

MAY PARALLEL SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Startling Railroad Story That Comes From Ogden.

HILL-CLARK COMBINATION.

Pacific Short Line is to be one of the Links in a Through Line to San Francisco.

The Ogden Standard last night published a story, which, if true, indicates that Senator Clark proposes to carry out the plan of the Pacific Short Line in the form of practically paralleling the Harriman system from Ogden into San Francisco. J. J. Hill and Senator W. A. Clark are said to be the leading spirits behind the proposition and the old survey of the Pacific Short Line is said to be the route proposed.

The story is as follows:

TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE.

Ogden is to have another transcontinental road. The recent big stock transaction and transfer of railroads while mitigating in a degree against the immediate commencement of work on improvements which will be of great business benefit to Ogden, have at last brought about conditions which will make Ogden the most important intermediate station on another great transcontinental system. The new line will reach from Sioux City, Iowa, to San Francisco and the men behind the proposition are James J. Hill and Senator W. A. Clark.

During the last two weeks, and until Sunday last, a civil engineer named Bennett has been making his headquarters in Ogden. His presence here has been the subject of much speculation among those interested in the railway situation, but Mr. Bennett was non-committal and would not say more than that he was in Ogden on a long drive across the country to O'Neill, Nebraska.

CARRIES A CYCLOMETER.

"We are taking the trip in order to verify the line surveyed for the Pacific Short Line," said Mr. Bennett. "Our trip will occupy nearly all the mid-summer months as we expect to correct some of the line. We will also closely estimate the exact distance both by verification of figures already obtained from a cyclometer which will be attached to our vehicle. I cannot give any information as to whose interests we are employed for labor but will say that our work is but a preliminary to the commencement of work on a great transcontinental system. The reporter accompanied Mr. Bennett to where a team and covered vehicle awaited the party. The wagon contained everything needed for the trip. In the work which the party expects to do, but very few camp supplies being carried, as Mr. Bennett expects to be able to obtain from settlements everywhere. The reporter accompanied Mr. Bennett to where a team and covered vehicle awaited the party. The wagon contained everything needed for the trip. In the work which the party expects to do, but very few camp supplies being carried, as Mr. Bennett expects to be able to obtain from settlements everywhere.

SENATOR CLARK IN IT.

When Mr. Bennett returned the blue prints to his portable writing desk the reporter caught sight of a letter, sealed ready for mailing, and addressed to Senator W. A. Clark, New York. There were also several envelopes bearing Mr. Bennett's address at Ogden and stamped with the name of the Great Northern. Possessed of these facts the reporter took occasion later to ask Mr. Bennett if either Hill or Clark were interested in his movements.

"As to Mr. Hill," replied Mr. Bennett, "it must be evident that he wishes to invade the territory of the Pacific Short Line survey, in connection with the Burlington would testify. By an entrance to San Francisco he could seriously compete with the Harriman line and both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific and, with his great new line of steamers, practically control the trans-oceanic trade. Both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific have been fighting Hill and keeping from the profitable trade of California. Senator Clark has been frozen out, or nearly so, on the Los Angeles road scheme and he, no doubt, sees a way in which he can injure his opponents and at the same time become interested in a profitable line by going into another line to enter San Francisco. Of course, I do not mean by this that I am employed by either of these men. I can only say that I am in the Pacific Short Line survey, and that it will probably be a link in another transcontinental line and will be a shorter line than any other now surveyed into Ogden by more than 200 miles."

DOWN WEBER CANYON.

From the facts thus dropped the article published some weeks ago in the Standard is corroborated. The Pacific Short Line was completed from Sioux City, Iowa, to O'Neill, Neb., and if the Harriman failure had not come to mar the world, the road would have been completed that it is the shortest land route from little route ever surveyed into Ogden. It built it will have the best route from Ogden to San Francisco. The route driven across it is to pass north of Little Mountain and cross the lake on the route down Ogden canyon.

ROUTE WEST.

