

CONFERENCE OF SALT LAKE STAKE

Three Meetings Held Yesterday
On the Occasion of Quarterly Sessions.

SOME ADVICE TO THE SAINTS.

Brief Addresses by Bishops—Elder
Heber J. Grant Speaks of Missionary Service.

The quarterly conference of the Salt Lake stake was held yesterday. There were three sessions, at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. in the assembly hall, and at 2 p. m. in the tabernacle. President Nephil L. Morris and counselors presided. At the morning session, there were present, of the general authorities, President John R. Winder and Elders John Henry Smith and Heber J. Grant. The stake clerk, O. Thout, read the hymn, "O, Thou Great Jehovah." Prayer was offered by Elder Walter J. Lewis, followed by the hymn "Gently raise the sacred strain." The sacrament was administered under the direction of the bishops of the Twenty-third and Center wards, the blessing upon the bread being asked by Bishop George R. Jones and that upon the water by Bishop Robert H. Bradford. President Nephil L. Morris, who, as a member of the general board of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association, had recently visited a conference in Idaho, contrasted the eagerness of the people there to attend religious gatherings with the lethargy sometimes shown by some members of the Church in this city in the performance of their duties. In some of the wards of the Salt Lake stake, during the summer season, the attendance at sacrament meetings was 10 per cent of the membership, although in others the percentage was as high as 75. Some had complained that the meetings were too long. In order to remove all cause for such a complaint, the high council had decided that for several weeks the evening services in the wards should be reduced in length from one and one-half hours to one hour.

The general and stake authorities were voted upon by the conference, and the officers being unanimously sustained.

A tender solo, entitled "Behold Thine Shall be a Day" was sung by Samuel D. Winter.

Brief addresses were made by the following: Bishop William McMillan, "Twenty-eighth ward; Bishop William Wood, Jr., "Twenty-fourth ward, and Bishop Franklin S. Tinsley, "Seventeenth ward. They reported that no serious complaints could be made of conditions in the districts over which they presided.

ELDER HEBER J. GRANT.

Elder Heber J. Grant, addressing the conference, remarked that for about 15 years he had been performing missionary service in the Japanese mission, and, second, as president of the European mission. He declared that there had never been a more successful mission anywhere among the Latter-day Saints and confidence in the leaders existed as now. The division of the former Salt Lake stake into several stakes had been a blessing to the people concerned, as more brethren and sisters had been brought into activity, and priest-hood meetings and conferences were better attended. Out in the missionary fields, the more diligent the elders labor the more they are blessed with the Spirit of the Lord. No regrets follow the performance of earnest and conscientious work in the service of the Master.

Some had declared that if they were only given a divine manifestation they would believe in the gospel of Christ. The speaker showed how the brothers of Nephi, in ancient times, after being commanded by an angel to obtain the sacred plates from Laban, ignored the heavenly messenger. In Joseph Smith's day, Oliver Cowdery and some of his associates were honored with the visit of Moses, Elias, and Elijah, yet these glorious manifestations did not serve them from apostatizing from the Church of Christ. Stake leaders in the conscientious performance of duty and implicit obedience to the commands of God. The Lord does not reward his unfaithful servants. The stake is ready to lend aid when we have done all that we can to further his purposes.

President John R. Winder requested the bishops to urge the brethren to attend the tabernacle services in larger numbers on Sunday afternoons, and he asked that the members of the tabernacle choir be relieved, as much as possible, of all other duties, so that this most important organization might not be hampered in its praiseworthy efforts. The choir sang, "We are not ashamed of our own God, and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Charles B. Fell.

AT TABERNACLE.

Afternoon Session of Quarterly Conference of Salt Lake Stake.

The second session of the conference convened in the tabernacle at 2 p. m. The tabernacle choir sang, "All hail the glorious day by prophets long foretold." Prayer was offered by Elder David L. Davis. The hymn, "Ye simple souls who stray far from the path of peace," was then rendered by the choir. Elder Elias B. Woodruff, a member of the stake high council, addressed the assembly. He said that every member of the Church should be ready to give a reason for the hope within him, to tell why he has embraced the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. Many have expressed the wish that they might have lived in the days of Christ, that they might have associated with Him and have heard His voice. But Jesus Himself had said that it was necessary for Him to die in order that the Comforter, the Spirit of all truth, might come unto them. Christ would be in one place only at a time, but the influence of the Holy Spirit would be manifested everywhere. It is the privilege of every child of God to possess this Comforter, which is a light to the world.

