

all his stock of liquor, is fined from $50 to $250, and may be imprisoned 30 days.

On complaint and on a warrant, suspected places may be searched, but no private dwelling-house can be, unless the owner has been convicted of selling liquor in it, within the previous year.

When liquor is seized, notice must be given the owner. If not adjudged forfeited, it will be returned to him. If adjudged forfeited it will be destroyed, and the vessels containing it sold.

Persons summoned as witnesses, who refuse to testify, will be sent to jail. Persons becoming intoxicated in taverns, groceries, or in the street, will be fined $10, besides being made to testify where they got their liquor. All fines go to the support of the poor.

Upon the trial, proof of any sale will be deemed proof of unlawful sale, unless the seller can prove to the contrary.

Persons suspected of having violated the act are disqualified from acting as jurors in cases under it.

Liquor transported anywhere in the State, in quantities over five gallons, must be marked 'Intoxicating Liquor,' and with the name of the person to whom it is going.

Cider may be sold in quantities over ten gallons, but none must be drunk on the premises. Manufacturers of alcohol and of wine from grapes grown by themselves may keep and sell them. Burning fluids, varnishes, perfumery, essences and drugs, may likewise be freely made and sold. Imported liquors may be sold in the original packages by the importer, but only to persons authorized as above to sell at retail.

All liquor kept in violation of the act will be deemed a nuisance. No more licences shall be granted. This provision shall take effect immediately.

The section in respect to authorizing agents to sell for manufacturing and medicinal, chemical and sacramental purposes, takes effect on the 1st of May. All the other provisions of the act take effect on the 4th of July.

A NEW TRANSLATION OF THE PSALMS.—Dr. Cumming, a clergyman of London, England, is not satisfied with King James' version of the Scriptures. He has been trying his hand at a new version of the Psalms of David. Here is the way he 'oversets,' as the Germans say, the exquisitely simple, touching and beautiful 23d Psalm, (which, in the ordinary version, begins—"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want, &c.")

"Deity is my pastor; I shall not be indigent.—He maketh me to recumb on the verdant lawns; he leadeth me beside the unrippled liquidities; he reinstalleth my spirits, and conducteth me in the avenues of rectitude for the celebrity of his appellations. Unquestionably though I perambulate the glen of the umbrages of the sepulchral dormitories, I will not be perturbed by appalling catastrophes; for thou art present. Thy wand and thy crook insinuate delectation.—Thou spreadest a refection before me in the midst of inimical scrutatations. Thou perfumeest my locks with odoriferous unguents, my chalice exuberates. Indubitably, benignity, and com-miseration shall continue all the diurnity of my vitality, and I will eternalize my habitation within the metropolis of nature."

This would please Mrs. Malaprop immensely.—[Ex.]

A GEORGIA MOB.—A young man from Massachusetts went to Gainesborough, Georgia, and being asked if he was an Abolitionist, answered that he was. He was advised to leave the town, and he started for the railroad depot in order to do so, but a mob, headed by the Sheriff of the place, pursued and caught him, rode him on a rail carried by niggers, blacked his face, and sold him at auction for a nigger, and then took him to a drinking-house, and made the niggers hug and kiss him. They warned him that they would kill him if he lifted a finger to resist, and the Sheriff, though the victim did not resist, aimed a pistol at him, and would have shot him but for the interference of a bystander from another State.

No act whatever was alleged against the young man, and when his baggage was searched no Abolition document was discovered except a single number of the New York Tribune, a paper which is extensively taken in every Southern State in the Union. Under such circumstances, the acts of the mob were outrageous and infamous.

If every Northern man, who dares to say in the South that he is a Free Soiler, is to be mobbed and sold at auction, how long may it be before any Southerner, who shall presume, in reply to a question to avow himself in the North a pro-slavery man, will probably be subjected to similar treatment? To be sure the cases are not exactly parallel, but when did a roused spirit of retaliation ever stop to run nice parallels?—[Louisville (Ky.) Journal.]

EXTRAORDINARY WELL.—In an interesting letter to the New York Courier and Enquirer, Mr. E. Meriam, the New York meteorologist, states that there is in Lockport, New York, an artesian well four hundred feet in depth, from the bottom of which rises a vein of salt water, holding in combination a large per centage of diluquescing chlorides, which, mingling with water of other veins, produce instantaneous crystallizations of beautiful selenite in flattened eight-sided prisms of about an inch in length, an eighth of an inch in width, a sixteenth of an inch in thickness. The laminae of these are so perfect that a single crystal may be divided by means of heat, into two dozen distinct sheets.—

This well is peculiar in more respects than one. It is accustomed to spout salt water for but a few moments at a time, and then subsiding remains quiet for the space of an hour, at the conclusion of which it again begins to puff and roar, and shoot forth its saline jets. When the workmen were sinking this well, the auger, upon attaining a depth of two hundred and thirty-five feet, fell suddenly about fourteen feet, and reached the bottom of a subterranean river, flowing with so strong a current as to produce a perceptible motion in the upper part of the stem of the auger.

PHOTOGRAPH IMAGES FOUND ON THE BODIES OF THOSE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—A lady of Rugano, Italy, sitting near a window during a thunder storm, received a shock and a flower which happened to lie in the way of the electric current was figured upon her leg, and she preserved the appearance during the rest of her life. A sailor on board a vessel in the harbor of Zante, one of the Mediterranean islands, having been struck with lightning, there was found on his breast the number 44, being an exact copy of the same figures in metal which were attached to a part of the rigging of the ship.—In September, 1825, the lightning struck the brigantine 'Il buon servo,' on the back of one of the sailors who was killed was the figure of a horse shoe, of the exact dimensions of one nailed to the foremast. Two other like cases are related as having occurred in France, one in 1841, and another in 1786.
