Deputy Watermaster Thomas Maycock is seriously ill with black erysipelas. The attack is the result of having ears slightly frozen about a month ago.

An amendment to the articles of incorporation of the Salt Lake Fish and Dairy company, making the stock assessable instead of non-assessable, was filed with the county clerk yesterday afternoon.

The Ben Solomon who figured in the riot at San Francisco was not a son of the former surveyor general of Utah, as was announced yesterday. Surveyor General Solomon had two sons, viz: Otto E. and Ernest, both of whom reside in this city.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, has requested the ministers of the city to deliver an address in the near future, upon the aim and work of the W. C. T. A boy about fourteen years of age fell from a pair of stilts on the north bench yesterday afternoon and received painful injuries. One of his legs, it is said, was broken, while he also received some severe bruises. He was conveyed to the office of a physician where the fracture was reduced. Later he was taken to his home. His name was not learned.

The Salt Lake requires but a few repairs, says Architect Klettling, to be in shape for another season's run. Mr. Klettling has been looking these things over, and says a panel or so needs replacing, where the salt crystals have fallen off, and a little touching up with paint and the palace will be all right. The bicycle track also, he says, is in good condition, but a few repairs being needed to put it in a condition for next season's races.

At the Y. M. C. A. parlors last evening, fifteen young women, organized themselves into a physical culture class. Miss Mae Douglas, the instructor, gave a short talk, which fired the young ladies with enthusiasm. The class will meet Tuesday evening for the first exercise. The primary object will be to develop a graceful and proper carriage in walking. Two basket ball teams will be organized in the class before long.

A young lady met with a painful accident last evening while dining at Bond's restaurant. One of the waiters was tripping along with a cup of boiling coffee on a tray, when she was addressed by another waiter at her rear. She turned to answer the question asked and in doing so stumbled. The hot coffee was dashed over the neck and shoulders of the young lady at the table, who screamed with agony. Dr. Harrison was called in and quickly soothed the pain, and she was taken to her home in a closed carriage.

COUNCIL SCARED BY SMALLPOX.

Dr. Beatty Offers a Resolution Providing for Free Vaccination.

CITY TO MEET THE EXPENSE

Mayor Thompson's appointments approved—Opposition to F. C. Kelsey for City Engineer.

A communication from Mayor Thompson, submitting his appointments of nine municipal officers, and a resolution by Councilman Beatty, providing for the vaccination of school children and adults at the city's expense, were the two principal features of last evening's session of the city council. The mayor's appointments received the unanimous approval of the fifteen councilmen, with the exception of Mr. Kelsey for city engineer. Four Democratic members voted against that gentleman's confirmation. Dr. Beatty's resolution, after a lengthy discussion, in which nearly all the members took a hand, passed by a vote of 12 to 2.

VACCINATION RESOLUTION.

Following is Dr. Beatty's vaccination resolution, which was slightly amended by Robertson:
"Whereas, Smallpox prevails extensively in various parts of the State and a general epidemic is threatened;
And whereas, the board of education of Salt Lake City has made a rule requiring all children to show signs of successful vaccination before re-entering school. Therefore be it
Resolved, That the city health officer, or any other person who may desire, may be vaccinated free of charge, and that the expense of the said vaccination be defrayed by the city, provided that those who desire to avail themselves of this privilege shall present themselves at the office of the board of health at such time as may be determined upon by the health commissioner."

DEBATE FOLLOWS.

Beatty moved the adoption of the resolution and said if he could get a second he would give his reasons for introducing it. The motion received a second from Robertson. Beatty then went on to say that in offering the resolution he had in mind other cities in the United States where similar requirements were exacted by school boards. Utah was threatened with an epidemic of smallpox and it was the duty of the city government to provide a means whereby the people could be vaccinated free of charge.

Canning said he was opposed to the resolution for the reason that he could not see any necessity for it. He had lived in Salt Lake thirty-nine years and considered the climate and health of the people to be A. No. 1. He recalled that such a scare nine years ago. If the matter was put through a thorough test he very much doubted the existence of a genuine case of smallpox in the State. To pass the resolution would have a tendency to scare the people and to vaccinate the children and adults of the city when there was no real necessity for it would endanger their health and lives.

