

The Tariff Debate.

Deseret News Bureau,

S. B. B., S. E.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—We are now well along in the second week of tariff discussion; and sufficient progress has been made in the way of developing the law and characteristics of the different parties in Congress to give some idea of the outcome.

Tariff debate had three weeks assigned to it in the House. The first week was devoted to general discussion, the speakers being allowed to go into the details of a bill in committee, and the second to the introduction of specific principles. The second and third weeks are devoted to the discussion of amendments under the committee rule, and the speakers have three hours each day to speak on any amendment, and the bill must be voted upon before the end of the session.

The first respondent on the Republican side was Mr. Wadsworth of Michigan. The strength of his position does not appear to be very great. He states that the industries that have been built up in the last year or two have been greatly increased, and that the manufacturers and the public are greatly improved, and that the commercial system based upon the tariff will give the country the greatest benefit.

Of course there is always a difficulty in this way of having every man speak for half an hour. House work is the greatest place to the world, these members are utilized and requiring some are wholly absent, so it is difficult to keep them seated. It is also to be regretted that the members of the opposition have not given their views on the various questions that are involved.

Mr. Wadsworth's speech was followed by that of Mr. Gwinnett of South Carolina, who is a strong advocate of the bill.

He gives an excellent speech. He states that the industries that have been built up in the last year or two have been greatly increased, and that the manufacturers and the public are greatly improved, and that the commercial system based upon the tariff will give the country the greatest benefit.

He also says:

"An industry can only succeed if it is under the care of a good government, and that is what we have in the United States. We have a good government, and that is why we have a good industry."

In this he is supported by Mr. Wadsworth and Mr. Gwinnett.

Mr. Wadsworth and Mr. Gwinnett are the most prominent speakers in the House.

Mr. Wadsworth's speech was followed by Mr. Gwinnett's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

Mr. Gwinnett's speech was followed by Mr. Wadsworth's speech, and they are always written up in the papers.

NAMES OF PRESIDENCY AND BISHOPS

OF THE ORGANIZED STATES OF U. S.

BISHOP'S SEAT.

PRESIDENT: W. H. WOODWARD.

COUNSELOR: JAMES SPENCER, JAMES W.

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY: JAMES W.

TREASURER: ALFRED H. JONES.

CHIEF JUSTICE: JOHN TIGHE.

SIXTH JUSTICE: GEORGE H. WHITMORE.

SEVENTH JUSTICE: JAMES BURKE.

EIGHTH JUSTICE: GEORGE H. WHITMORE.

NINTH JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCGILL.

TENTH JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCGILL.

ELEVENTH JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCGILL.

TWELFTH JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCGILL.

THIRTEEN JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCGILL.

FOURTEEN JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCGILL.

FIFTEEN JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCGILL.

SIXTEEN JUSTICE: JAMES B. MCG