According to hints dropped by the surveyors the line after reaching Ogden by the old survey of the Pacific Short Line will continue west a little north of the present survey of the proposed Ogden-Latin cut-off of the Southern Pacific. The line will trend northward so as to pass north of Little Mountain and cross the lake on the route down Ogden canyon. The route driven across it is to pass north of Little Mountain and cross the lake on the route down Ogden canyon. The route driven across it is to pass north of Little Mountain and cross the lake on the route down Ogden canyon.

FLAVORING EXTRACT.

There is no doubt that Clark and Hill have joined forces, and that this new line is the fruition of the recent changes in the railroad situation and will be constructed in the near future.

HILL-CLARK COMBINATION.

It may be of interest to state that the following appeared in yesterday's Denver News: A report has been received here that the Northwestern is shipping not only the ties and other construction material to the end of the Fremont and Elkhorn line in Wyoming.

"It is believed in railroad circles that the long planned extension of the road from Casper to Ogden will be commenced this summer and this shipment of ties is the preliminary move in the railroad battle for another continental line through Wyoming."

AMUSEMENTS.

Henry Miller closed his Salt Lake engagement last night with a second reading of his charming play of "Leontine." The audience was again large and enthusiastic. It was in decided contrast to the gathering at the matinee which was most meager. Mr. Miller might have played to the capacity of the house. "Gudgeons" was a lamentable fiasco.

BASEBALL EXCURSION TO OGDEN.

Over the Oregon Short Line R. R. Sunday, May 19, only $1.00 round trip. Special leaves going at 10:00 a. m. and leaves Ogden returning at 9:00 p. m.

PEOPLE WHO ARE PASSING

William A. Pinkerton, the famous detective, and the manager of the Western division of the great Pinkerton detective agency, is a guest at the Knutsford. He has been on a tour of inspection through the West, and has visited San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and other western cities. J. B. Barnhart of Los Angeles, who has been a guest at the Wey for several days, has gone to Denver. He is interested in a prospective fruit cannery to be erected in Salt Lake valley and will know more definitely about it upon his return next week.

Judge Powers has returned from San Francisco where he went some days ago on business. He says that the preparations made in honor of the visit of President William McKinley were magnificent and that the electric display alone cost between $50,000 and $100,000.

Hon. H. F. Bartine of Nevada is a guest at the Kenyon en route to Washington, D. C. He was a former congressman from Nevada and has of late edited the Anaconda Standard.

Albert E. Walker, a son of the late Joseph R. Walker, and his charming bride, formerly Miss M. Winifred Sprague, left yesterday noon on the land limited for the East on their honeymoon trip.

Emanuel Kahn has returned to the city after an absence of six months during which time he has been in Honolulu and California on a pleasure trip. He says the climate in Honolulu is all that can be desired, and that it is a great place for people to recuperate. While there, he met several Salt Lakers, some of whom have gone in business and are doing well. Mr. Kahn says that there are many opportunities for men with some capital to make a great deal of money, but that it is not a good place for men who have no money as there are so many poor natives.

The last two months Mr. Kahn spent in California and he reports the hotels and cities on the coast to be overrun with tourists.

W. P. Noble, the stockman, has returned from Nevada where he went on a visit to his ranches. "The rain fall has been so heavy in Nevada," said Mr. Noble, "that there will be an abundance of feed on the ranges for the cattle and sheep. The stockmen are very happy over the outlook."

Notification was received at the sheriff's office this morning that at midnight last night an attempt had been made to rob the Draper Co-op. The young men who usually keep vigil at the institution were away last night and State Senator Rideout was doing the honors as watchman. When he heard a window break the law-breaker, watchman, pricked up his ears and drew forth a Krupp gun. The intruder cautiously pulled the blind to one side preparatory to making an entrance, when Mr. Rideout "let him have it" twice. It is not known if the fellow was hit, but, anyway, he made haste to withdraw himself from so warm a reception.

CALLISON WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Defeats All Comers at the Ogden Shoot Yesterday Afternoon.

J. F. SHARP COMES SECOND.

Salt Lake Marksman Makes a Score of 94 Out of 100—Parker Next to Last.

