

to Evanston, Wyo., was enjoyed by a large number of Ogdenites.

At the home of Mrs. Frank Courney on Twenty-fifth street Thursday afternoon the guests of the Presbyterian church entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Poulton of Brookfield, Ontario, Ogden visitors this week with friends.

Mrs. C. A. Hartley and children of Scranton, Pa., were the guests of Hesse Howell and family this week.

At the home of Mrs. C. C. Childs on Childs avenue, Wednesday evening, a Christmas party was given, when her pretty wedding took place, when her sister, Miss Jessie Robson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Epperson were united in bonds of wedlock. Rev. Alfred Brown performed the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the relatives of the couple and a few intimate friends.

A dainty wedding supper was served. The happy young couple left for San Francisco Thursday morning, where they will make their future home. The bride is one of the popular operators at the Independent Telephone office, and the bridegroom is employed by the Western Pacific.

Judge H. H. Rolapp returned home this week from an eastern business and pleasure trip.

John Larkin, who for several weeks past has been visiting with relatives in Ogden, returned to his home in Snowville, Boxelder county, Tuesday.

PROVO.

The Sorosis met Wednesday with Mrs. S. A. King. Interesting papers were presented, one by Mrs. P. C. Landon on "Non-Resistant Literature," from the Rectory, bureau, and one by Mrs. Charles Ward on Kate Douglas Wiggin.

The Nineteenth Century club met Friday with Mrs. W. B. Searle. Mrs. A. E. Buckler presented an able paper on "The Elizabethan Age," and Mrs. C. C. O. Newell one with Joseph Jefferson as the subject.

The Priscilla club gave a very successful affair at the First ward social Thursday evening for the benefit of the free public library. Dancing was enjoyed and delicious refreshments served.

The Bonnie Brier club met Wednesday evening with Miss Chloë Smoot. In addition to the regular program, an interesting literary and art program was successfully carried through; dainty refreshments were served.

The Dallas club met Thursday evening with Miss Bertha Barrett, an interesting literary and art program was successfully carried through; dainty refreshments were served.

The M. L. A. Sewing club of the Sixth ward was entertained Thursday evening at the home of Miss Addie Stewart.

The grand ball to be given Monday night in the Mozart pavilion by the Woman's Republican club is being looked forward to as one of the big social events of the season.

Mrs. C. E. Loose entertained a number of her old-time Provo friends Thursday afternoon. The occasion was most enjoyable social reunion of friends whose associations in girlhood years cemented an enduring friendship. A sumptuous dinner was served.

Miss Hazel Taylor entertained Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Claire Reid; music, song and readings and dainty refreshments were enjoyed.

Mrs. H. J. Richards visited Salt Lake friends this week.

Bishop O. F. Whitney visited Provo relatives Sunday and Monday.

The wedding reception given at the home of Mrs. J. H. Wilkins Thursday evening, in honor of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Maude, and Mr. Edgar P. Perry was attended by a large number of relatives and friends who passed a most enjoyable evening in congratulations to the high contracting parties, and the customary wedding festivities. A fine supper was served.

Many friends of Miss Mattie Warner gave a surprise party in her honor Wednesday evening, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Warner. The evening was devoted to music, song and games, and the discussion of delicious refreshments.

Miss Chloë Smoot visited Salt Lake relatives and friends this week.

The reception given by the Brigham Young University faculty in honor of the public school graduates, was a most enjoyable social event of a particularly encouraging nature to the young people who have completed the course of study of the public schools. The ball in the gymnasium hall, an important part of the program, was especially enjoyed by the guests and the academy students.

Miss Nellie Schofield gave a "Penny Social" to her students Wednesday evening at the university. The event was voted a great success.

Prof. Lund's musical recital Wednesday noon was attended by many of Provo's music loving people. Prof. Lund's guests for the occasion, and was a very enjoyable artistic presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Smoot are here from Salt Lake visiting relatives and friends.

