

The birthday anniversary of our great national hero has given a distinctive patriotic coloring to social festivities during the week though the date itself was not conspicuous for as notable gatherings as occurred last year on the great natal day. Red, white and blue have been prominent in house decorations and "Washington things" have figured as tallies and contest prizes in nearly all the home events. The bright tinge will be exchanged with many next

On Monday evening a delightful Washington's birthday party was given at the home of Mrs. D. J. Sharp, the Sewing club, of which Mrs. Sharp is a member, being hostesses. The entertainment was cards, the tallies, score cards and prizes carrying out the patriotic idea, and flags and flowers in the red, white and blue being used for house decorations. The first lady's prize was won by Mrs. Post, and the first gentleman's by Mr. Bidwell. Mrs. H. Carey and Mr. Post were awarded the consolation prizes. The hostesses were: Mrs. D. J. Sharp, Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. O. E. Carey, Mrs. Dr. Wither, Mrs. W. B. Sprague, Mrs. Charles Rookledge, Mrs. Russell Tracy, Mrs. Will Shelton, number of Sons of the Revolution were among the guests at the delightful entertainment, which was conducted throughout with ideal patriotic spirit and suggestion.

Miss Irene Merrill and Mr. Stephen L. Richards were united in marriage on Wednesday, the ceremony being performed by President Joseph F. Smith at high noon in the Mormon Temple.

In the afternoon and evening a number of friends of the newly married couple gathered at the home of Mrs. Bathsheba Merrill on Lincoln avenue to extend hearty congratulations and good wishes. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms, smilax and cut flowers, pink and green being the color scheme. The bride party stood in the front window, which was tastefully draped with white bunting, a canopy of pink carnations and smilax completing a most artistic effect. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo, and the bridesmaids, Miss Alice Richards and Miss Mina Taylor, were gowned respectively in green and pink. Mr. John H. Merrill and Mr. Claude Taylor acted as best men. Messrs. David R. Allen and George H. Horne were ushers, and the dining room, in which dainty refreshments were served, was presided over by Mrs. George H. Horne and Mrs. B. T. Lloyd. About 200 guests were present, the event being a most delightful one.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards leave shortly for Malad, Idaho, where they expect to reside.

The usually pleasant time was enjoyed by the Opal club at their meeting at the Ladies' Literary club rooms Monday evening. Sixty-three were present until 10 o'clock, when light refreshments were served and dancing indulged in until midnight. The first prizes were won by Mrs. C. F. Tanner and Mr. Wm. Rumel and the consolation prizes by Miss Edith Midgeley and Mr. A. C. Cope. Among those present were: Messrs. and Mrs. D. J. Sharp, Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. O. E. Carey, Mrs. Dr. Wither, Mrs. W. B. Sprague, Mrs. Charles Rookledge, Mrs. Russell Tracy, Mrs. Will Shelton, Dr. M. W. Snow, A. N. Rosenbaum.

The guests were: Jasmine Young, Mary Young, Irma Alf, Hattie Jennings, Lucile Jennings, Mary Sharp, Lucile Taylor, the Misses Hout, Josephine Katz, Sadie McChrystal, Mrs. Buchholz, Flora Griffin, Pearl Culmer, Florence Kessler, Florence Terhune, Ella Clark, Mrs. Effie Green, Lucile Sears, Claire Clawson, Mable Baum, Miss Davis, Miss Dorn, Elizabeth Dorn, Barbara Kimmersley, Alla Miller, Mrs. George Dorn, Louise Hunt, Mrs. Anthony Godbe, Mrs. Marshall, Pauline Groo, Frankie Sharp, Emma Lunt, Claire Ellerbeck, Sibyl Anderson, Ethel Lynn, Della Davidson, Maud Hardy, Leda Rawlins, Bessie Clawson, Alice Clawson, Ada Young, Ruby Wells, Mrs. Ada Culmer, Florence Rounly, Mrs. Charles Calne, Helen Ireland, Edith Ireland, Laura Sanders, Rebecca Morris, Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Will Ellerbeck, Winnie Sprague, Mrs. Percy Sadler, Pay McCune, Mrs. Vivian McCune, Mrs. Bryant Wells, Florence Groesbeck, Mrs. Thomas Sloan, Mrs. Charles Wells, Cathie Douglas.

A most artistic and enjoyable patriotic function was held at the home of Miss Clara Lawson on Thursday, the afternoon whilst club, of which Miss Lawson is member, celebrating the day in true Revolutionary day style. Colonial costumes were worn by the members of the club, and the decorations were the emblematic red, white and blue, with devices suggestive of the nation's hero, which were carried out cleverly in the score cards and tallies, which were decorated with quaintly costumed colonial children, etc.