Ten marksmen participated in the shoot at Ogden yesterday afternoon, each hoping to win the state championship trophy, which was held by W. H. Parker. At the last tournament in Ogden, Parker won the prize which was offered by Browning Brothers, the conditions being that he would have to accept a challenge within a limited time after it was issued. Capt. Callison of the Salt Lake gun club challenged him and the shoot was arranged for yesterday.

One hundred targets were shot at and the following score will show the work of each man:

J. F. Sharp	84
J. M. Browning	82
A. F. Brewer	79
M. S. Browning	78
A. P. Bigelow	78
J. N. Sharp	78

WILL NOT DISBAND.

The L. D. S. Team Propose to Hold Together Throughout the Season.

John A. Austin of the L. D. S. athletic association called at the "News" office last evening and stated that another meeting had been held for the purpose of further considering the trouble which arose the other day in the scholastic league.

He stated that it had been definitely decided to retain Thomas and Marx, who were protested against if the other teams still objected to them the league would be disbanded. "The schedule calls for a game with the University tomorrow (Thursday) and our team will be on hand to play the game," said Mr. Austin, "and Thomas and Marx will play the game and the game will be a scholastic championship."

It is understood that efforts are being made to organize another league with other protesting teams, and the case is being brought into controversy. Even then it is doubtful if the L. D. S. would consent to the removal of the protested men.

Sporting Notes.

It is said that there is a scheme on foot to practically reorganize the league and drop the University out entirely. Manager Clippinger of that team states that he was aware that such a movement was on foot, but declares that it is impossible to drop his team out unless the other teams forfeit their guarantee money for not playing the schedule through. If they will agree to forfeit the money he says he will withdraw the team. The statement has again been made that Pocello "magnates" were anxious to get into the league, but word comes from that town to the effect that they do not want to enter the league under any consideration, the main objection is that it could not be made to be a paying proposition.

Nine scores were shot through by members of the Salt Lake Rifle club yesterday afternoon. It took only thirty minutes, working only one side. Following are the scores:

The regular weekly shoot of the Salt Lake Rifle club did not take place yesterday afternoon as fondly expected by a number of the marksmen. It was for the obvious reason that they had nothing to shoot at except themselves or the passing street cars. An expressman was supposed to take down a couple of loads of blue rocks, but he failed to materialize until about dark. He had gone off on a pleasure trip.

Ban Johnson, president of the American League, gave it out the other day that the fourteen-man rule of his organization would probably be changed. "I am not speaking as a certain thing," said Ban, "but I am inclined to think that the rule will be altered to carry fifteen players instead of fourteen. The race is a hard one, and an extra man will not hurt any of the club. This number will include the manager, if he is an active player. We will not stand for a playing manager's taking advantage of his position and carrying fifteen besides himself. The batting in our league," added Ban, "has been very heavy so far, the pitchers being in poor condition. Lajoie plays right for the Athletics, will be well up in the averages. The making of a great fielder, and right now one of the greatest batsmen ever in the game."

The rumor is out, stronger than ever, that the Milwaukee club will be moved to St. Louis. Milwaukee's fans are suggested by her crippled boom and graft. St. Louis would like to have two clubs. The plan is said to compromise a braiding of the Milwaukee when the cut down of the various clubs "shows some players on the market, and to move the reinforced team into Missouri. All this, of course, is only talk as yet, but it looks as if there would be something doing at no distant day.

Another good-sized crowd was on Higness' boulevard last evening to watch some of the speedy horses work out. Mayor Thompson was on hand with Iris and Hal Corbett was also there. The race last week between the two horses resulted in victory for the Mayor's racer, and naturally he was anxious for another contest. Tom McCoy drove Corbett and Mayor Thompson handled the ribbons for Iris. Three heats were run Hal Corbett winning each time. Iris was hitched to a cart.

It seems as if after all the wrangling and "rag chewing" Terry McGovern and Frank Erne are not to meet, says the Denver Post. Erne will listen to nothing but 132 ringside, while McGovern insists upon 125. Erne asks the