Robertson hoped the resolution would prevail. In all the principal cities of the United States the vaccination of poor children, when necessary required, was undertaken by the school boards. Personally he did not believe it came within the province of anyone not a physician to say the numerous cases in various parts of the State were not genuine cases of smallpox. Eminent doctors had pronounced the disease as smallpox; that was sufficient for him and ought to satisfy any reasonable minded person.

Cottrell favored the resolution inasmuch as it provided for the vaccination of persons free of charge, and was not made compulsory.

SPECTATORS APPLAUD.

Canning with much warmth declared that the board of education in making a rule requiring the vaccination of school children had overstepped its province. The people belonged to the State, not to the board of education. (Loud applause from the audience assembled.) The great majority of the people did not want their children vaccinated and he was opposed to seeing it crowded down their throats by the board of education or any other board. (More applause.) It was all very well for people who had no children to advocate vaccination, but to parents with a family, neither was it intended to matter and was calculated to work a great hardship. (Applause.)

Howe, Edgar, believed the present agitation of smallpox was doing the city much harm. The resolution was timed, unwise and out of place. The question of vaccination was one that should be left entirely with the people.

IGNORANCE AND PREJUDICE.

Dr. Beatty said it was evident to him that some of the members did not comprehend the spirit and meaning of the resolution. It was not intended to compel people to have their children vaccinated, neither was it intended to work any hardship upon poor people with large families. He expressed surprise at the ignorance displayed by some people regarding vaccination. It was such ignorance and prejudice displayed by Councilman Canning and others that was causing the spread of smallpox in the State.

Canning (softly) said: "Thank you, Dr. Beatty, for the compliment. You're a gentleman; ain't you?"
Dr. Beatty went on talking and paid no attention to the member from the Second, who had turned pale with anger. Dr. Beatty said it was a fact that smallpox existed in different parts of the State and the disease was spreading. Vaccination was the only means known to medical skill that would prevent the spread of smallpox. For the protection of the city the members ought to adopt the resolution. All civilized communities believed in the efficacy of vaccination and practiced it. True, the existing cases of smallpox were of a mild type. Next year it would assume a more violent form, unless steps were taken to prevent it. No man of medical experience, he cared not what country he lived in, had been known to even question, much less deny, the efficacy and value of vaccination. The question should be considered from the standpoint of medical science and experience and not from the standpoint of ignorance and prejudice.

Buckle favored the resolution for the reason that it did not make vaccination compulsory. To make it compulsory would, to his mind, be an insult to the intelligence of the people. He believed in vaccination and was willing to benefit by the experience of men who had made the question a life study.

Hartenstein expressed similar views as also did Gommel, Fernstrom and Howe, C. R.
The resolution was then put to a vote and carried by the following vote: Howe, Edgar, and Reid voted against it.
MAYOR'S VETO SUSTAINED.

claim deed to Mrs. Elizabeth B. Eastmond was sustained. Mrs. Eastmond must now pay $500, the amount of the original tax and a part of the accrued interest.

DAN DILLON'S SUCCESSOR.

Chief of Police Hilton submitted the appointment of Emil V. Johnson as patrolman to succeed the late Dan Dillon. Johnson was confirmed, Buckle being the only one voting against his confirmation. The new policeman was formerly a member of the Utah battery. City Recorder Naylor's appointments of J. O. Nystrom, as deputy recorder, and Angus K. Nicholson, as clerk, were confirmed by a unanimous vote.

TO LEASE SEWER FARM.

The committee on sewerage reported adversely on the petition of Caleb Laker for a ten-year lease on the sewer farm, stating that the city, by law, is prohibited from giving a lease to the ground for longer than three years. The report was adopted and the recorder instructed to advertise for bids for renting the sewer farm for two years.

A resolution by Canning inviting the National Live Stock association to hold its next annual meeting in Salt Lake was passed and a copy of the resolution ordered sent to the convention at its session at Fort Worth, Texas.

A resolution by Whittemore requesting a people to clean up their premises so that the city be put in good sanitary condition was carried.

