WATERSHEDS OF SALT LAKE CITY

Map Showing Private, National And State Lands in Engineer's Report.

FOR GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

Scheme to Transfer Direction of These Lands Into Federal Hands—What City Would Save.

The report of the city engineering department, which was filed yesterday, contains a great deal of information of interest to the citizens generally.

One of the important illustrations, which is a new departure and one which has required much painstaking work, is a map showing the city and surrounding watersheds. The map is an extensive representation of the canyons north, east and south of the city and shows the surveys of private, state and government lands, all of which will be represented on a three-color map. The watersheds over which the city has control are vast in extent, consisting of all lands formerly owned by the Union Pacific Railway company, under government grant, and all lands of every alternate section of the country mapped in addition to much land from lands in which the government has title city has watershed rights, thus making a vast tract to be shown in the new map.

FOR GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

In this connection, the federal government and the city engineer are working on a scheme to transfer for administrative purposes to the government all the city's watersheds. The first step is being taken with regard to the city's lands in Parley's canyon. The plan is for the government to take over the watersheds, re-forest them and then to patrol them. It is well known that the rights of the government are respected by herders and others, giving occasion to losses through the canyons much more than are the rights of a city or state. In this way the city and the government believe that not only will the city gain much in the purity of its water supply and its volume, but the mountains which are now bare of trees will be again in the course of 50 years at most a forest equal to that found when the white man first invaded the country.

SAVING TO CITY.

In addition to its other features, the city will save approximately $500 per month in the matter of patrolling the canyons, amounting to $6,000 a year. The plan has been before the government for about two months and action determining the intention of the department of agriculture in the matter is expected within a month. The city engineer is actively engaged in going over the ground with the city engineer and other city officials and their report is understood to have been favorable to the idea of Mr. Kelsey.

CURIED LUMBAGO
A. B. Cannon, Chicago, writes March 4, 1907: "Having been troubled with lumbago, at different times and tried one remedy after another, I finally got cured by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It gave me almost instant relief. I am cheerfully recommending it, and will add my name to the list of cures." Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main Street, Salt Lake City.

STOLE A CHICKEN.

Wood Davis, Gambler, Captured After A Lively Chase on Street.

Wood Davis, a gambler who was arrested during the state fair on the charge of attempting to lift a watch from John Timpon's vest pocket and was later discharged, is again in trouble. He now is accused of having seized a chicken at the store of the Vogelbein Seed and poultry company, 69 west First South street. After lifting the bird, Davis attempted to leave the store in a hurry. Frank Brown, a former policeman now in the employ of the company, started out a good second after a lively sprint down the street landed his man and held him, chicken and all, until Officer Golding appeared and relieved him of his prisoner.

Davis is rapidly acquiring a police record for he was recently convicted of vagrancy. The case was appealed and he was out on bonds until he was tempted by the chicken and once more fell from grace.

HENDERSON IS PRESIDENT.

Board Holds Election and Provides Food for More Than Thorough.

Henry P. Henderson was elected last night as president of the board of education to succeed O. W. Moyle. Prof. Byron Cummings steps into Judge Henderson's place as vice president, and L. P. Judd and S. A. Whitney were re-elected as clerk and treasurer for the board respectively.

The mixture of pickles and candy as the two and sole components of a high school girl's lunch and the picking out of the young men of the same institution for pie led the board into heated argument last night. It was brought up when the board came to the consideration of the proposition to spend $150 to fit up a lunch room in the basement of the high school and $10 for light and heat. Mr. Martin believed the board without right in the matter. Prof. Cummings explained to the board that anxious parents had complained to him of the practice of their young hopefuls in the matter of eating harmful "trucks." The digestive apparatus of the boys and girls is being utterly ruined, he explained. In addition the rumors are fading from the peach bloom complexions of the pretty co-eds. Upon this showing the board members, probably having in mind the necessity of perpetuating the beauty of Utah's daughters and the preservation of the health of the state's sturdy sons, voted to expend the money and a lunch room will be established at the high school where students may eat at cost or little more.

The board approved the appointment of the following teachers: Helms Williams, Minnie Messenger, Daisy Clark,

I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take, that I can recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." Sold by Z. C. M. I. # KEEP THEIR MONEY IN SAVINGS BANKS

Few Depositors Decide to Take Advantage of Notices of Withdrawal.

THE BANKERS ARE CHEERFUL.

All Declare That Prosperity Has Been Restored and That Everybody Has Confidence.

