EDITORIAL NOTES.

Some English philanthropists have sent to the Turkish army, 2,000 plum puddings, in hermetically sealed cans.
Grace Greenwood says that if her tongue were in the "thunder" mouth, she would use it to admonish young men to avoid Washington as they "would a pest house." Grace has been there. But who are the pests, and of which sex are they?
In the New York Supreme Court Justice Pratt charged the jury that the law had not taken away the natural right of a parent to control the education of his child in regard to the branches of knowledge he should study at school, and which were not included in the statutory list of studies.
"A professor of the black art" suggests that ventriloquism is the secret of Professor Heller and lady's "second sight" tricks, that the Professor describes the various articles ventriloquially, throwing his voice upon the stage while he is among the audience, the lady on the stage merely acting as a dummy.
Clara Morris Harriot, the actress, tells the New York Sun that Mr. Harriot denies saying that he allows her to go on the stage when not strong enough, because she is crying nearly constantly when at home. She says she has a brain as strong as her body is weak; that she has often acted when wholly unfit for work, but not from vanity; that she does not wish to give her reason for so overworking herself; that this subject is painful to her, and she wishes it to pass in silence; that she does not like to appear in print, but likes still less to be considered an imbecile.

CITIZENSHIP OF HON. GEORGE Q. CANNON.

The attack which is being made upon Hon. George Q. Cannon's naturalization is only a part of the programme which has been laid down for the general attack upon the people of Utah. If there is a weak spot in our armor we may be sure that our enemies will aim their shafts there, and where there is no weak spot, but only a joint, they aim at that, hoping to penetrate it. No better evidence than this attack upon our Delegate can be given of the straits to which the "ring" is reduced in their warfare against the people of this Territory. The contestant for the seat of Delegate in the last Congress made the naturalization of our Delegate his chief point of attack. He had long months in which to make his preparations, to hunt up his authorities and to elaborate his arguments. He did his best before the Committee on Elections in the last Congress. It would have been a great triumph for him if he could have succeeded in ousting the Delegate from the seat to which he had been so overwhelmingly elected, even if he could not get the seat himself. He appreciated this fully. He took the greatest possible pains, therefore, with his argument. The committee was composed of eleven lawyers, part Republicans and part Democrats, and some of them men noted in their profession and several of whom had graced the bench in their own States. But what did he accomplish? Our Delegate retained his seat undisturbed to the end of the Congress. There was no flaw found in his title to the position; his naturalization was deemed to be complete, and his contestant, it was unanimously decided, by the entire committee, had made no point that was entitled to notice against him. So disgusted was the contestant with his failure that he had no thought of making any further attempt to contest the seat of the Delegate elected to this 45th Congress, but the excitement growing out of the execution of Lee has been thought too good an opportunity to let pass without being improved. It has been hoped that wonderful things might be accomplished on the strength of that excitement and the prejudice growing out of it. Among other things the "ring" have hoped that the Courts here might be induced to do that which the Committee on Elections of the House of Representatives refused to do. Hence this attack upon the Delegate at the present time. We may have occasion to refer to this case more fully hereafter; but at present will only allude to the charge that George Q. Cannon was not a resident of the United States one year before he obtained his papers. Upon this point the authorities are very clear. The intention decides the question of residence. George Q. Cannon was not in the legal sense of the word a resident of the Sandwich Islands. He never had a residence there within the legal meaning of the word "residence." He went there with the intention of returning. We do not suppose that there ever was a moment while he was absent that he would not have gladly returned to his home in this valley, if he could have done so consistently with his obligations as a missionary and a servant of God. This is the case with every faithful Latter-day Saint missionary who goes on missions to foreign lands. He goes, he remains in the land to which he has been sent, because he feels it to be a duty to do so. But when the time comes for which he is required to stay, how gladly he seizes the opportunity to return. There is no land so bright, no people so attractive, no circumstances so desirable as to induce the faithful Latter-day Saint to forego his residence here. Elder Cannon was at the Sandwich Islands temporarily on business. He never acquired a residence there, but was only a sojourner there. We think his answer upon this point emphatic and complete, and we do not doubt his ability to sustain it by the most ample and conclusive evidence.

THE MORMON SITUATION.

The Sacramento Record-Union of May 29, in a brief article on "The Mormon Situation," commences thus—

"The evidences of a Mormon uprising are accumulating. Either the news reports in Utah are chosen to become absurdly sensational or some unusual movement is on foot in this American Zion."

And concludes thus—

"The stories bear a closer resemblance to an attempt to prejudice the Mormon people before the country, and excite and enrage popular sentiment against them, than the sober report of any existing facts."

In these two utterances our Sacramento contemporary grasps and expresses the facts with a good degree of clearness. Some of the news reports in Utah certainly have been chosen to become absurdly sensational. In fact those reports are nothing if not sensational, which, being interpreted, means that unless they tell falsehoods or in some way miscolor the situation their occupation is gone and nobody takes any notice of them or of what they say.

There is without doubt an attempt to prejudice the "Mormon" people before the country and excite and enrage popular sentiment against them, which is an unjust and most wicked course of action. The "Mormon" people are not one bit more disposed to uprising, insurrection, or rebellion now than they were last year, or five years ago, or ten years ago, or fifteen years ago. They have no more thought now of such things than they have had for all those years and more. The sensation stories to the contrary are wholly and entirely false from beginning to end. There never was a people more desirous of peace than the "Mormons" are at this time and all the time. If any people desire war, it is those very people who raise up the excitement about such things. The "Mormons" are pre-eminently a people of peace, but their unscrupulous enemies are always talking of war and trouble, and are always trying to excite such things and bring them about. Such vicious characters will be publicly and generally known in their true colors after a while, and then they will be generally despised and detested.