A handkerchief shower in honor of Miss Florence Sutton was given Monday afternoon by Misses Fannie Adams and Magdalene Irvine, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Roberts. A large number of young ladies guests of the occasion passed a delightful afternoon in social merriment. Light refreshments were served.

A number of friends of August Fisher gave a surprise party in his home Tuesday evening. The evening passed in a pleasant manner with songs and games. Refreshments were served.

Miss Tillie Homer was the hostess at

MELLIN'S
For the Baby
FOOD

When buying an infant's food, every mother wants a food that will not only take over present troubles, but give permanent results. You want a food that will feed, a food that will make your baby grow strong, with rosy cheeks and strong limbs. Mellin's Food will do this for your baby. Send for a free sample for your baby.

The ONLY Infant's Food receiving the GOLD MEDAL at St. Louis, 1904, Portland, 1905, and Boston, 1906.

MELLIN'S FOOD CO., BOSTON, MASS.

a dinner Sunday. Covers were laid for fifteen.

Miss Chappel, of Nephi, was the guest of Miss Eva Ward this week.

LOGAN.

Logan, Jan. 26.—A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith spent a very pleasant evening at their home Tuesday last, the occasion being Mrs. Smith's birthday. These present were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Jeppesen, Mr. and Mrs. John Rozsa, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, Mrs. Slater, Mrs. Stratford, Misses Maud and Effie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith.

A number of Logan's young people who have formed a social club, had a jolly good time at the home of Miss Elva Eliason on Tuesday evening. Each guest was obliged to bring and play upon some musical instrument whether able to or not. This afforded no end of fun as did also charades and other games which were played. It is the rule of this club that the hostess be allowed to serve pie and chocolate only and this was complied with. The following were present: Misses Eliason, Elva and Genevieve, Thatcher, Sva Stoddard, Sophia Poulson, Veda Thatcher, Edna Daniels, Messrs. Ariel Cardon, George Tordensen, Guy Cardon, Leo Squires, Ron Thatcher, Hackatrusser, Madson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knight entertained a number of friends Monday evening. Games were played most of the time.

EUREKA.

Albert Manheart and Miss Mary E. Sullivan, well known young people of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. Father O'Donahue, on Monday morning, at St. Patrick's church. The couple left for Salt Lake and Morgan, Utah, to spend their honeymoon, after which they will return to Eureka to reside. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Sullivan and is a charming young lady with a host of friends here.

A "mothers' club" was organized at the public school building by the ladies of Eureka on last Friday. Forty-five ladies were present, and much enthusiasm was manifested.

IN GRAY CHINCHILLA.

Novelty. It would seem, were the uppermost thoughts in the designers' minds when fashioning the fur coats, hats, scarfs and muffs of this winter season. The muff of this handsome set is about as novel as anything yet seen. Though not of extreme size it is given that effect by the tab-like pieces which depend from the lower edge and the broad roll over cuffs, attached at both ends, thus coming well up on the arm, and creating much doubt in the casual observer's mind whether they are part of the muff or the coat sleeve. The scarf is a shaped stole, the long ends attached to the collar portion, this trimmed with gray silk cord ornaments. The chapeau of chinchilla also had a medium broad brim, slightly wider on the left side, where it lifts from the head with a shallow bandeau to admit of the underbrim trimming in the shape of a bunch of fluffy white ostrich plumes which curl prettily over the coiffure. The crown is banded with a soft band of silver tissue, which catches a single pink rose on the left upper brim.

A number of their friends most pleasantly on Friday evening last, the occasion being their fifteenth wedding anniversary. Their guests were Messrs. and Mesdames J. W. Crawford, Robert Murdock, Jr., Arthur Farnes, David Napper, Pryor, Gilbert Cole, M. H. Farnes, Heber Maughan, Cyrus Jones, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. DeWitt and children have gone to California for a pleasure trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Piper of Salt Lake were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Preston, Jr., for a short time the first part of the week.

