The Theater was again crowded back to the walls last night, the occasion being the fourth presentation of "Fatinitza." The success of this opera seems to be in advance of that of any other the home company has yet produced. The encores were so numerous and prolonged that the performance was not finished until 11:30, and in spite of Mr.

McClellan's endeavors to prohibit re-calls, the audience refused to allow the performance to go on without them.

"Fatinitza" will next be seen in Ogden on Friday evening, and in Salt Lake

PREVENTS A RUNAWAY.

John Almond Will Agitate Against Untied Teams on the Streets.

John H. Almond, a salesman of the Utah Stove & Hardware company, prevented a catastrophe from occurring on West Temple between First and Second South streets today by a timely display of pluck and strength. A team attached to a wagon laden with potatoes was standing untled in front of the Tribune building when something caused them to take fright. They began lunging and had just began to run when Mr. Almond jumped in front of them and held them by the bits, just in time to prevent them from dash-ing into a carriage. If Mr. Almond had not been there the results would unoubtedly have been more serious Mr. Almond says that he is going to start an agitation with the hope that the city authorities will see to it that teams are not allowed to stand untied on the streets. 10.000