Councilman Naylor was instructed to notify heads of departments to attend the next annual meeting of the National Live Stock association to hold its next annual meeting in Salt Lake.

On motion of Fernstrom, the recorder was instructed to purchase six copies of the State statutes, one for the recorder's office and five for the Council chamber.

On motion of Thomas a telephone was ordered placed in the Mayor's office.

Ed. L. Butterfield requested that a gravel or plank walk be put down on the east side of the palace, from Ninth South to the south end of the grounds. Committee on streets.

James P. Freeze and thirty other residents of the vicinity of First South and Seventh East streets, called attention to the almost impassable condition, at present, of the west crossing of the intersection of the above streets, and asked the Council to construct a stone crosswalk there. Referred to committee on streets.

E. W. Wilson and fifty-five others petitioned the Council to place an electric light on Emigration bridge, Ninth East, between Tenth and Eleventh South.

The point is where the people from Lincoln park early in the morning leave the Calder's park cars. Referred to committee on improvements.

APPOINTMENT OF CITY OFFICERS.

Councilmen in Mayor Thompson's List of Appointees.
Mayor Thompson sent in a communication making the following appointments, and submitted the same for the Council's approval:
City engineer, Frank C. Kelsey.
Health commissioner, Dr. J. C. E. King.
Sanitary inspector, Josiah Lees.
Superintendent of waterworks, Frank L. Hines.
Inspector of streets and waterways, Peter S. Condie.
City Sexton, Thomas Carter.
Inspector of buildings, F. M. Ulmer.
Land and water commissioner, S. B. Westerman.
Park keeper, C. A. Erickson.
Oil inspector and sealer of weights and measures, W. P. Nebeker.

CONFIRMED WHOLESALER.

Robertson moved that the appointments as submitted be confirmed. Fernstrom asked if it was the intention to vote for the appointees in a bunch, or separately.
Present Buckle said that was how he intended to vote. He was in favor of the appointments as a bunch. (Laughter.)
Robertson—We get them at a lower figure than we could get them at. The roll was then called and in answer to his name Fernstrom arose and said, "I shall vote partly yes and partly no. I shall vote no in the case of the city engineer, and in so doing I am governing myself by the precedent set by the gentleman in the past Council. There are papers on file, bearing the gentleman's own signature, that a careful scrutiny of would justify any one in voting against him. I am voting no. I intend to vote yes on all the others, but in the appointment of F. C. Kelsey for city engineer I want it recorded that I vote no on his confirmation."

President Buckle instructed the recorder to record Fernstrom's vote as yes on all the appointees, except the city engineer, and to record the member as voting no on that appointment.

MADE IT UNANIMOUS.

Hartenstein, when his name was called by the recorder, said he was going to vote yes on the confirmation of the Mayor's appointees. While he was very much against the appointment of Kelsey, he was not afforded him an opportunity to vote for a member for the party to which he had the honor to belong, he did not believe the interests of his party would be subserved by casting a vote in the negative. In acquaintance with his honor the Mayor, brief though it was, had led him to believe that the city's chief executive was a man of integrity; a man who had the welfare and interests of the citizens and taxpayers at heart and who, he believed, would not submit the name of an individual for a position under the city government unless that individual was capable of the office.

Howe, C. R., was sorry the names had been presented in such a form. He desired to register a negative vote against Mr. Kelsey. On the other he voted yes. In voting against the city engineer he desired it understood that it was not because of any personal feelings; he simply took the gentleman's record under the past administration and voted against him on that account.

Howe, Edgar, wished his vote recorded in the affirmative for all the appointees, except the name submitted for city engineer.

Reid voted the same way.

CASE IS REMANDED.

Judge Riner has granted the motion made last week to remand for trial to the Fifth district court at Nephi from the United States court the case of the Grady Central Mining Company vs the Mammoth Mining Company.

It has been demonstrated repeatedly in every State in the Union and in many foreign countries that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain preventive and cure for croup, and has become the universal remedy for that disease. M. V. Fisher of Liberty, Va., only repeats what has been said around the globe when he writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for several years and always with perfect success. We believe that it is not only the best cough remedy, but that it is a sure cure for croup. It has saved the lives of our children a number of times."

