LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRE.—This evening Married Life, The Lost Child, and the Illuminated Fountain—big bill.

Which is the repentant malefactor? The Herald can answer at its leisure, because the malefactor must be ready to repent. The place for the other fellow is a ready.

THESE HONORABLE MORMONS will not let a row, do what we will to let it be, shaking the awful terrors of the law over their devoted heads, and they are peacefully in conference, and they are given in marriage, blow, now, now, plant, build and inhabit, and do all the business, just as if we were their friends, intent on doing them all the good we could, instead of being their worst enemies, trying to do them all the injury we can. They don't even bow down to us, but they bow down to the law, which is the only law that is in force here. What an infatuated people, to say the least.

ERATION WANTED OF Mrs. Charles Hardy, maiden name Burghy, from Yorkshire, England, about fifteen years ago. Her brother, Edward Burghy, would be glad to hear from or of her. Address John Miller, P. O. Box 192, Salt Lake City.

ILLUSTRATED.—Mr. J. Dwyer brings in the "Chicago Weekly," and "Harpers' Illustrated Newspaper," and "Harpers' Weekly," for October 1878, and the week ending October 14th. He will be glad to sell Conference friends at his establishment, and supply them with the papers of the day, the week and the month.

THE SPECIAL CONFERENCE yesterday was largely attended, the speakers enjoyed the unusual flow of the good spirit, and the assembly was the ring felt well. We heard some of their friends awaking and hearing the name of the duty as we went from the temple block after the services. That is a very unusual thing and a great gratification to the ear.

THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD appears to be set like just now. As the song says, "All are talking of Utah."

PRIVILEGE.—Bro. M. J. Shelton, of Liberty City, Provo Valley, called in, three weeks, and reported that four days ago, three weeks, comprising fifteen Indians, of Anker's band, of Utah, passed up Weber valley, and were well treated by the settlers. When a few miles above Hall's ranch, the Indians killed and carried away part of a two year old heifer, and shot and killed some other cattle.

In Provo Valley excellent crops have been raised the past season, and the numerous stacks of grain are being fast threshed out. Grangekeepers are numerous there, and are busy depositing their eggs.

UNRECORDED TESTIMONY.—The following from the Omaha Herald is true enough, and bespeaks a candid and generous spirit, refreshing to witness, as things go.

The Israelites of Salt Lake thank the Mormon authorities, formally and heartily, for their kindness to them in furnishing them with a basis, free of cost, for celebrating their late religious anniversary, the most tolerant and magnanimous religious sect we have ever known in the Mormon.

NOT KORTY THIS TIME.—Of course the blood and thunder style of dispatch keeps travelling, but it can't be from Korty now. He confessed that he meant nothing of the sort, and of course he would not do it again. It must be that other fellow, and this is his way of telling the story, as per dispatch in the Omaha Herald.

Gov. Woods has a fine every preparation for an emergency, and he will maintain the law at any cost.

Yah! The Governor, like the ring in general and the members of it in particular, is a great on law, very great, awfully great. It is his and their forte. If it were not for the law what would they do? At the same time, we do not see any pressing necessity for a Governor to sit at the judges' right hand, correct counsel, or call the jury to a proper sense of their duty. If the emergency is resolved to "maintain the law at any cost," yes, even at the cost of conscience, propriety, right, justice, or common sense. Because, judges and juries might incontinently resent such kindness. Nevertheless, go in, Governor, and be sure and keep a sharp look out for emergency. Don't be with that as Paddy was with the flea, because, if you miss the emergency, you miss your chance. "The law is the law in the affairs of men." The emergency is your grand chance, Governor, may be your last, your only chance. Pray don't miss it at any cost. "Grab it by the fin," Governor, and don't let it slide, for recollect it's a slippery customer to handle. Tell us when you've got it sure.

THAT WE SHOULD.—If we were invested with a little brief gubernatorial authority, shouldn't we want to make the most of our time and our power and our opportunity before we found our precious dignity "elevated a little lower"? Yes, Verily. Shouldn't we wake up things? Shouldn't we dig into somebody or something? Shouldn't we telegraph hotly for rescue? (cough) (cough) to come on instant notice and on a swifter than post haste to bolster us up, though when they came they might indignantly exclaim, "What's all the row about? What do—d—d fools we were to come here without our appeal? Why everything is as quiet and peaceable as possible here! What's it all mean? Who knows?"

"Blood, Isaac!"—The Omaha Herald doubts the assurance of continued peace and quietness in Utah, as we see the following—

There is trouble, serious trouble, brewing in Utah. Prominent Mormons, as well as other citizens who have just visited Salt Lake, assure us to the contrary, but we stick to the opinion that there is trouble brewing in Utah. The indictment and arraignment of Brigham Young and other leading Mormons on charges of having conspired, not merely the crime of "Polygamy," but the real crimes of murder, and upon proof of the kind that is certain to be manufactured to sustain them before juries from which, under McKean's preparatory decisions, all Mormons are excluded, means blood. It means nothing less, as events will show.

Whoops the Herald will not be started over much. Everything will work right eventually. The ring mean blood, and week blood—everybody knows that. But they have not got everything their own way yet. There is a heavy majority against them, as we well know, and they will find out.

Called.—Elders C. C. Rich, from Bear Lake, looking remarkably well, and C. W. Penrose, the able and lively editor of the Ogden Junction, Bishop David Milne and Elder John A. Nelson, both of St. George; Elders Warren N. and Wilson Dunsberry, and J. B. Milne, of Provo, besides others, who modestly shrank from public notice; all rejoicing in the blessings of Providence, and the promising situation of the kingdom.

RICHFIELD.—Bishop Nelson Higgins, of Richfield, Sevier Co., called yesterday. He reports a general time of peace and good health in his diocese. Good crops have been raised the past season. The county is being fast settled, but there is still room for a few others, and the bishop invites those to go and settle. Marriage and all kinds of business are going on peacefully, and he would be content with a full share of the blessings and comforts of a full share of preserving industry.