Instead of withdrawing their money, as it had been expected they would, savings bank depositors are adding to their hoards, while new accounts are being started in large numbers.

The situation in New York is set forth by the Herald of that city as follows:

At the close of the year the 60 day notices of withdrawals expired, but only an inconsiderable percentage of depositors took advantage of the privilege. All got their interest.

All savings bank officers with whom a Herald reporter talked yesterday were in a cheerful mood. This is the time of the year, they pointed out, when persons need lots of money for the payment of bills, interest on mortgages and loans of various kinds.

Savings bank depositors when heavily pressed draw largely on their savings, and equally so when they find their money likely to be tied up for an indefinite period. And yet the officers of these institutions were pleasantly surprised to find there was no unusual rush for withdrawals. On the contrary, they were still more pleasantly surprised to discover that total withdrawals were extremely scarce.

Presidents declared that so far their books showed a large balance of deposits over withdrawals, and that confidence had been restored, and that people no longer are afraid of losing their money. The premium on currency was removed—another encouraging sign of recovery.

Yesterday morning, the president of the Emigrant Industrial Savings bank, in Chambers street, was offered in Wall street $500,000 to meet withdrawals. But the savings bank did not need a cent—its cash on hand was $1,000,000.

Savings banks in the most populous portions of the city were crowded to their doors all day, but it was noticed that the lines in the deposit side were longer and closer than on the draft side.

MR. MULRY PLEASED.

Thomas M. Mulry, president of the Emigrant Industrial, said: "The times are most encouraging. There is no money stringency and everybody seems to be aware of that fact."

"How many withdrawals did you have?"

"Well, out of about 400 who had given notice, only 32 availed themselves of their privilege. The others had found out it was more profitable to let their money stay with us. Yesterday, for example, the withdrawals were about the same number as last year, while the deposits were $100,000 more. Not a single person has been refused his or her demand."

"Again, we find that our depositors are quite willing to take checks, which shows they have a bank account in a bank of deposit. We had only one man who insisted on receiving his deposit in currency. Evidently he was under the impression that there was a large premium on currency. But the premium is practically off. He was put in line and had to wait his turn."

"Depositors having $2,000 to their credit have withdrawn only $100 or at $200. $200 less than they had drawn on $1,500 accounts. This shows these depositors want their money not to hoard at home, but for special purposes peculiar to the beginning of the year."

"I was down town this morning and a banker, thinking we would have an unusual rush for money, offered me half a million in currency to meet any emergency. I declined it with thanks because my own resources are so plentiful. That incident shows you that prosperity has returned."

James Quinn, president of the Greenwich Savings bank, at No. 248 Broadway, said: "We have been very well pleased with the way things are going. As to the 60-day notices he said:

"Of that we paid out up to the last of December only $100,000. Out of $450,000 paid out yesterday only $112,000 was on account of withdrawal notices."

LARGE SUMS RECEIVED.

"We received yesterday $85,000 and opened more than 100 new accounts. Today we received deposits of $104,000 and paid drafts aggregating $176,000. Today we opened 81 new accounts. We paid the full interest on the December deposits, and $600,000 in cash. Many persons are now very glad they have left their money with us."

At the bank for Savings, Fourth avenue and Twenty-second street, the secretary had a favorable report to make.

"We paid out today," he said, $170,000, mostly in checks, and took in more than $100,000. Before Jan. 1 we had sent out 60-day notices. We have received a good many cancellations. We have there been many applications for currency."

"Nearly all are taking checks, which is a good sign of the resumption of prosperity. After the first of the new year we may expect to pay out a great deal of money. We expect to be still more busy. We had so many depositors today that we could not get them out of the bank until 20 minutes to 4."

"My answer to your inquiry," said Andrew Mills, president of the Dry Dock bank, "is that business is now normal, and when I have said that, everything is covered. I don't believe in looking for the general public to do anything unusual. Suppose I said we paid out $50,000 today. Some man on the east side on hearing of it would be up in the air, not knowing that we deal in millions, and that $50,000 is a mere nothing."

The second vice president of the Bowery bank suggested a look along the crowded corridors. There were hundreds in the building between 2 and 4 o'clock, said a large majority of the men and women were on the deposit side. At that hour he could not give any figures. As to the 60-day notices, he said only a very small percentage had taken out their money.

"We are taking in more currency," he said, "than usual, and what better sign of prosperity can you have?"

At the Union Dime Savings bank, in Thirty-second street, the same conditions prevailed as in the other banks visited.