GOOD WILL COME OF ROBERTS CASE

Judge Colborn Expresses the Views of an Enterprising Optimist.

UTAH A MIGHTY STATE, And Will be Benefited by Agitation Now Going On, Says the Well Known Salt Laker.

"The unwillingness of Congress to seat Brigham Roberts, representative-elect from Utah has accomplished too great and satisfactory results for the State," says Judge Edward F. Colborn of Salt Lake City, who is in Denver on business interests, the judge representing the major portion of Denver capital in Salt Lake, says the Post of that city.

"While much of the Roberts case is unpleasant, it has its advantages, after all. The State will profit by it and not alone, by whatever it may accomplish in home discipline. One result is that the people of the United States will look more closely into the question of Utah's social life and the true state of affairs become generally known, and ignorance in a great measure, be dispelled.

"It is astonishing the amount of ignorance, well-informed people show about Utah. Even when they come to the State to see for themselves, it is not always followed by a clearer vision. And the Roberts agitation will go to the knowledge that while the Mormon people are in the majority numerically, outside of one or two differences arising from religion, we do business and exist in the most amicable relations. We both take pride in the State, and as for advancement merit, shoulder to shoulder.

THE ROBERTS AGITATION.
"The greatest advantage of the Roberts agitation, however, will be in directing inquiry to the material resources of Utah as a sovereign State. It has been regarded as too much of a dim, distant thing, and the people have not many days since a staff writer of the Atlantic Monthly came to me with the statement that he had been sent to Salt Lake City from Boston to write a series of articles, the first on the birth of Mormonism, the second on Nauvoo and the third on Utah's later history and the development of the State. Without the excuse of the two first, the latter newspaperman would have written the newspaperman of the Roberts affair has penetrated to the remotest corners of the country. Interest in the State will follow as naturally as the magnetic needle the direction of the pole. It has been heretofore, the exception rather than the rule, for a well-informed man to get off the train at Salt Lake City, hear the pin fall in the Tabernacle, marvel at the Temple, go up the mountain and see the residence of the fathers of Mormonism, and then go away and never once ask: 'What have you heard besides Mormonism?'

At the station the young man said he was not a crook but was on his way to his home in San Francisco. After giving him a good lecture the officer allowed him to depart.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

McKean Post and Women's Relief Corps Join in Ceremonies.

At the I. O. O. F. hall last night about 150 people were present to witness the installation of the officers of the James B. McKean Post No. 1, and the Women's Relief Corps.

The members of the relief corps were installed by Mrs. W. H. Jones and the officers of the post by Assistant Adjutant General Bishop.

The ceremony was presided over by "Possum," was read by Mr. John Lee in an excellent manner. Mr. Frank Foote recited Eugene Field's "Table of Hite," in a very creditable style.

The installation ceremonies through the guests assembled around the banquet tables and indulged their appetites, after which an hour of social chat was spent.

The new officers of the Relief Corps are: Mrs. E. A. Shaw, president; Mrs. H. Heath, second vice president; Mrs. E. E. Corser, junior vice president; Mrs. A. B. Holland, chaplain; Mrs. Sophie Harhurst, secretary; Mrs. E. Z. Dean, treasurer; Mrs. M. B. Levesque, conductor; Mrs. M. Price, assistant conductor; Mrs. J. Farnsworth, guard; Mrs. B. Howland, assistant guard; Mesdames D. Whiteley, C. Essinger, L. Paul and J. W. Long, assistant color-bearers.

The newly installed officers of the James B. McKean Post No. 1 are: Frank H. Clark, commander; J. H. Lakin, second vice commander; Andrew N. Holland, surgeon; Henry Logan, Chaplain; R. G. Sleater, quartermaster; J. Alviss, officer of day; A. B. Richardson, adjutant; N. D. Corser, officer of guard.

UTAH'S SUGAR FACTORIES.

