It will be asked that Spackman be placed under bonds to keep the peace.

Granted New Franchise—The county commissioners yesterday afternoon granted a new franchise to the Institute Electric company for the construction of an electric power system throughout the county. A franchise was granted the company some time ago but it failed to give notice of acceptance within the required time, hence a new franchise was asked for and granted.

Romance Does Its Work—George Henderson of Aberdeen, Scotland, and Miss Sarah Summerville, of Monaghan, Ireland, were married in the county clerk's office yesterday by Deputy Clerk David A. Smith. UTAH GUARDSMEN IN REGULAR CAMP

Will Leave on Saturday Over
Short Line and Union Pacific for Wyoming.

STATE TROOPS NUMBER 425.

Quit Train at Dale Creek Bridge and March Nine Miles to Fort D. A. Russell for Encampment.

Utah state's soldiery, 425 in number, will leave Salt Lake on Saturday next for its encampment with regulars at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo. It will go over the Oregon Short Line and Union Pacific to Dale Creek Bridge, where it will leave the train and march a distance of nine miles to the fort. Apropos of the outing the following from the Deseret News special correspondent at Cheyenne will be of interest to all the Utah boys, their friends and families at this time:

BUSY AT THE FRONT.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 7.—For nearly a month the Fort Russell commissary department has been busy in arranging for the field maneuvers in the Crow Creek forest reserve, 35 miles west of Cheyenne, and during the next 10 days troops have been marching on Camp Instruction, as the main camp is called. Nearly all of these troops have now arrived, and include infantry, cavalry, artillery and also state troops. The following organizations are now represented in the big military camp on the headwaters of the Crow creek, and during the early part of the present week will be divided into brigades for the sham battles and other maneuvers planned:

HOW DIVIDED.
The Twenty-ninth infantry (entire); Eleventh infantry (entire); two companies of the Twenty-eighth infantry, six troops of the Fifth cavalry, 10 troops of the Sixth cavalry and headquarters; six troops of the Fifth cavalry, 10 troops of the Sixth cavalry and headquarters; six troops of the Fifth cavalry, 10 troops of the Sixth cavalry and headquarters; six troops of the Fifth cavalry, 10 troops of the Sixth cavalry and headquarters.

THE UTAH TROOPS.
Next week a regiment of infantry and one battery of artillery, signal corps, hospital corps, one troop cavalry from the Utah National Guard will arrive at the maneuver camp and will replace the state troops from North Dakota. A week later the Utah troops will be replaced by the Third regiment Wyoming National Guard.

WYOMING SOLDIERY.
By direction of the war department the date of the movement of the Wyoming troops to the military camp was advanced to Sept. 3. This will afford more time to get ready, and September will be a much cooler month than August for the Wyoming troops. Adj. Gen. Gatchell, assisted by Asst. Adj. Gen. Schnitzer, Col. C. Z. A. Zander and other officers of the regiment, is fast getting the Wyoming troops into first class condition. The companies at Douglas, Lander, Newcastle, Buffalo and Cheyenne are drilling daily in uniform and when they march into the Crow Creek camp they will present the appearance of regulars.

WILLIAMS IN COMMAND.
Brig. Gen. Constant Williams will be in command of the Crow Creek camp. The brigade commanders will probably be Col. Augur and Meyer, the latter from Fort D. A. Russell. The two brigades will be uniformed in blue and brown respectively, and save for the ammunition they will be and act like two hostile armies. The ammunition will consist entirely of blank cartridges, and not a bullet will be allowed in camp.

BASIS OF SUPPLY.
The railroad basis of supplies are at Laramie, 30 miles from Cheyenne, of the Colorado & Southern, and at Dale Creek, 25 miles west of Cheyenne on the Union Pacific. Contracts have been let to civilians to transport the foodstuffs, camp equipment, hay and grain, etc., to and from the railroad and maneuver camp.