Refreshments were served after the game, the patriotic idea being prettily carried out. A large number of guests were present and the event all in all was one of the prettiest patriotic events of the week.

Mrs. T. W. Jennings was the hostess at a delightful card party on Tuesday afternoon. The decorations were Japanese and were artistically carried out in drapes, score cards and tallies. Carnations were the flowers used and the scores were hand-painted Japanese figures, in pretty and quaint designs. The progression was indicated with Japanese coins looped through the tallies, cards with ribbons. The prizes in the contest were won by Mrs. Harley Jennings, Mrs. Chapin and Miss Cecelia Sharp. There were fourteen tables.

At St. Mary's academy Thursday night an enjoyable entertainment was given in honor of Washington's birthday. The room was tastefully decorated with the emblems of the day, red, white and blue flags and flowers being used with a portrait of Washington gracefully draped, with the American flag hung as a centerpiece above the platform to specially designate the celebration. The individual musical selections were by Misses A. Kinney, F. Milner, Dora Daly, Mary Mahon, Florence Phillips, E. O'Brien and Miss M. Mulvey, each of which was rendered with notable excellence.

The senior class will celebrate Longfellow's birthday next Tuesday in a pleasant entertainment at the academy. The room was tastefully decorated with the emblems of the day, red, white and blue flags and flowers being used with a portrait of Washington gracefully draped, with the American flag hung as a centerpiece above the platform to specially designate the celebration. The individual musical selections were by Misses A. Kinney, F. Milner, Dora Daly, Mary Mahon, Florence Phillips, E. O'Brien and Miss M. Mulvey, each of which was rendered with notable excellence.

On Wednesday night the young people's societies of the Twelfth ward gave their annual charity ball and fair at the ward hall, the event being one of the usual delightful affairs for which the promoters are noted. The number present was so large as to crowd the hall to its capacity, making dancing almost impossible, and of these a great many were in costume, almost every character from a coon to a crown prince and princess being represented. Around the hall were a number of picturesque booths—a Japanese room in charge of Mrs. W. W. Riter and Miss Jennie Pyper, a candy booth presided over by Mrs. Moyle, Mrs. Lambert and the Misses Clawson; a popcorn booth, Misses Young and Wardrop; fortune teller, Miss Midgeley; Rebecca at the well, Miss Ada Young; Mr. Clifford Young, who gave a most able and interesting paper on "The Spirit of America as Illustrated in the Character of Washington"; and Mrs. William Igleheart, who gave a most delightful rendition of the chapter dealing with the Battle of Trenton from the "Janice Meredith." At the close of the program all present joined in singing "America."

Refreshments were afterwards served, Mrs. J. S. Kinkaid, Miss Anderson, Miss Salisbury, Miss Lowe, Miss Hall and the Misses Gray assisting. A

Winnie Grow, Bertha Brown, Marie Simpson, Maggie Cooper, Addie Engelman, Ida Schus, and Messrs. Dan Folsom, George Miller, Harold Grant, Ben Brown, Claud Cannon, Frank Henderson, John Anderson, Frank Speers, and Charley Fowler.

Today Mr. and Mrs. George H. Horne celebrate their "tin wedding" anniversary in afternoon and evening reception to their friends at their residence. The bride and groom are well as usual in entertaining, and the events promise to be pleasantly memorable ones. Songs of "ye olden times" when all were "boys and girls together" will be sung, and the reminiscent features will figure in the details. The hostess and her one-time bridesmaids are original members of the Shakespeare society and are as follows: Mrs. Horne, Mrs. O. W. Moyle, Mrs. T. D. Lewis, Mrs. T. H. Cartwright, Misses Rachel Edwards, Ada Faust and Lucilla Settle. About one hundred guests are invited.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. White entertain this evening at a dancing and cue party at their residence on State street. A feature of the evening will be a musical program rendered by Prof. Goddard, Prof. Elbertson and Miss Elise Barrow. The numbers will be "Hosannah Gloria" and "The Two Grenadiers," by Prof. Goddard; "Where Blooms the Rose," and "Pierrot," by Miss Barrow, and a piano solo by Prof. Elbertson.

The first year students of the class of 1903 gave a delightful dancing party at the University on Wednesday night. The art gallery, which was used for the occasion, was artistically decorated with the class and University colors, and a candy booth set up in one corner helped in the pretty effect. Harold Orlow, a first year student, had charge of the music, one of the most enjoyable selections of the evening being an original cake-walk melody composed by Mr. Orlow himself. Refreshments were served, and the event was in all respects a most delightful one.

