

ON MULE-BACK IN NORTHERN AFRICA.

Tangier's Interesting Environs—A Trip to Tetuan—Riff Pirates by No Means Past and Gone.

Special Correspondence.

TANGIER, Morocco, Sept. 23.—The uncertain laws of this land of Mohammed have established what is known as a "Sanitary Council," whose rule extends three miles beyond the walls of Tangier.

They did not kill—as their ancestors would have done, merely for the fun of the thing—this piracy being too easy.

It is in another case of "first catch your hare," in Moroccan dialect "riff" signifies the same as the Italian "river," or seashore.

It takes two days to go to Tetuan on muleback and the government insists on furnishing the escort.

At your expense. The customary payment of a foot-soldier is a half dollar a day and his "keep" that of a mounted soldier, double the price.

"What's my umbrella?" he demanded of the hall porter. Search was made, and the umbrella was not forthcoming.

"My umbrella!" cried the admiral. "An umbrella with a silver knob—where is it, sir?"

"The bustle continued for a few moments, and then one of the attendants timidly informed the admiral that it could not be found.

"What, sir—what, sir? Not to be found, sir? Why not, sir?" "I am afraid, sir," replied the hall porter, "that some gentleman has taken it by mistake."

"Taken it? Taken it?" roared the admiral, now fairly apoplectic with rage: "You mean stolen it—yes, sir, stolen it! I might have known what would happen when we let in all those d—d bloshes!"—Argonaut.

UNNECESS— He had called on a Fifth-avenue physician, and reported that he was "knocked out generally." As he took the prescription, he said: "Well, doctor, what do I owe you?" "Two dollars."

"I'm sorry I can't pay you today. You won't mind waiting a while, will you?"

"No, that's all right."

"And, doctor, how much will this prescription cost?"

"Say, doc, you couldn't loan me a dollar to get it with, could you? I'm dead broke."

"Let me look at that prescription again," said the physician. He took it, examined it, and erased a line.

"I had prescribed something for your nerve," he said, "but I see you don't need it."—New York Times.

Spanish guns. The streets in the Jewish quarter are the narrowest and dirtiest I have ever seen—so narrow that actually two persons can hardly walk abreast between the houses, and these lanes are further darkened by frequent arches thrown across. In the Mohammedan part of town which is much cleaner, are some very handsome residences, belonging to wealthy Moors. Most of these mansions have fountains of running water in their exquisitely tiled court-yards, a f Alhambra, and trees covered with passion flowers and fragrant jessamine. Owing to its suddenly dwindling population, house-rent is awfully cheap in Tetuan, and one can obtain a regular Aladdin's palace for almost nothing. There is a good deal to interest one here—in the best in Morocco; in the silk factories, which turn out scarves, fajas and gorgeous handkerchiefs; and in the pottery, situated in caverns outside the town, where the wonderful Azules or Moorish tiles are made. The views, too, are worth coming far to see—green valleys and glistening river, gardens and olive groves, surrounded by rugged hills and snow-capped mountains. The climate of this part of Africa is delightful the year round and particularly recommended by European physicians for invalids with wonderful complaints. The port of Tetuan, called Marten, is five miles to the eastward and a mile from the Mediterranean, on a river whose mouth is obstructed by the inevitable sand-bar. It is guarded by a single tower, square and lofty, very picturesque, but hardly worth the journey to look at in this land of picturesque objects.

IT PAYS TO BE PARTICULAR. When it comes to burning coal you are burning money. Some stoves "simply eat up coal" others do their work without loss of time or fuel—and make no fuss about it. In fact, stoves are like men. Will you let us show you the good kind?
