is with exacting unjust and unreason-able freight rates upon coal silipped from Colorado mines to points in Ottan, Nevada, California, Oregon and other Pacific coast states, as compared with rates on coal shipped from Wyoming and tUah mines. The commission holds, comparing rates and taking testimony, that the rates complained of are not unreasonable in and of themselves, considering the comparatively small volume of traffic and the fact that thansportation is over mountain roads extremely expensive to operate. The commission also points out that probably as a result of this complaint, material reductions have been made by railroads in freight rates since the Directory Out July 20.—Manager Cooper of R. L.
