The Emperor of Russia.

A MAN OF WONDERFUL FANCY.
AMITY—AN INTERESTING SKETCH OF HIS FAMILY.

The Emperor has the reputation of being the hardest worked man in Russia. Every morning, with the regularity of clockwork, he takes a walk in the gardens of the Winter Palace for twenty minutes, accompanied by his dogs, and on his return to the palace he works until lunch, which is served at 12 o'clock. Immediately afterward his Majesty resumes work, receiving his ministers or giving audiences. With the exception of half an hour's rest the Emperor is occupied in this manner until 5 o'clock. He then goes out for a couple of hours walking or driving. As a rule, the imperial family are very particular in regard to their daily routine. Dinner is served at 6 p. m., after which the Emperor sets to work again, and, if necessary, does not cease the occupation upon which he may be engaged until after midnight, sometimes not until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. Usually his Majesty goes out shooting once a week, and occasionally he visits the theater, where, however, he seldom remains more than half an hour. The Emperor is a man of wonderful punctuality in his habits, while his pleasant manner endears him to all. The Emperor is as amiable as the child, but does not enjoy good health, and is thus unable to appear in public as often as he would under other circumstances.

The Grand Duke Vladimir is president of the Academy of Arts, and regularly attends the meetings of the Senate, which is a member. Like his father, the Grand Duke is a keen sportsman; when on a bear hunt in the neighborhood of Chukotka the Emperor is informed of it, and preparations are at once made for a battue. There are generally eight or ten gentlemen with the Emperor and Grand Duke; the beaters drive the bear as much toward the Emperor as possible, and the black game usually falls to the gun of the Emperor or the Grand Duke, both of whom are first shots.

The Grand Duke Alexis is, like the Duke of Edinburgh, a sailor, having been destined for the navy from his infancy. His studies were directed by Admiral Posselt, a man distinguished for his great scientific attainments. The Grand Duke began at the lowest rung of the naval ladder, and has gone on, step by step, until he has reached the rank of lieutenant, and was promoted to the rank of captain, which rank he held upon the arrival of the frigate Svetlana, so called after the heroine of a poem by the great Russian poet Pushkin.

The Grand Duke has encountered many vicissitudes during his adventurous career. In the month of September, 1879, while coasting in the Alexander Nevski, off the coast of Iceland, he was shipwrecked, and it was at that occasion that the Grand Duke exhibited extraordinary pluck, and, what is more, singular abnegation of self and solicitude for others in a position of the gravest peril.

Since then the Grand Duke has visited all parts of the world, with the exception of Australia, India, New Guinea, and the islands thereabouts, which he intends seeing either next year or the year after. He will start on another long cruise of adventure in 1879.

The Grand Duke is never happier than when on a voyage. The Grand Duke has been accompanied on all his travels by his English preceptor, Mr. Fitch, who is still attached to the suite.

It is Russian etiquette for the Grand Duke to lead a comparatively retired life, but to appear chiefly in connection with works of philanthropy. The Czar, which does not, accordingly, take a prominent part in public matters, although it is understood that he is being gradually made thoroughly conversant with the affairs of the great empire.

The Grand Duke Sergei, who is in his sixteenth year, is a young man of very great promise. As yet his studies are not completed.

The Grand Duke Paul is thirteen years of age. Both he and his brother, the Grand Duke Sergei, are earnest students, and everywhere in St. Petersburg nothing but the works of St. Petersburg. She has been the direct means of doing an immense amount of good. The Grand Duchess has taken much interest in some of the charitable institutions of St. Petersburg. She is an accomplished musician and a great reader, and she has endeavored herself to all who have been so fortunate as to be brought in contact with her. — Correspondence of the London Morning Post.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Prove Times, April 14.—The Beekman Convention met, as per announcement, on Saturday last, Edison Whipple presiding. Several gentlemen gave very favorable reports of the county, but owing to other parts of the county not being represented, the meeting adjourned until the 20th, to meet in the basement of the Meeting House, at 1 o'clock p. m., when it is hoped that all parts of the county will be represented. All beekeepers in the county will please report in person or by letter the condition of their bees, the amount on hand, their success in 1879, etc. The officers of the Territorial Beekeepers' Association wish a full and complete report of this county between this and the 6th of May Conference; besides, at that meeting it is designed to organize our county association, and we wish all parts of the county represented in the organization.

By request of the President, Wm. D. Roush, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Gardeners' Club, held on the evening of the 13th inst., the President of the Club, Mr. Joseph Sawyer, gave his views relative to the moth, apple worm and insects that have done so much damage to our fruit. His idea was to send and get two or three loads of native mountain sulphur from the vicinity of Cove Creek, which would cost but little, and should be blown from the south, set fire to some of the sulphur and the smoke would be carried through the orchard by the wind and destroy all the moths, worms and insects of all kinds. Our neighbor adjoining on the north should try the same experiment at the same time and thus destroy all. Again, a composition made of tar, sulphur and salt, would answer a good purpose, by making a torchlight, and holding the same under from one tree to another through the entire orchard.

DIRECTORY

Salt Lake City and Utah Territory.

A WORK OF THE CHARACTER INDICATED BY THE ABOVE TITLE IS URGENTLY

demanded by the public. A two-volume work, when the undersigned announced their intention of issuing such a work, another Directory was presented to the public, and they immediately withdrew their advertisement. There being no proposition to publish a Directory from any other quarter at present, and the importance of

Salt Lake with the growing industries of the Territory calling for one, they propose issuing one, or before the 1st of April, 1892.

DIRECTORY OF SALT LAKE CITY AND UTAH TERRITORY,

Compiled and arranged by

EDWARD L. SLOAN,

Whose former DIRECTORY of Salt Lake gave so much satisfaction.

The DIRECTORY OF SALT LAKE CITY AND UTAH TERRITORY FOR 1874, will contain

A General Directory of Salt Lake. It will also contain a Chronological

History of the Territory; a description of the various Mining

Districts, with much interesting and reliable information relative to the leading mines and their development, and to the Agricultural resources of the Territory.

It is respectfully requested that every facility be extended to the canvassers for the general and business directory, by furnishing them correct information as to names and residences.
