

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY, AUG 30, 1888.

Held to Answer.

The result of the preliminary examination of Rasmus Nielson, of Hunter precinct, before Commissioner Norrell yesterday afternoon was that he was placed under bonds to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. His wife was also required to give bonds.

Death from Blood Poisoning.

John, a son of James Warby, of North Creek, cut a gash about 1 1/2 inches in length just below the knee of the left leg, nearly three months ago. For about two weeks no particular attention was paid to the wound, but soon it became so painful as to demand attention. Dr. Wendeslaw was called in. He found pus channels formed above and below the knee, which were opened. Blood poisoning had set in, and soon the young man was forced to his bed. The doctor has been untiring in his attention, but notwithstanding this the young man passed to his final sleep on Wednesday evening about 5 o'clock.—Beaver Union.

Theft by a Small Girl.

This morning a 12-year-old girl named Lizzie Wilson was before Justice Pyper on a charge of larceny. She had gone into Simons' store in the Eleventh Ward, and while the clerk was engaged in the store-room had climbed over the counter and extracted about $5 from the till. This was on Tuesday. She was not even suspected of the theft, but this morning was caught in the act of robbing the money drawer, and when accused confessed to having taken the money on Tuesday. She had spent part of it for a pair of shoes, which, with nearly all of the cash, were turned over to the storekeeper. When the child was taken before the Police Justice she told a pitiable story. Her clothing was scant and she was barefooted. Her parents live at South Cottonwood, but her home has been anything but a pleasant one. She has been almost entirely without parental care, and frequently ill-treated. She came to the city to live with her grandmother, but was permitted to run perfectly wild. She told how she took the money, and promised that she would not again be guilty. In view of her circumstances, sentence was suspended. An application will be made by the city to have the Probate Judge appoint a guardian for the child, as her parents will not care for her, that if possible she may be turned from her waywardness. Her mother, Mary Wilson, came to the City Hall and took the child away. Mrs. Wilson was also there last night, but on a different errand. She was begrimed with dirt, her clothing torn and disheveled, and she bore every appearance of having been on a drunken spree. She said she had lost her cat, and the officers hunted it up for her. It had been tied back of a portable house that stands west of the Opera House, on Second South Street. The woman has been in the city jail several times for drunkenness.

A DISTRESSING CASE.

That Appeals to the Benevolently Disposed.

RICHFIELD, Aug. 21st, 1888.

Editor Deseret News:

Enclosed you will find a card addressed to me, from Brother Cyrus E. Dumm, of Pittsburg, Pa., stating the death of his infant and only boy, William Wallace Dumm, born July 18th, 1887, died August 12th, 1888, at 2:25 a. m. (cause not stated.)

Brother Dumm lost a little girl about a year ago, has four little girls left, three of whom were sick at the time of the last one's death. He is in very poor circumstances, at times almost forced to put his family on the public for support. He is an honest man and would be very thankful if some good brother, who is able, would advance him money to pay his emigration and he would herd sheep or do anything to pay it back. His address is Cyrus E. Dumm, 447 Cedar Street, Sixteenth Ward, Pittsburg, E. E. Pa.

Yours respectfully,
V. E. BEAN.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, AUG 24, 1888

Chief Justice Sanford.

It is anticipated that Utah's new Chief Justice, Elliot Sanford will reach this city on Sunday evening. He left New York a few days ago, and intended stopping over in Denver, leaving there in time to be here on the 26th.

Arrested.

On Monday, August 20th, John D. Jones was arrested by Deputy Marshal Hopson at his residence in Cherry Creek, Idaho, for unlawful cohabitation. He was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, at Blackfoot, next October. This is the third time Brother Jones has been arrested on a charge of living with his wives.

Commissioned.

Commissions have been issued to the following recently elected municipal officers of Fairview, Sanpete County: Peter Sundvall, mayor; James C. Benson, Christian Olsen, Mormon Miner, Samuel Bills, Louis R. Earson, city councilors; Philip M. Hurst, justice of the peace; Christian Cruser, treasurer; Christian Petersen, marshal; and Wm. S. Taylor, assessor and collector.

Thief Caught.

Ed. Berry no doubt thought last night that he could justly claim the title of a "bold, bad man." Today he is in a position to call himself an exemplar of idiocy. He wanted to exhibit how easily a bold attempt at stealing could be carried out, and proceeded to act on his theory. He went into a barber shop on Second South Street and bargained to sell a pair of boots. He then started off to secure the boots and soon returned. Both were for the left foot, however, and the barber refused to buy. It was but a few minutes before it was learned that Berry had gone into Mr. Saville's shoe shop and deliberately carried off the articles. He was taken into custody by the police and now lodges in jail to ruminate on the penalty of his misdeeds.

