, the last of the bounty fraud men, asked for pardon and his application went over one month.

W. O. Gentry, himself, E. Burrell asked pardon, neither being granted.

NATURE PROVIDES FOR SICK WOMEN

a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicine and Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.

During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures of those peculiar ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person and every thinking woman.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacements, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.