A MORMON WAR.

"Are we to have a Mormon war?" asks the Cleveland Leader. Better said than usual, for it is the question which the "ring" is reduced in their warfare against the people of this Territory. The contestant for the seat of Delegate in the last Congress made the naturalization of our Delegate his chief point of attack. He had long months in which to make his preparations, to hunt up his authorities and to elaborate his arguments. He did his best before the Committee on Elections in the last Congress. It would have been a great triumph for him if he could have succeeded in ousting the Delegate from the seat to which he had been so overwhelmingly elected, even if he could not get the seat himself. BY TELEGRAPH.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Eastern War News.

LONDON, 30.—A dispatch from Constantinople, Tuesday, describes the positions of the opposing armies as follows: The Russian right wing is at Nispetensk, and the advance guard of the Turkish army has reached Kaldak. Cavalry patrols, belonging to the Russian center, have advanced as far as Vedivale. The left wing is now only 6,000 strong, and the main body thereof is at Uchiklik. The advance guard has been skirmishing with the Turks at Toprak Kaleh. The main body of the Turkish left wing is at Olli, with a detachment near a Turkish fort. The Turkish center and headquarters have not yet been moved from the Soghanli Mountains. The advance guard of the right wing is at Toprak Kaleh. It is officially announced at Constantinople that the Turks have taken Ardahan. Thirteen trains filled with Circassian cavalry, in the Russian army, passed over the Moudavran railway in one day on their way back to Russia. Three squadrons will be disbanded. The Sheikh Ullah found means to let these troops know that a holy war had been declared. They also were shown great numbers of dead and wounded. The engagement lasted ten hours, during which time several close combats took place.

The suite accompanying the Czar to Roumania numbers 300. Up to the present time Roumania has paid to Roumania three million roubles. On May 26th the Russian chief of staff for an additional installment, and they were informed that nothing could be done until further orders were received. Two Austrian monitors have arrived at Semilla to watch Serbia. The Serbian government asserts that the Turkish fleet is in the Danube, and that the Russian fleet is in the Black Sea. At Athens, M. Commaudouros will form a ministry of finance. Great uneasiness prevails. A Berlin dispatch states that the semi-official paper there continues to intimate that the end of the war is approaching. The conclusion of an armistice is strongly rumored. The Times' correspondent at Vienna telegraphs as follows—Rumors of a possibility of peace are floating about here. The Russian minister at Berlin, and date from there, of Prince Bismarck's stay there. At first they were vague; now, however, they have assumed a more positive form, so that the fall of the Russian fleet is now a fact. Erzerum, together with the impression made on the Porte by the menacing attitude of the Chamber and the population of the capital, have already furnished an opportunity for German mediation. A special from Belgrade says Turkish irregulars have attacked an island in the Drina, in Serbian territory, where the Turkish army is peacefully working in the fields, and killed several. They carried off some people and cattle. Government has sent a commission to investigate the matter. Two Austrian monitors arrived this morning in sight of Belgrade. A Vienna dispatch says the Serbian preparations are not such as to favor the idea of a Russian attack. It will permit itself to be carried away by popular pressure; at least it may be assured that neither the government nor the Prince are likely to decide before the return of the latter from Ploesti. General Grant at London. It is understood that the Corporation of London will present General Grant the honorary freedom of the city in a gold box. After the presentation the Corporation will entertain General Grant at a dinner at Guild Hall. A formal invitation will be sent him in a day or two. A Short War. A telegram to a prominent merchant at London from a broker in Constantinople, states that the impression exists in Constantinople circles that the war will be of short duration. The Porte confidently expected aid from England, which is not yet forthcoming, and the late defeats have caused such a depressing effect on her that any fair proposal would likely be accepted.

THE DAILY TELEGRAPH'S ERZERUM SPECIAL.

The Russian left wing was repulsed in an action at Erzerum. The Turkish transport steamers have not yet started with the Egyptian contingent troops, for Turkey. The strike of the English engineers, which at first delayed their departure, has been settled, but the Russian man-of-war Petropavlovsk, carrying twenty-six half-ton guns, is waiting for them in the Black Sea. A special from Paris to the Times says the Turkish iron-clads are expected at Alexandria on the 4th of June to escort the Egyptian transports. An official dispatch from the army of the Caucasus, May 29th, says on Monday, Gen. Oklobshio, commanding the operations against Batoum, ordered his advance guard to the left bank of the heights on the left of the Turkish line. The enterprise was accomplished. Batoum is a detachment of the Russian army, and after great difficulty, established a position about four miles from Katsubani, thus cutting off communication between Batoum and the population of Katsubani. The Russian loss in both enterprises was four killed and thirty wounded. The Turkish foreign minister has telegraphed the Porte's representative at Constantinople, Ardahan, which was recently occupied by the Russians, has been recaptured by the Ottoman troops. A special from Ploesti says the Danube is so high, owing to the melting of snow in the mountains, near its source, that an inundation is feared near Ottenitz, which would oblige the Russians to remove the batteries there. A News Bucharest dispatch says the following: It is understood that a small detached column, under selected officers and having lately captured the fortress of Danube between Kalaia and Jarulita. They captured fourteen Roumanian militia men, and cut off the calves of their legs.