Stabbing Affray.

Joseph E. Morris, who resides in East Mill Creek, is out on $300 bonds awaiting the grand jury's investigation of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Morris, and James Young, of East Mill Creek, got into a quarrel a few days ago, and Morris obtained a butcher knife, with which he made a cut at Young. The steel struck the latter about the middle of the back, and made a gash about three inches long. Fortunately the knife blade struck a rib, or Morris would have had a more serious charge against him.

Out of Prison.

Today Thomas Harding, of this city; Joshua Adams, of American Fork, Jas. Latimer, of Nephi, Jas. Higginson, of Spanish Fork, L. Loveridge, of Provo, and R. E. King, of American Fork, were released from the penitentiary, where they have been serving a term for living with their wives. Some of them were kept in custody longer than necessary because of the failure of the clerk of Provo to report the payment of fines. It is said there are some still in prison simply on account of this neglect, their terms having expired.

Notes From Ogden.

The Seventies of Weber Stake will hold a conference in Ogden on September 2.

Mr. John Yount, engineer on the Union Pacific, ran a piece of steel through his hand yesterday at Echo. He is now in Ogden receiving surgical attendance.

Mr. S. M. Preshaw goes to Park City this morning for the purpose of exhuming the remains of Mrs. E. P. Ferry which have been buried since 1881. Mr. Ferry will take the remains East to his old home, for interment.

Mr. Morris of the Central Hotel has substantially aided the poor widow and her four children with eatables. Others, charitably disposed have followed the good example, and they will not suffer hereafter. As soon as means can be obtained they will seek to reach their friends in the north.

About two years ago Marlon Munson, car cleaner on the S. P., injured a finger, which was amputated at the Sacramento hospital. The wound healed up and has not inconvenienced Mr. Munson a great deal until lately when it has troubled him considerably. Last night he left for Sacramento to be further treated by the S. P. physician.

Yesterday morning at 8 a. m. a stranger by the name of Frederick A. Bridges died of asthma on the incoming S. P. train. Upon arriving at Ogden his body was taken to Undertaker Preshaw's establishment. He had a ticket to Chicago as well as a letter giving the address of a gentleman at that place. This person was telegraphed about the sad death and the remains are held awaiting an answer from him.—Ogden Standard, Aug. 24.

Arrival of Judge Judd.

Judge J. W. Judd, of Tennessee, Utah's new associate justice, arrived in Ogden from the east last night, and is stopping at the Broom. He will probably remain here some time. He has not yet decided where he will take up his headquarters in the territory; his work not being all in one district, it will take time to decide this point. The judge expects to remain in the territory until near Christmas time, when, if public business will permit, he hopes to return to his home to eat turkey with Mrs. Judd and the little ones at Springville, Robertson County, Tennessee, about thirty miles north of Nashville.

Judge Judd carries with him an air of intellectual strength. This idea is the first one which impresses a man upon meeting him. He appears to be about fifty years of age, is tall and staunchly built. His hair, which is plentiful, is dark iron gray. He wears close-cropped whiskers on his chin, but his upper lip is shaved after the judicial fashion. His face is strong though not stern.

It is reported that the judge left a fine law practice to come to Utah. He has been devoted to his profession, refusing even high political honors rather than to sacrifice his association with the law. He declined to be nominated for Congress in 1878; and in a democratic convention of that year in his district—after denying the persistent appeals to allow his own name to be used—he nominated Benton McMillin, who had not yet been in Congress. McMillin was elected, and has served continuously in the House since that time, and his fame as a leading member of the ways and means committee which formulated the Mills bill is now national. To Judge Judd, therefore, belongs the honor of having discovered in the young man McMillin, who was then but a little more than thirty years of age, the future eminent representative of the fourth district of Tennessee. Judge Judd now resides in the sixth district, represented by Joseph E. Washington, who speaks in the highest terms of him.

Several gentlemen called upon the judge last night, among them being U. J. Wenner and Thomas Maloney, of the Ogden bar. Mr. Maloney is an old acquaintance of the judge.

The Standard cordially welcomes Judge Judd to his new field of labor, and hopes that his relations with the citizens of this Territory may ever be pleasant. He will probably sit a part of the time upon the bench of the third district at Salt Lake, to relieve the turpitude of the calendar there; and a part of the time at Provo, to attend to business in that end of the first district.—Ogden Standard, Aug. 24.