The Ragtime club celebrated the anniversary of their organization at the home of Mr. A. McFarlane, 412 east Eleventh South street, Monday evening. An excellent program was rendered by the members of the club, after which dainty refreshments were served. One of the special features of the evening were the piano selections by Miss Louie McFarlane. The drawing room was elaborately decorated with red and green, the club's colors. The present officers of the club are: N. R. Liddle, O. R. Thomson, P. H. Liddle, A. McFarlane, and J. M. Dixon.

On Thursday Miss Anna B. Yaw, a sister of the noted singer, Ellen Beach Yaw, and Mr. Benjamin Thorpe were united in marriage, the event taking place at the residence of Mrs. M. V. Patterson, 121 south First West street. Rev. Father Kelly officiating. Both bride and groom are recently of Los Angeles, Cal., the latter at present being a resident of Deer Lodge, Nevada, where the newly married couple will make their home.

A pleasant patriotic event was the Boston Tea given by the Christian Endeavor society of the East Side Baptist church, at the residence of F. A. Uiter, on Thursday night. A number of the guests were in colonial costumes and songs, recitations and games were among the features of the entertainment.

W. S. Simpkins was pleasantly surprised on Thursday evening by the gathering of a large number of his friends at his residence, the event being planned in honor of his birthday anniversary. The ladies of the G. A. R. Relief corps had charge of the affair, which was a most enjoyable one.

Mrs. W. H. Jones was the hostess at two delightful social functions on Thursday afternoon and evening respectively.

A pleasant card party was given by A. O. U. W. lodge No. 12 on Thursday night.

Salt Lake Hive No. 4 of the L. O. T. M. gave a delightful card party in the I. O. O. F. hall on Thursday evening. A large number were present and the time was most enjoyably spent.

Mrs. H. S. Goddard entertained last Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Joseph Wright of Ogden.

Mrs. W. A. Sherman will discontinue her day at home until after Lent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lewis entertained at a pleasant social function at their residence on Thursday night. The features of the evening were a musical program and guessing contest, the guests being required to guess the names of musical selections rendered. Mrs. W. G. Sharp won the first lady's prize, Mr. Coffin the first gentleman's, and Mrs. J. T. White and Mr. Richardson the booby prizes.

Mrs. John McDonald Sr. will be the hostess at an old fashioned party next Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. William Read entertained the Sewing club at luncheon on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. F. W. Jennings, who has been absent for some time past in southern Utah, has returned home.

Mrs. D. C. Adams left during the week for the East.

Miss Jessie Forbes will entertain at cards next Tuesday evening.

On Monday night the members of company B, Utah National Guard, gave an elaborate banquet and ball in St. Mark's hall, about seventy couples being present. The hall was tastefully decorated with the national colors, and infantry accessories, and the music, and all details were most enjoyable. The committee in charge were: Durand and Goodman, and Seiga, Sophus and Lund.

On Tuesday evening Joseph Locke celebrated his 80th birthday in a pleasant party given at the home of William Timms, 123 T street. A number of relatives and intimate friends were present, and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Mrs. Willis Beardsley left for Chicago on Monday.

Mrs. B. T. Young is visiting Mrs. R. L. Deacon.

Mrs. C. W. Aldrich has been visiting in Salt Lake during the past week.

The banquet given by the University club at the Kenyon on Wednesday evening was one of the elaborate events of the week.

Another enjoyable patriotic school celebration was the celebration party given at Rowles' hall on Thursday evening. The chief amusement of the evening was dancing, a number of old-fashioned figures being introduced. The dances were in mask and dressed in old-fashioned costumes, carrying out the Colonial idea.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Webber expect to leave for a European trip some time in April.

Miss Bloch will be the guest of Miss Clara Colton during the coming week.

Miss Emma A. Ziegler and Ruben Leroy were married last Wednesday, Judge Pyper performing the ceremony.

The senior and junior classes of the normal department of the University gave a delightful entertainment last night.

Mr. Geo. Evans entertained Thursday evening in honor of Mr. Dori Eastmond of American Fork. About a score of friends of the young gentlemen were present and enjoyed themselves until a late hour at various games.

One of the pleasant events of the past week was the reception tendered Mr. Horace Smith at the Congregational church on Tuesday night.

Miss Nettie Raleigh has for her guests this week Mrs. A. B. Hayes and daughter of Ogden.

Miss Louise Nelson, who has been studying at Bryn Mawr, has been obliged to return home on account of ill health.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Retail Clerk's association

NOTABLE UTAH WOMEN.

MRS. FRANC R. ELLIOTT.

