

been taken in many other sections of the south and there is apparently as great a panic now prevailing as at any time during 1897, the bulk of the country laymen refusing to put their faith in the mosquito theory.

Although the report of 54 new cases in the preceding 24 hours would ordinarily have a tendency to cause alarm here, people here find assurance in an analysis of the detailed report made by the board of health. It is shown that of the 54 cases, 22 were noted out of consequence by Surgeon Farrar Richardson of the marine hospital service and his assistants. The area of infection is increasing below Canal street, but the disease is making feeble progress above.

The exodus from Louisiana towns, where fever has appeared, continues. A large number of people have gone north and east from Shreveport and points in that section of the state. At Alexandria, as the result of a mild case there, 100 citizens chartered a special train to leave there today. Yesterday the patient that has caused the panic is reported to have so far recovered as to be able to sit up in bed. Archbishop Chapelle has returned to the city from a tour through Louisiana and expresses himself as deeply concerned over the state of the public health. Monsignor Chappelle will offer his services to the authorities in the fight in progress and will issue through the clergy a pastoral letter giving his views and advice to meet the emergency.

Owing to the quarantine there is real suffering on the part of those who are fleeing from the country districts of North Louisiana.

M. WITTE NOT FEELING PULSE ON RUSSIAN LOAN

New York, Aug. 4.—Gregory Wilentz, the financial agent of the Russian government, said today:

"The statement in this morning's papers to the effect that Mr. Witte is sounding American financiers with a view to the placing of a new Russian loan in the United States is wholly without foundation. Mr. Witte's visit to Wall street yesterday was one of courtesy simply. It is quite true that he had interview with some leading financiers and with many more. But all of these gentlemen are personal friends and acquaintances of Mr. Witte, who knew him during his term of office as Russian minister of finance, and calls were purely social and had no relation whatever to a Russian loan. Naturally, as Mr. Witte has long made a study of economic questions, it gives him great pleasure to discuss with the men of affairs of this country these important questions with a view to learning of the methods adopted in the United States.

WILLIAMSON-CESSNER-BIGGS JURY HAS DISAGREED

Portland, Ore., Aug. 4.—For a second time, after deliberating for over 10 hours, a jury in the United States district court today reported to Judge De Haven that they were unable to reach a verdict in the case of the United States against Congressman J. N. Williamson, Jr., charged with conspiracy to subvert the government and to secure the passage of a bill for the public domain, and was discharged.

The previous trial the jury was discharged after deliberating which lasted almost two days.

During the trial which was concluded today the case was even more bitterly contested than during the first and the failure of the jury to arrive at a verdict is a keen disappointment to the prosecution, which believed that it had made out a much stronger case than in the former trial. The jury stood 6 to 6. The case will be tried for the third time on August 27.

BETTER QUALITY OF FOODSTUFFS.

Condition Said to be Due to Good Work of Local Inspectors.

CHEMIST'S REPORT ON OLIVES.

Manufacturers Becoming More Careful in the Preparation of Food Products—Less Adulteration.

State Chemist Harris has just analyzed six samples of olives, known as California, Hawkeye, Manzanilla, Manzanilla, Spanish Queen, Gold Medal Queen and Genesee Queen olives, put up in California, Missouri, New York, Pittsburgh, and Chicago, and sold on the local market. The chemist in his report on the same, says: "Olive for pickling are usually picked before they are fully ripened, and after proper 'preparing,' by which the bitter taste is removed, they are transferred to a medium in which they are bottled. This medium consists of brine either with or without flavoring, such as laurel leaves, condiments, and other ingredients. The adulterations consist of free mineral acids (used in the vinegar), copper to give the olives a bright green color when the natural color has been destroyed, and alum to produce hardness or crispness. Occasionally preservatives are used. The six samples examined were found to be free from all the above adulterations. All samples presented an inviting appearance and were found to be of good quality."

The state and city food inspectors and the chemist have in the last year or so made things so warm for the manufacturers of adulterated food stuffs, that such things are rapidly disappearing from the local markets. Articles of food are being constantly picked up at random in the city markets for analysis, so that no dealer knows when articles in his shelves will be picked up and examined. The experience with the catsup was a hard lesson to many dealers and a severe lesson, and as this was followed up with others, the result has been that "doped" foods have nearly all disappeared from the city markets. Dealers are refusing to purchase from manufacturers or jobbers unless suitably protected from imposition in the matter of adulterations and suspicious goods are refused acceptance.

The milkmen, too, have profited, and pure milk only is now being dispensed locally. The public generally is carefully watching the newspaper reports of the analyses of the state chemist, and we bet the unlucky grocer or retailer whose food goods are discovered adulterated, for the fact is immediately known, and the public demand for goods straightway ceases. They are so much "ideal matters" and if they can not be thrown back on the hands of the manufacturer, they become a dead loss to the retailer.

OUT OF WHOSE POCKET?

Finding a Wallet With Drafts for $150 Suggests a Robbery.

A black pocket book belonging to a tourist and wrapped in a small paper sack, was found in the mail chutes at the Salt Lake postoffice this morning. In the pocket book were found two drafts for $25 each drawn by the Farmers & Merchants' National Bank of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, on the Chase National Bank of New York; also, two return tickets from Mt. Vernon, Ohio, to Portland, Ore., and other papers of no value to any one but the owner.

As there was no money in the pocket book, Postmaster Thomas argues that it was picked from the pocket of the owner, and the thief after abstracting the money and not daring to attempt negotiation of the drafts or the sale of the return tickets, threw the pocket book down the mail chute. If the tourist who are out these tickets will call at the postoffice they can regain their property.

It was picked from the pocket of the man when he endeavored to liquidate the fare when he was penniless and 3,000 miles away from home. The police are working on the case.

Time Taken Up Identifying Handwriting.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 4.—Upon the morning today the trial of Farris Birney, charged with the murder of Frank H. Harris, on the charge of bribery, a point in controversy was settled by the handwriting expert. The delay in the trial of Birney from Chicago has been caused by the strikes in that city, which turned the local business world pretty well upside down.

NATIVITY IDENTIFIED.

Visiting New York for the first time, there was a young lady from St. Louis who seemed to have no greater delight than in comparing New York's scenes and sights with those of Chicago, and always to the detriment of Chicago. Promenading Fifth avenue one day with a friend, her attention was called to the splendid statue of William H. Seward in Madison Square. She viewed it in silence, and with apparent indifference until she happened to notice the tremendous feet of the heroic statue, when she smiled radiantly and chirped:

"He was born in Chicago, of course."

HOW DEWEY CUT THE RED TAPE.

The recurring prominence given the name and fame of Admiral Dewey with the annual return of May Day—the date of his Manila Bay triumph—has recalled a story of the man which Capt. Bradford, former chief of the bureau of equipment in the navy department, is telling. It was before that now famous fight in Philippine waters had been "pulled off," though Dewey was in the Pacific in command of the Asiatic squadron. It seems he was in need of coal, but, instead of writing to Washington in the matter, he simply bought what he needed—and Capt. Bradford says that officialdom was impressed by the number of tons purchased rather than by the fact of the unauthorized purchase itself.

"So I cabled him," continues the story teller. "I asked: 'Why did you buy so much coal? Whatever he may have been charging up for fuel, however, he certainly was not putting his government to heavy expense for cable tolls, for just as soon as the message could get out here and an answer get back I was informed:

"To burn."