Another Arrest.

The following came this afternoon in the form of a dispatch to the News, dated Nephi, Utah, Aug. 25:

Bishop John Klenke, of Mona, was arrested last evening at his residence in Nephi, on the charge of unlawful cohabitation.

Held for Forgery.

John Thornton, who was arrested the other day for forgery, was brought before Justice Pyper today. He waived examination and was held to answer to the grand jury, which meets next month. Bail was fixed at $500, and in default of sureties he was sent to jail.

Primary Associations.

The secretaries of the Primary Associations of the Salt Lake Stake are requested to forward their reports immediately, as they are wanted for the Stake conference to be held on the 1st September. Address, Miss Bessie Dean, No. 77, Peach Street, Salt Lake City.

Doing Well.

The Brigham Young Academy at Provo is in splendid running order. The longer it exists the wider are its merits recognized. It opened the present academic year with 121 students—the largest total number since the fire—and there are now 133 in attendance. The faculty is an efficient one, and the educational work done is satisfactory and thorough.

Severely Bruised.

Yesterday, Lorenzo Eadington, a young man residing in the Seventh Ward, met with an accident that causes him a great deal of pain, and from present indications will lay him up for some time. He was in a large plum tree gathering fruit, when a limb broke and he was precipitated a distance of 12 or 15 feet, alighting on the hardened ground. The full force of the blow came on the left hip, which is severely injured, though not broken, by the fall.

Killed by a Runaway.

On Monday, August 13, Peter Krantzen, wife and two children, and Mrs. P. C. Jensen and child, of Ephraim, Sanpete County, were riding on a hay rack, going to the field. The bridle of one of the horses came off, and the animals ran away. Mr. Krantzen was thrown from the wagon and severely injured about the head. Surgical assistance was summoned, but in three days the unfortunate man died from the effects of his wounds. He was 51 years old and a native of Denmark. He joined the Church in 1876, and came to Utah the following year.

From Sevier Valley.

Brother Charles L. Anderson, of Sevier County, came up from the south today. He reports the crops in the Sevier Valley in fair condition—much better than was anticipated when the water began to fail. This year there has been an addition to the amount of land cultivated in the county, about 3000 acres having been brought into use under the new canal. The fruit crop is good. Many young orchards have been planted out in recent years, and the trees are doing well. The health of the people generally is good, and they are quite prosperous. The Sevier Valley canal has been built about 15 miles, and will be extended another 15, bringing in a large tract of rich land.

A Misunderstanding.

Today Frederick H. Hansen, of Hunter, was in the city. He stated that yesterday afternoon Deputies Franks and Cannon called at his house. They asked Mrs. Hansen where her husband was, made inquiries about his family affairs, and stated that there was a rumor to the effect that he was living with more than one wife in his house. Mr. Hansen was away from home, cutting lucern. The deputies produced no papers. They asked Mrs. Hansen to notify her husband to come to this city at 10 a. m. today. This forenoon he came and called on Attorney Moyle, who telephoned to the marshal's office about the matter, only to learn that neither an indictment nor complaint had been filed against Mr. Hansen, and that no warrant had been issued for his arrest.

The officers were asked regarding the matter and stated that they did call at Mr. Hansen's for a drink of water. They said a few words in a joke to Mrs. Hansen, but the lady evidently misunderstood them, hence the needless trip her husband made to town.

Poisoned His Corn.

George Berk, proprietor of the Railroad Meat Market, sharpened his knife on his boot one day last week and used the knife in paring a corn. Subsequent inflammation set in, accompanied by severe pains in the foot and limb, and Dr. Hanson, who was called to attend him, said the trouble resulted from blood poisoning. Mr. Berk has suffered intensely, but the physician has the poison under control, though last evening the leg was considerably swollen. He thinks there must have been a little blood on the boot on which he sharpened the knife, and that the poisoning resulted from it. It is by no means unusual to have serious consequences result from paring corns, and people should see that the knife used for that purpose is perfectly free from all poisonous substances.—Winnemucca Silver State.

LOST HIS HAND.

Accident at St. Johns, Arizona.—Crops, Etc.

Robt. Holmes writes from St. Johns, Arizona, Aug. 18, as follows:

The St. Johns people were thrown into consternation on the fifteenth of August, during the time the Saints were paying their respects to their departed friend, Brother Thomas. The news