The choir sang the anthem, "From afar, gracious Lord, Thou hast gathered Thy people." Elder Heber J. Grant said that although hundreds of young men are sent abroad by the Church to preach the gospel, and though these missionaries are equipped by the learning and wisdom of the world, none have been converted to other systems of religion, or have been convinced that the gospel is a delusion and a snare, but nearly all have returned filled with a testimony of the truth of the gospel as taught by the Latter-day Saints.

He had said that the members of the Church are in advance of their own doctrines. This statement is entirely wrong, for the teachings of the Church are only the gospel of Jesus Christ, and that is a perfect system, to which no one in mortality can fully conform, for perfection is not found among mortals. The central point in the gospel is the sacrifice of the Savior. As He laid down His life for the sins of the world, so should men sacrifice pleasure and convenience for the welfare of the souls of their fellow men. The Latter-day Saints are daily giving to the world evidence of self-denial. Young men leave their homes and their employment to preach the gospel, receiving their own expenses and receiving no compensation, except the treasures which they are laying up in heaven. The speaker said that he himself had resigned positions paying thousands of dollars, that he might be able to give men something that would profit them throughout eternity.

FEELINGS OF AVERAGE MAN.

The feelings of the average man could be well expressed thus: "Of all my father's sons I love myself the best." This is a feeling that is not in accordance with the gospel, which inculcates self-denial and love for others. A mere knowledge of religious truth will not save a man. To know that food will appease hunger will not prevent a man from starving. He must actually partake of good food. Constantly working and striving for the right will bring individual salvation in the end.

Some parents foolishly hold that they ought not to teach religion to their children, believing that the latter should be allowed to grow to maturity before being taught matters for themselves. As well might a husbandman permit his field to remain uncultivated for 20 years and then expect to reap a rich harvest of grain. Temptations are life on every hand, dangers are strewn along the pathway of the young. An ounce of pressure may save a man from falling, while many pounds could not lift him after he has fallen. It is the duty of parents, therefore, to surround their children all the safeguards which their wisdom can devise. The sacred truths of the gospel should be early instilled into their minds, so that throughout life they may have a certain light to guide them and a strong pillar upon which they may lean for help. Instruction should not be put off too long, for the years of life are the most impressionable ones. Then habits are formed which will endure throughout life. It is a difficult task to guide the child into the right path once he has grown along evil ways. The parent sowing seed made to grow according to one's wishes, but the rugged twisted oak can not be changed. The speaker exhorted the members of the Church to live upright, Godly lives, so that they might bring credit to themselves and honor to the work of the Lord.

The choir sang "With Sheathed Swords," and Elder William J. Newman pronounced the benediction.

EVENING SESSION.

Under the Auspices of Relief Society and Primary Association.

The third session of the stake conference was held in the Assembly hall at 7 p. m., under the auspices of the Relief Society and Primary Association. The stand was beautifully decorated with flowers and potted plants. There was a large attendance, the main floor and galleries being completely filled. The choir seats were occupied by members of the Primary Association.

Singing, "The Daughters of Zion," by the congregation. Prayer was offered by Elder George E. Emery, Staging, by the Primary children under the direction of Chorister Effie Morgan. Louis Barnes, organist, "Dare to Do Right."

Harriet B. Barker, of the presidency of the Relief Society of the stake, reported the work of that organization. Nearly all the houses of the stake had been visited by missionaries of the society, and as a result the attendance had been increased. One of the subjects of her study has been the Book of Mormon. The history of the Church would now be taken up. The Church have gone from ward to ward, delivering addresses upon the topics for study. In behalf of the organization, the speaker thanked the stake presidency and bishops for their aid and encouragement.

Eleanor R. Jeremy, president of the Primary Association, reported that there was an organization in the ward of 111 wards and that this work was making rapid progress, being supported by all those in authority. The children were taught valuable truths by means of the story method. For example, during the present month, the subject of honesty was being considered, and songs and recitations about this virtue would be given. The mothers were invited to subscribe for the organs of this association, "The Children's Friend," for therein could be found

CARE OF CHILDREN.