Messrs. Lyman R. Martineau, Horace Ensign, Rufus Cobb, Roscoe Eardley, George McAllister, Malcolm McAllister were among the Salt Lake business men who visited Logan on Wednesday.

The Misses Sophia Poulson, Jennie Blah, Afton, Genevieve and Veda Thatcher, Messrs. Ron Thatcher, Stanley Jonassen, were a crowd of young people who pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ballif at their home on Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in playing cards and several other games.

Mrs. Alf Cole is visiting in Salt Lake.

Mrs. M. S. Ormsby made a short visit to Logan during the week.

The A. C. Woman's club held an interesting meeting at the home of Mr. Sidney Evans on Monday last.

LEHI.

Lehi, Utah, Jan. 27.—Last night a most pleasing old fashioned party was given in the city pavilion under the auspices of the Second ward M. L. A., which was largely attended.

Wednesday evening a tin shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Child in honor of Miss May Whipple, who will become the bride of Mr. Hyrum Anderson, Jan. 31. A very pleasant time was had playing games, etc. Miss Whipple and Mr. Anderson are two of Lehi's most prominent young people.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. James M. Kirkham entertained a number of friends at an oyster supper.

Mr. A. L. Matthews, who has been residing in Lehi for some time, departed for his home in the east Sunday.

Mr. McCallis, of the Merrihue Drug Co., is visiting in California.

Feb. 7, R. B. Day and Miss Ethel Ross, two of our popular young people, will be married in the Salt Lake Temple.

Mr. T. F. Trane is home after an extended trip through southern Utah.

Miss Jennie Goates delightfully entertained a number of friends Monday evening.

Mr. Isaac Gudmunson of Iowa, Ida.

is visiting his brother, Abe Gudmunson.

Mayor Webb and John Y. Smith were Salt Lake visitors Monday.

Miss Janet Gilchrist most pleasantly entertained a number of friends Monday night.

Luta Wadsworth of Morgan, is visiting her brother, T. J. Wadsworth.

Miss Lulu Schow will entertain a number of friends this evening.

Mr. E. J. Krikham entertained a number of friends Monday evening. Games were played most of the time.

CLUB CHAT.

The Ladies' literary club held the regular meeting at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the club house. Miss Alice Callaway read a paper on "China and Pottery," and Mrs. Frank C. Kelsey gave some readings from Browning. Mrs. Edward Wragg sang a duet, the words of which were written by Mrs. Thomas Welr and the music by Mrs. L. C. Caskey. Miss Kate Williamson was accompanist.

The Woman's club met with Mrs. J. L. Bowman on east Third South street.

The Bay View Reading club held a meeting this week at the residence of Mrs. J. B. Buswell, 115 Third street. Mrs. L. R. Hanchett read a paper of the "Life of Charlemagne," and Mrs. W. H. Tibbals gave a paper on "The World's Famous Pictures." Music was rendered by Miss Evay Dunyon, Mrs. Rubelle Rathbone and Miss Ellen Morris. Miss Rose and Miss Nellie Brown.

The Consumers' League of New York City, which has its headquarters at 105 East Twenty-second street, room 617, will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 30, at 3:30 p. m., at the Manhattan theater. The president, Mrs. Frederick Nathan, will preside, and Mrs. Craigie has consented to be among the speakers.

In Mark Twain's "Following the Equator" is a couple of pages devoted to woman suffrage in New Zealand in which he gives the official figures showing that women vote in that country in as great a proportion as do the men. In the official report he also makes this statement: "A feature of the election was the orderliness and sobriety of the people. Women are in no way molested." In commenting upon this he says:

"At home a standing argument against woman suffrage has always been that women could not go to the polls without being insulted. The prophets have been prophesying ever since the woman's rights movement began in 1848—and in forty-seven years they have never scored a hit. Men ought to begin to feel a sort of

has ever had a child, her husband inherits the use of all her real property during his lifetime. If there has never been a child he gets nothing at all. The federation wishes a bill passed which shall give husband and wife equal rights in the common property and in each other's separate estates. The legislative committee is asking the co-operation of the clubs throughout the state, and a circular letter will soon be sent out giving specific information of the work in hand.