MRS. FRANC R. ELLIOTT, Supervisor of Drawing in the schools of this city, has had a broad experience in educational fields. Mrs. Elliott received her university training in the Iowa University, and has taken post graduate work in art, history, pedagogy and archeology. Her art training was received principally in the art schools of Cincinnati and Chicago. Mrs. Elliott was one of the educational commission at the World's Cotton Centennial exposition at New Orleans. Before coming to Salt Lake Mrs. Elliott was supervisor of drawing in the schools of Aurora, Illinois, and through her influence in that city Aurora became ideal in having the best reproductions of world-famed art placed in her schools. Mrs. Elliott's influence along these same lines is being felt in Salt Lake.

During the exhibit held by the Utah Art Institute in December the confidence of the Directors in Mrs. Elliott's artistic judgment was evinced by making her chairman of the Committee of Awards in the exhibition prize contests.

Mrs. Elliott's ability has been also recognized by the local woman's club element—a factor which is becoming potent in the line of higher culture and educational progress, she having been chosen to act as chairman of the State Art Committee of the Federation of Women's clubs.

week for the gray lenten tints, and until after Easter many well known names will be missing from the roster of hosts and hostesses in the record of social events.

The event of the week was the St. Mark's Hospital ball, which took place on Wednesday night. The preparations, which have been in charge of efficient committees during the past few weeks, resulted in a brilliant affair, the music, decorations, supper and all other details being on a most elaborate scale. The hall was decorated with palms, and the stage was a bower of greenery, the tables loaded with dainty viands and cut flowers, adding in the pretty effect. Christensen's orchestra, numbering 12 musicians rendered entrancing strains, some of the torch songs, under such professional and suggestive titles as "The Surgeon's Quadrille," the "Charity Polka," "Nurse's Two Step," and "Convalescent Waltz."

The reception committee received in the main hall, almost 400 people being present during the evening. Among the guests were: Messrs. and Messames W. G. Sharp, J. A. Pollock, C. F. Stuehl, E. B. Critchlow, J. E. Jennings, G. B. Braxton, J. F. Allen, Ebert Roberts, Arthur Barnes, W. H. Bird, F. D. Bickford, E. Darling, Warwick, Trux, G. B. Proulx, E. Wilkes, A. S. Bower, D. M. Lindsay, H. M. The week's "social whirl" began with a pleasant afternoon affair at the home of Mrs. Kensington and the decorations carried out the Washington birthday idea, flags and red and white flowers being used. A feature of the afternoon was an auction, buttons being bid for, packages containing sewing materials, etc. The guests were: Mrs. Post, Mrs. H. E. Grant, Mrs. R. H. Officer, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mrs. Franklyn, Mrs. Dally, Miss Hanauer, Mrs. Eberly, Mrs. Bidwell, Miss Blanche Kimball, Miss Hunt, Miss Sadler.

The most distinctive and delightful George Washington function was the reception held at the residence of Mrs. George Y. Wallace by the Spirit of Liberty chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Thursday evening.

The rooms were artistically decorated with emblems in keeping with the day. Flags draped the staircase and smaller ones were stacked on the mantels. Portraits of George and Martha Washington hung on the parlor walls, and red, white and blue bunting was brought from these to the chandelier, forming a quadrangle. The dining room was in blue and buff, and the programs were in patriotic colors, and the names being prefaced with the old fashioned "Mistress."

The guests were received by Mrs. C. E. Allen, Mrs. O. J. Salisbury and Mrs. J. F. Allen, who were arrayed in the choice costumes of a century ago, with powdered hair and black patches for "beauty marks" completing the ancient "make up" of the colonial dames. Those who took part in the program were also arrayed in the style of the old period. The program consisted of the choice musical selections and readings, the music being rendered by Miss Alice Gray, pianist; Miss Sibyl Anderson, violinist, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. C. Gemmel; and Mrs. E. J. Jolly vocalist, with piano accompaniment by Miss Stuart. The readings were by Mrs. A. C. Ewing, who gave a most able and interesting paper on "The Spirit of America as Illustrated in the Character of Washington"; and Mrs. William Igleheart, who gave a most delightful rendition of the chapter dealing with the Battle of Trenton from the "Janice Meredith." At the close of the program all present joined in singing "America."

Refreshments were afterwards served, Mrs. J. S. Kinkaid, Miss Anderson, Miss Salisbury, Miss Lowe, Miss Hall and the Misses Gray assisting. A

15c to 30c COTTON TORCHON LACES, 5c YARD.

The identical kinds we gave you three weeks ago. We telegraphed our buyers—now in the east—at once of our dilemma when the whole 5,600 yards went out in one day instead of lasting a week as we had announced they would. Think of that many yards of Lace carried away between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m., we never dreamed such a thing might happen, and while the surprise of it was pleasant in a way, there was a great shadow of disappointment at not being able to keep our word. However we have done the best we could to retrieve that, for here are some more obtained only through the generosity of an eastern buyer who had shared in the first lot. About 4,000 yards and this time advertised
