THE second question propounded by our California correspondent on the our California correspondent on the resources of Utah, is "What are the main features of your mining industry? How much iron and of what kinds do you produce?"

Among the mineral products of Utah are the following: Gold, silver, lead, copper, antimony, elanabar, arsenic, iron, bismuth, coal, salt, graphite, sulphur, tron pyrites, alum, borax, nitrate of potash, sal ammonica, carbonate of soda, gypsum, alabaster, clays of different useful kinds, sands also for glassmaking, and other purposes, ochres in end-less varieties, building stones-including limestone, sandstone, collte, granite, black, white and variegated marble - porphyry, lava, pumice, obsidian, petroleum rock, Utahcerite or mineral wax, etc., etc.,

Gold is obtained in small quantities and is found in quartz, in placer, mines and associated with argentiferous ores. Silver in its native state to some extent and in connection with other ores; this precious metal, with lead and antimony, may be called at present Utah's principal mineral product. There is an abundance of copper in the Territory, but it has not been the object of mining industry to anything like the extent of sliver. The buillon product of the Territoryfor 1880, as summarized by J.E.Dooly, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co; amounted to 2,892,498 lbs.of unrefined lead;26,442,093 lbs, refined lead: 1,403,819 oz. silver; 5,142 oz. of gold; in bars 2,379,747 oz. silver; 5,142 of gold. The figures include a little lead and silver received by the Express Company from Montana and Idaho, but when the product not passing through that Company's hands is considered the figures will be about right for Utah. The total value for the output, here, was $5,-127,999.52; at the seaboard $6,450,-953.70.

Iron exists here in immense quantities in the form of magnetitee, hematites in varieties, limonites and other hydrous varieties of carbonates of iron. But at present the manufacture of this valuable metal

As no previous notice of this extra work had been given the telegraph company, and as it was in addition to their regular press and ordinary business messages, the feat is un-parallelled in the annals of telegra-phy, and but for the combined re-sources of the three former compa-nies, now under one management, on a standstill for six months, is looking up and beginning to show igns of life. Three have given in their names for baptism, and more additions are expected. The East wood branch has made the most rapid progress, and promises to be one of the most flourishing branches in the conference. Most of the ad-ditions to this last named branch are from New Brinsley, a small town in which there was a branch thirty years ago. Crowded meetings are