At the big military camp civilians have established butcher shops, barber shops, etc., and every possible comfort will be afforded the officers and men.

IN GREAT DEMAND.
The demand for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy here has been great that I have scarcely been able to keep it in stock. It has cured cases of dysentery here when all other remedies failed—Frank Jones, Pikeville, Ind. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Last night, at Evanston, Miss Laura Clark, daughter of Senator Clark of Wyoming, and Charles Pilsley Blith of this city, were married, the wedding being a most elaborate one. The ceremony was performed at St. Paul's church in the presence of a large number of friends, with Mrs. J. E. Knight of this city, wife of the governor, acting as matron of honor, the Misses Margaret and Frances Clark, maids of honor, Misses Clara Peterson and Gertrude Riner, bridesmaids, and William Blith as best man, while Dr. J. T. Keith, Max Adams, Hobart Chapman and T. H. Blith acted as ushers. After the large reception was held at the home of Senator and Mrs. Clark, the decorations being most elaborate. Quite a number of Salt Lake residents were present, and many from other places, including Washington, D. C., where the bride has many friends. After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Blith will come to Salt Lake to reside.

Mrs. Margaret Finnegan was hostess at a delightful lawn party last night, the grounds being lit with electric globes and Japanese lanterns, while the place card at the supper table were hand-painted designs of lanterns. Flowers and pinnas were also used in the decorations. Mrs. Emmett Moore and Miss Irene Judas assisted during the evening.

The Woman's Republican club enjoyed an outing at Saltair last night.

WHEN TO PLANT EVERGREENS.
August is the month for moving and planting evergreen (conifers). Among the best species for general purposes are the white pine, Norway spruce, hemlock, Colorado blue spruce, white spruce and arbutus.

The white pine is a rapid grower, one of the tallest of the evergreen trees, and will thrive on very poor soil, but not in a heavy soil. These trees are easily grown from seed, and after a few years will grow a foot or two annually. The young trees are subject to attacks from insects, but these are readily destroyed by tobacco water and kerosene emulsion. Full-grown white pines often reach 150 feet in height, and are very ornamental, especially in winter; they also have an added market value.

The Norway spruce is a wonderfully rapid grower, and often reaches the height of 75 to 100 feet. These trees should not be crowded, but should be allotted plenty of room. They are very hardy, and will stand the rough winter winds without injury.

Hemlocks make the best evergreen hedge that can be grown. The branches grow out irregularly from the trunk, which gives the tree a most graceful shape quite unlike most of the conifers. The young trees are easily transplanted. It takes some time to shape them into a hedge, but a little careful pruning will result in a fine hedge by the eighth year. Planted as a windbreak around the garden, they add not only beauty, but by their protection cause the garden to produce at least ten days earlier than it otherwise would.

The Colorado blue spruce is perhaps the most beautiful of the conifers for ornamental purposes. It is unfortunately a short-lived tree, seldom living over 35 years. The color of the foliage is a beautiful steel-blue, which is particularly lovely in early summer. The trees should be planted in groups of three or four to get the best effect.

The white spruce is perhaps the most hardy of the native spruces, and makes the best windbreak. The tree is a quick grower, and reaches an average height of 65 feet. The foliage is dense, the color light green and the shape conical. To make the best windbreak the trees should be planted irregularly. This gives a more artistic effect and keeps out the wind better.

Everybody knows the arbutus, perhaps the most common of our conifers. It grows well in almost any moderately rich soil. An unusually severe winter is apt to kill it, however. It does well as a hedge or an ornamental tree, or as a screen, and fills a place that none of the other conifers do.

Every one should have a few evergreens. They are not expensive. Here are the prices of some of the trees at planting age: White pines, 50c; Norway spruce, 50c; Colorado blue spruce, 50c; arbutus, 50c; hemlock, 50c; arbutus, 50c. They add color and cheer in the winter, besides afford protection against the cold winds.—Country Gentleman.
