

LET IT PASS.

Do not swift to take offense!

Let it pass!

Anger is a foe to sense;

Let it pass!

Brood not darkly o'er a wrong

Which will disappear ere long;

Rather sing this chorus song—

Let it pass!

Let it pass!

Strife corrodes the purest mind;

Let it pass!

As the unguarded wind,

Let it pass!

Any vulgar souls that live

May condemn without reprieve;

'Tis the noble who forgive.

Let it pass!

Let it pass!

Feh not an angry word;

Let it pass!

Think how often you have erred;

Let it pass!

Since our joys must pass away

Like the dewdrops on the spray,

Wherefore should our sorrows stay?

Let it pass!

Let it pass!

If for good you've taken ill,

Let it pass!

Oh, be kind and gentle still;

Let it pass!

Time at last makes all things straight;

Let us not resent, but wait,

And our triumph shall be great;

Let it pass!

Let it pass!

Did your anger to depart,

Let it pass!

Lay these homely words to heart,

"Let it pass!"

Follow not the giddy throng;

Better far be wronged than wrong;

Therefore sing the chorus song—

Let it pass!

Let it pass!

Six weeks ago a strong syndicate was formed for the purpose of beginning the work, and making additional surveys to see if the route selected could be improved on. Four parties of engineers are already in the field, under the general charge of M. Van Bracklin, and a large force of laborers and mechanics are engaged in the construction. The neighborhood of Minatitlan, on Coatzacoalcas River, has been selected as the northern terminus of the railway survey. The northern terminal sections have been filed with the government of Mexico, and approved by its officers. Mexico has appointed one of its most distinguished engineers to be associated with the work, in accordance with the terms of the concessions. He is now at Salina Cruz on the Pacific, and has been ordered to repair to Minatitlan. P. S. Certhell, who was Capt. Eads's chief engineer in the construction of the Mississippi River jetties, is chief engineer. Sir Edward Reed and John Fowler of London, and Capt. Eads will be consulting engineers. Col. James L. Andrews, who built the jetties, and Hon. A. C. Crochran, Capt. Eads's attorney, have been in London the past thirty days to complete arrangements for the advancement of the project. The road will be constructed to carry ships and cargoes of a gross weight of five thousand tons, which will accommodate ninety per cent. of the tonnage of the world. NEW YORK, 14.—Professor Mezzobbi, Nihilist, and head of the leaders of the Irish dynamite party, who arrived from Europe yesterday, details at some length the dynamite warfare to be waged against England. He claims one set of people have a right to the most effective weapons they can procure to defend their lives, liberties and property. He said that if England didn't loose her hold on Ireland, his party would leave her a mass of ruins; that a dozen men can destroy London in a night by chemical fire and dynamite, and that they meant to do it. He declared that they would blow up every English man-of-war and all merchantmen flying the British flag and plying between British ports and on the seas. They could do this without breaking international law, and irrespective of where they themselves were located, at a trifling expense. Every harbor in England could be fired; then they would blow up every bank in England, and take possession of the gold, say ninety-five million a year, that England had forcibly plundered from Ireland. Next, they would begin the destruction of the private property of the aristocracy, capitalists, and monopolists. They would then fill English rivers and harbors with torpedoes. Their harbors in Ireland would be protected with torpedoes, and English soldiers fought with explosives. They would not destroy the telegraph, but in particular places would destroy the railroads, so as to render impossible the transportation of troops. The professor dwelt on the easy method of obtaining and making explosives, even in the heart of London. In closing, he said they had England completely at their mercy, and had given her warning. If she did not take the warning, her doom would be on her own head.

Ludlow of New Jersey; Governors Stone-mah of California; Crittenden of Missouri; McEnery of Louisiana; Adams of Nevada; Wallace of Connecticut; Barry of Arkansas; Blackburn of Kentucky, and Cleveland of New York. Ex-Senator McDonald of Indiana, and numerous others sent letters of regret. Yesterday and to-day the rooms of the Iroquois club were filled with visitors, and the Presidential outlook was canvassed at length. The general drift of opinion seemed to favor Samuel J. Tilden for the Democratic standard bearer in 1884. After Tilden, McDonald of Indiana was the favorite.

CHICAGO, 17.—One of the morning papers to-day, commenting editorially on the Apollo commandery affair, inquires: Why should a European trip have been proposed instead of that across the Rockies in company with brothers from other commanderies? The public knows that the California commandery was not well pleased with the treatment here in '80, and that the Gazette, rightly or wrongly, was blamed therefor, but it is said that there is no humiliation equal to that of accepting hospitality from a party one has wronged. Was this at the bottom of the Gazette's determination to cut California? According to letters of Dr. Collister, who was sent out to view the land, the Californians have forgotten and forgiven the inconvenience they suffered in Chicago, and were prepared to heap coals of earthly comfort on the heads of the Apollo commandery.

LONDON, 16.—Daniel Curley, indicted for participation in the murder of Cavendish and Burke, was placed on trial this morning. The case for the prosecution was opened by Murphy. He said that neither a feeling of indignation at the crime nor panic in regard to themselves should influence the jury. He then detailed the circumstances of the murder. Murphy stated that Farrell, informer, would be called to prove the prisoner's share in the plot for the murder of officials of Ireland, and particularly to tell how the prisoner swore him in as an invincible, and instructed him when the murder of Forster was projected, to stop the Secretary's carriage by seizing the reins. Kavanah and Carey, he said, would be placed on the stand to detail the movements of Curley on the day of the Phoenix Park murders. Peter Carey, broth-