Our two best sugar factories, at Ogden and Provo, produced 18,000,000 pounds of sugar, paying out close to $25,000,000 to the farmers alone for beets. The factories are increasing their capacity by the purchase of new machinery. The Ogden factory will reach 20,000,000 pounds of sugar per year, and the Provo factory will reach 22,000,000 pounds of sugar per year. The factories are now in operation inside of the 12,000,000 pounds grown in Utah were woven in Utah mills. We built the Palace at Salt Lake City at a cost of $60,000, a palace, conceived, constructed and put in operation inside of four months. It is one of the remarkable buildings of the continent.

TOTAL METAL PRODUCTION.
"We have produced $230,000,000 of metals since we commenced to mine. This is especially gratifying to us is the direct result of the fact that Utah made money at home. Formerly it went to San Francisco; now it goes into handsome residences. The Silver King mine paid $25,000 in dividends last year, $125,000 of which went into one residence; $50,000 in another. Our dividend producers are all owned at home, so that we had $1,500,000 last year distributed at home."

Judge Colborn drew attention to the location of Salt Lake City within a few miles of all the great producers, and the activity in railroad building, stating that the railway to Los Angeles, which will cut off 500 miles of the present trip to Chicago, is already 200 miles on its way. When completed, he claims it will accomplish for Salt Lake City what the Denver and Fort Worth did for Denver.

"With the stimulation felt in every kind of business," he concluded, "there is no reason, religious, social or of any kind, why the city and State should not have a phenomenal growth."

MRS. WILSON PLEADS GUILTY

The Court is Merciful, Fining Her Only Ten Dollars.

Emma Wilson, who pleaded not guilty to the charge of sending obscene matter through the mails, in the Federal court Monday, appeared in court again yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge and threw herself on the mercy of the court. District Attorney Whittemore stated that the woman's offense was not such a grave one and asked that the punishment of imprisonment be dispensed with, and that the fine be made nominal. Grant H. Smith, the woman's attorney, stated that his client believed in the punishment of imprisonment and was unable to furnish bail. He also stated that she had been subjected to a most outrageous imprisonment of six months in the city jail during the last year. Moreover, the woman had a child, whom she was trying to rear respectably, and he thought the nature of the offense and the conditions justified leniency. The letter on which the indictment was based was not scurrilous and was intended only for the party to whom it was addressed. Judge Riner addressed the prisoner, stating that he had taken into consideration the recommendation of the counsel on both sides, but if she ever appeared in the Federal court again under this or a similar charge before him, she would be sent to the penitentiary. A fine of $10 was then imposed, the prisoner to remain in the custody of the marshal until she paid the money. The money was paid and the woman was released.

IN PRISON NOW.

James P. Murphy, who pleaded guilty on Monday, in the Federal court, to the charge of breaking into the postoffice at Morgan, and who was sentenced to the penitentiary for a year and a day, has taken up his abode at that place.

CRAIG DIES AT HOSPITAL.

Unfortunate Man Whose Leg Was Cut Off by Train at Price.

Charles Craig, the miner who was brought to St. Mark's hospital yesterday with one leg cut off, succumbed to his dreadful injuries a few hours afterwards. Craig had been working in the mines at Butte, Montana, and had descended to foot it back to Coaldale, Pa., where his people reside. He had gotten as far as Price, when, overcome by drink, he fell in a stupor across the railroad track. He was run over by the train, his leg being completely severed from his body. For two days and a half he went through any surgical attention, and when he reached Salt Lake the unseparable pain he had endured had well nigh accomplished its work of death.

The remains were taken to Evans's undertaking parlors, where they will stay until word is received from the unfortunate man's relatives.

"GRAFTERS" IN TOWN.

Officer Sperry Attests a Young Man on Suspicion.

About 4:30 yesterday afternoon Officer Sperry went to the Ricketts block and arrested a young man whom he supposed to be a member of a gang of "grafters" who have been operating in Salt Lake for two or three days.

The game of the men was to hang about the corridors of hotels and induce people to go to their room on the pretext of examining or samples. After showing the specimens one of the men would suggest a game of poker. Soon a lively game of draw was in progress and the unsuspecting miner would lose all his cash. When the matter was reported to the police yesterday Officer Sperry started out on a hunt with the result stated. In the young man's room were some playing cards, poker chips and a mineral exhibit.