Donette Smith Kessler gave an address on the care and study of children. Oftentimes the seeming pervasiveness of children is due to the fact that their parents do not understand them. It is necessary to know, first, the average or universal child, and second, the individual. There are some things that are characteristic of all children, while each child has its peculiarities, which must be taken into account. If a correct method is to be devised for its training, Parents must not expect a child to conform to standards which they themselves ignore. A child is not likely to be tutored if its father or mother is dissatisfied. In one sense, each child is a class by itself and needs a system of training that might not be suited to the needs of another. In order to overcome this tendency in children to take what does not belong to them, the mother should see that each child has toys and playthings of its own, which its little brothers and sisters must not use. In this way the little ones learn that each has rights which all others are bound to respect. The speaker commended to her audience the words of Froebel, the great advocate of the kindergarten: "Let us live with our children."

MUSICAL FEATURES.

A musical exercise was rendered by members of the Primary Association of the Sixteenth ward. Little Leah Williams, in an admirable manner, gave a recitation upon the subject of truth, showing how this virtue is converted into a vice by adding a little to, or taking a little from, what is true. Nine children gave memory games relating to this subject, and a boy presented a recitation on the same.

Zina Y. Card addressed the conference. She paid a tribute to the intelligence and nobility of character of the women of the Church who are working for the children, and exhorted the parents to do their share in supporting this movement.

Next Convention—Democratic, to be held tomorrow morning and afternoon in the Grand theater, to nominate R. P. Morris by acclamation and fill the ticket with vindictive candidates.

Next Primaries—"American" to be held tonight in the various wards to select delegates for the convention for Sept. 19.

The Republican dates cluster about the month's end. On the 24th the primaries are to be held, on the 27th, the general election, and on the 30th, the city convention.

And by the way, there are two big conventions this week, with two sets of ward primaries. The campaign literature is over, and the curtain is up on the rumble of musketry in the back ground, and the big candidates about to bow to begin their races.

REV. EDDY RESIGNS.

Pastor of Unitarian Church Will Take Up Literary Work.

Rev. Frank Fay Eddy, pastor of the Unitarian church in this city for upwards of two years, has resigned his pastorate, and the resignation has been accepted by the board. Mr. Eddy and family have gone to Portland, Ore., and it is understood that he may take up newspaper and literary work rather than engage in the ministry, for the present at least.

A successor to Mr. Eddy has not yet been chosen, and it is doubtful if a choice will be made before the close of the year. In the meantime the pastorate is in charge of Rev. William T. Brown of Ogden. MRS. MARTINEAU CLAIMED BY DEATH

Wife of Prominent Salt Lake
Business Man Suddenly Struck—en Sunday Morning.

SEIZED WITH PAIN IN HEAD.

While Preparing Morning Meal, She Falls Into Arms of Her Son,
And Shortly Expires.

Mrs. Allie Preston Martineau, wife of Lyman R. Martineau, died suddenly at the family residence, 918 Logan avenue, shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The end came wholly unexpectedly, as Mrs. Martineau was seemingly in usual good health when she arose. While engaged in the preparation of breakfast she was seized with a pain in her head, and fell into the arms of her son Lyman, who was standing by, and expired within a very short time. Endolism, caused by a stoppage of blood in one of the veins of the head, was given as the cause of death.

MOST ESTIMABLE WOMAN.

The demise of Mrs. Martineau will bring widespread sorrow, especially in Logan, her former home. She was a most estimable woman, kind and loving in her disposition, and she was greatly beloved by all who were acquainted with her. She was born in that city and lived there all her life, until removing to Salt Lake a short time ago. Mrs. Martineau was the eldest daughter of Bishop William H. Preston and his wife Harriet Thatcher Preston. She was 41 years of age on March 2 last, when she became the wife of Lyman R. Martineau. Eight children were the issue of this union, six of whom survive their mother. They are: Mrs. K. A. Crismon, Mrs. C. A. Gowan, L. R. Martineau, Jr., Preston Martineau, Martha Martineau and Allen Martineau.

William B. Preston, Jr., who was drowned in Bear river a few weeks ago was a brother of Mrs. Martineau. She took his death much to heart, and it is believed that the tragic occurrence hastened her own end.

Mr. Martineau is well known in business and political circles. He is state chairman of the Democratic party, is largely engaged in real estate affairs, and is the treasurer of the Nelson Drug company.

FUNERAL TOMORROW.

The funeral of Mrs. Martineau will be held tomorrow at the family residence, commencing at 12 o'clock. Later in the day the remains will be taken to Logan, and there interment will take place on Wednesday.