Eight United States senators vigorously opposed the pure food bill before Congress. What are the clubwomen of the states represented by these senators going about it? To be sure it is little that they can do, but they should at least register their disapproval. A writer in the Boston Transcript says: "Lucky is the family nowadays whose members all escape appendicitis, for this dread scourge strikes young and old alike. The reason for its prevalence is claimed by many physicians to Another attempt is being made by women to establish a woman's club in Paris. It will be another failure, which can only be explained by the peculiarities of race, climate and the nature of the country. The French woman, notwithstanding the opinion of foreigners, is a home woman, who finds too many occupations in caring for the members of her family, in household duties, to spend any time in the old drawing rooms of clubhouses where she would make acquaintances and meet strangers who would interest her very little. The French woman has been taught, she has it in her blood, that the four walls of her home are her world; her mother thought that, and her ancestors were a race of patriots. I don't think I ever met a French woman with a spirit of unrest, who wanted to be out and traveling all the time. Now, we can understand that the English woman, who has servants to do her work, and sometimes likes to get out of herself and away from the dreary climate of London and England.

"The weather is enough to drive one mad," the English frequently exclaim in their native land, and they seek diversion among their friends in clubrooms. Not so the Frenchman, not so the French woman; the climate in France, except in November and December, is bearable and conducive to good humor. The dreary months are spent in getting the Paris home fit for habitation after the numerous outings and the preparation for and enjoyment of the holidays. Something in the land and in the atmosphere of France is exhilarating and makes one satisfied with the spot where one spends one's life; the country induces people to take root wherever they are.

Mrs. HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY

WIFE OF MULTI-MILLIONAIRE SUCCEEDS AS SCULPTRESS.

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., has succeeded as a sculptress. Mrs. Whitney designed the sculpture in the main dining-room of the new Hotel Belmont, which faces the New York terminal of the Grand Central railroad. The plaster figures are now approaching completion. There are sixteen of these caryatids which support the ceiling. They crouch on a balcony with their arms aloft. From the main floor beneath they can be seen to excellent advantage. Eventually they will be bronzed to fall in with the crimson and bronze scheme of decoration.

respect for their mothers and wives and sisters by this time. The women deserve a change of attitude like that for they have wrought well. In forty-seven years they have swept an imposing large number of unfair laws from the statute books of America. In that brief time these serfs have set themselves free—essentially. Men could not have done so much for themselves in that time without bloodshed—at least they never have. The women have accomplished a peaceful revolution, and a very beneficent one; and yet that has not convinced the average man that they are intelligent and have courage and energy and perseverance and fortitude. It takes much to convince the average man of anything; and perhaps nothing can ever make him realize that he is the average woman's inferior, yet in several important details the evidences seem to show that that is what he is. Man has ruled the human race from the beginning—but he should remember that that rule of his of the present century it was a dull world, and ignorant and stupid. This is woman's opportunity—she has had none before, and where man will be in another forty-seven years?

The legislative committee in the New York State Federation is at work on the bill endorsed by the Federation at Banghams to equalize the inheritance laws relating to husband and wife. Half a dozen women lawyers are assisting in drawing up the bill, and they are being assisted by several eminent non-lawyers, among whom is J. M. Williams, who codified laws on power and courtesy rights for Ohio and is a specialist on the subject. As the inheritance law now stands a woman whose husband dies intestate is entitled to half the personal estate absolutely, and a life interest in one-third of his real estate. This does not seem to have its virtues and its failings, but women generally appear to disapprove of it. The Federation bill will provide that one-third of both real and personal property of which either husband or wife dies possessed shall descend to the survivor absolutely.

A husband may not will away all his property from his wife, but she may will all of hers away from him if she chooses. On the other hand, in the case of a wife dying intestate, if she

In Woman's World.

Mrs. J. Frank Porter found at her home in Danvers the other day a loaf of wedding cake that had been put away five years ago and had been forgotten. It was placed in a cake tin with a glass of water, and it moistened up despite the fact that it was hard as a brick when Mrs. Porter found it. A few slices of it were cut and eaten, and the cake proved delicious. Then it was packed away to be kept for a number of years longer.

A nervous-looking woman with a bag in her hand walked up to the desk of a quiet family hotel.

"Will you let me have a room? I am Mrs. —," mentioning a name well known in the business world.

The clerk looked amazed as she went on almost hysterically:

"I know it seems queer my wanting a room here when you know that I live in the next street, but it just seems as if I should break down if I don't find a place where I can be absolutely alone and get rested for once."

"At my office I am at the beck and call of every one, and when I get home at night I have to struggle with every detail of the housekeeping and hear all the family troubles besides."

"I simply must be alone for a few hours. I can't stand it any longer."

A reception was being given by an old bachelor for two newly married couples.

The two bridegrooms had escaped the crowd and were comparing matrimonial notes in their friend's den.

"Is there anything in your house that you can call your own?" asked the man who had been married a month.

"No," returned the other, "nothing."

and they gazed around the masculine room and then into each other's eyes without speaking.

The idea of privacy seems to be eliminated from modern home life.

The ordinary flat can only induce that kind of intimacy which breeds contempt.

The modern dwelling house is too often built of the thinnest materials, which adds rather than deadens the echo of footsteps and which brings out marvelous carrying qualities in the human voice.

The rush and bustle of business hours, the strain of getting to and from crowded cars, the necessary jostling with strange people and dependence on them, all this would seem to break down those barriers of privacy that are like barbed-wire fences with the barbs turned inward surrounding the sensitive person.

But instead of making us impervious to the daily friction we become more and more acutely aware of it, and consequently or unconsciously going to get away from everything and everybody and be by ourselves.

That man or woman is truly to be pitied who has no time for quiet or self-communion, which is so necessary to health, to self-development and to happiness.

If you have no chance of being alone yourself, you may allow others that privilege.

Each person should have a room to himself; if possible, one with a floor, an actual door, not draperies, screen or other makeshifts at privacy.

People should be allowed to say: "I must be alone for a little while," without the possibility of giving offense.

Nervous men, women and children should have some quiet place to which to withdraw from the strain which the constant society of others unconsciously exerts upon them.

Children particularly are little martyrs to the everlasting attentances and vigilance of their elders.

They too should be allowed and taught to enjoy a little solitude, just as they learn to knock at closed doors and respect the theoretical privacy of postal-cards addressed to others.

The art of knowing when to let others alone has saved many a floundering matrimonial ship and many a household on the brink of disintegration.

It is a secret of success, an art that ingratiates one with others while readily developing the delicate sensitivity of unselfish sympathy.

A very delicious and artistic-looking desert is made with rice and preserved peaches or pears. Appoints may be made with it. The fruit should have been preserved in a heavy syrup. Press boiled rice into a melon mold and set on ice to become very cold. At serving time place the molded rice in the center of a dish and arrange the fruit around it. In the hollow of each piece of fruit drop a large spoonful of whipped cream to which has been added chopped almonds or macadamia nuts. Serve with whipped cream.

Strawberries in chocolate ice cream is a good combination, and one which has the merit of being unchickadee. Make a chocolate cream with a pint each of milk and cream, scalded and mixed with three ounces of unsweetened chocolate melted in a little water until glossy, and one cupful of sugar. Flavor with vanilla and freeze. When frozen, remove the dasher and beat well for several minutes. Add a pint of preserved strawberries, flavor with curacao. Stir the berries and all their syrup into the ice cream, and let stand for a good hour. The curacao is added to prevent the berries from freezing solid.

Rev. Carlisle P. B. Martin, L.L.D., of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing medicine for throat or lung trouble." See and ask a Druggist, C. M. L. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning