The order of the Japanese authority, unless the correspondents were joyously received. It ended a long stage on the part of the correspondents at Tokio. They appreciated the necessity for the government maintaining secrecy in regard to the movements of the troops and their disposition for the campaign, but the newspapermen chafed under their extended idleness. A crowd gathered at the Shinbashi station, where the correspondents were on board a train and cheered the departing writers.

According to Korean reports the Japanese buried 60 men, while 170 wounded were removed with the help of 500 Koreans to the headquarters of the Japanese. The capture of the Japanese was so great that they hoisted the Red Cross flag in token of surrender. Throughout their war with China the Japanese never showed themselves so dejected. The people here are in high spirits over the news of the first brilliant fight in Korea."

Burton of Kansas, convicted of having accepted payment from the Rialto Grain & Securities company for representing the company's interests before the post-office department, cannot go before the United States court of appeals at St. Paul on appeal from hearing during its May term as the bill of exceptions was not filed today by Burton's counsel and this was the last day for filing the case to be heard at St. Paul. By stipulation of the attorneys on both sides, the case may now be heard at the September term of the United States circuit court of appeals at Denver. Otherwise the regular course will be for a re-hearing of the case at the December term of the United States court of appeals in St. Louis.

The counsel for the defense expects to complete the bill of exceptions today and submit it to the government's attorneys probably by tomorrow. In that case it is stated, the bill will not be formally filed in the United States district court before Monday or Tuesday.

Belgrade, Servia, April 1.—The regicides question is considered here to have been finally settled, all those immediately concerned in the palace murder now having been removed from the king's entourage. A decree published today removed the last two, both favored of King Peter, namely, the notorious Col. Popovitch, the king's first aide de camp, who has been appointed commandant of the garrison at Belgrade, and Col. Solariovich, who becomes director of the military academy. ## SULLY'S PARTNERS BEING EXAMINED.

Object is to Find Out Who Were The Cotton Kings' Co-Workers.

HAWLEY AND RAY CHIEF ONES.

Ex-Secretary of War Root Retained To Question President of Iowa Central Railway.

New York, April 1.—The examination in which Edwin Hawley, president of the Iowa Central railroad and the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad, and Frank Ray, head of several large tobacco companies, the alleged partners of Daniel J. Sully, in his cotton operations, are to be questioned, began today before United States Commissioner Alexander. To ascertain fully whether or not Hawley and Ray were personally Sully's partners is the object of the examination and Commissioner Alexander was appointed by Judge Holt to act as a special examiner in the case.

Receiver Henry W. Taft and David E. Miller, procured the order from Judge Holt of the United States district court requiring Hawley and Ray not only to appear today before the special examiner but to take to the examination room all their books and papers that would disclose exactly what were their relations to Mr. Sully. Former Secretary of War Elihu Root was retained to question Mr. Hawley and Mr. Ray. At the opening of the examination Commissioner Alexander ruled that the examination would not partake of a "litigator proceeding."

Mr. Hawley was then called and his examination was begun by Mr. Root. Just at this time Mr. Sully entered the room and took a seat near the lawyers' table.

Mr. Hawley testified that his business relations with Sully & Co. began in December last and ended on March 18. Mr. Hawley said he kept no special record of his cotton operations, relying chiefly on the statements of Messrs. Hawley and Sully, Co. following a purchase or sale.

At the request of Mr. Root, Hawley's lawyers produced issued a batch of these statements. They showed that on Dec. 4, 1903, 10,000 bales of cotton were sold for the account of E. Hawley and D. J. Sully jointly and on Dec. 23, 19,000 bales were bought and sold for the same account. There were also similar transactions on a smaller scale for Dec. 24 and 27, and then came a number of statements of various dates in January, all representing heavy transactions in cotton for Hawley's account. Mr. Root read from a statement showing that in one particular transaction Messrs. Hawley and Sully had divided a profit of $19,400.

Mr. Root next read from other statements bearing February dates. Mr. Root next read a statement of cotton transactions bearing the names of Hawley, Sully and Ray.

Mr. Sully, it was brought out used to take his own share of the profits before sending Mr. Hawley his share. A number of "joint three" accounts (Hawley, Sully and Ray) for the latter part of February, nearly all representing heavy sales, were next read off by Mr. Root.

Mr. Hawley said there were other transactions for "joint three" accounts dated Feb. 24 and 27, something over 10,000 bales, which netted a profit of $149,000. Mr. Hawley said that he did not take his profit in these transactions. They were "credited to his account."

It developed during the examination that the first transaction Mr. Hawley had with Mr. Sully was in September, 1903, when he loaned Sully individually $700,000 on securities.

A letter from Hawley to Sully, dated March 18, was read by Mr. Root. It read in part:

"I enclose herewith statement of account showing account of my individual interest is concerned, a balance due you of $82,240, for which I enclose my check—E. Hawley."

Mr. Hawley said that his check for amount named was sent to D. J. Sully & Co.

M. MURAVIEFF ON VENEZUELA CASE.

President of Hague Arbitration Tribunal Reviews Whole Controversy.

TRIBUTE TO WAYNE MAC VEACH

Made a Magnificent Oratorical Effort, But it Contained Irrelevant Political Matter.

St. Petersburg, April 1.—(3:15 p. m.)—M. Muravieff, minister of justice and recently president of The Hague arbitration tribunal which decided the Venezuelan case, in his report to the emperor on the arbitration proceedings which occupies several columns of the Official Messenger, today exhaustively reviews the whole controversy, devoting two columns to the squabble over the question as to what language, English or French, should be used in the proceedings. The minister expresses admiration for the speech of Wayne MacVeach as an oratorical effort, but says it contained a great deal of irrelevant matter of a political character, unfit to be presented to such a tribunal, and declares that the whole issue was not difficult nor complicated in itself but was rendered so by the political element infused therein. Mr. Muravieff concludes with expressing the conviction that The Hague court, due to the Russian emperor's initiative, will render invaluable services in the cause of international peace, and saying he hopes the powers will make frequent use thereof.

PANAMA CANAL DECISION.

Bonaparte Wyse, Original Concessionaire, Criticizes It.

Paris, April 1.—Bonaparte Wyse, the original concessionaire of the Panama canal, in an interview today, criticizing the Panama canal decision, says he has been moved by the loftiest motives, mainly to prevent the new company from absorbing three-quarters of the payment to be made by the United States, and thus depriving the old company of its just share. He also has fought to prevent carrying out what he designates as a "monstrous crime" in the abandonment of the canal as a French enterprise, and declares the decision of the court yesterday was technical and did not reach the merits of the case. M. Wyse adds:

"But all is not finished, still will go on. We will seek the support of the public and press in a campaign of public purification."

The Panama Canal company is proceeding to carry out the transfer with out reference to appeals, as the company is advised that the decision of the court reaffirms its prima facie rights.

Tracks Under Water.

Alliance, O., April 1.—The Cleveland & Pittsburgh tracks of the Pennsylvania company are under water for 10 miles south. The New York Limited, east-bound, is stalled at Wooster, while another passenger train started around to Pittsburg via Cleveland has been lost track of. The Mahoning river at this point is the highest ever known and still rising. Washouts clear to Canton have put the tracks in such shape railroad men say it will be days before trains can run.

Flood Continues Serious.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—The flood conditions throughout southern Indiana and southwestern Illinois are still serious. The heavy rains last night added to the danger. At Portland, where a week ago three lives were lost and heavy damage done, only three or four business houses are above water. At Peru also the situation is serious, while at Alexandria, where the worst flood in the history of that town is being experienced, the inhabitants were rescued from their homes by the firemen. All trains are annihilated.

Waters Stop Trains.

Butte, Mont., April 1.—A Billings, Mont., dispatch says: Two west-bound passenger trains on the Northern Pacific are held at Glendive. Ferry flats, west of Glendive, are under three feet of water. Advances from Miles City state that the waters there are receding, although a considerable portion of the town is still under water.

Guy Wetmore Carryl Dead.

New York, April 1.—Guy Wetmore Carryl, the author, died here today. He was born in this city March 4, 1874.

EXPRESS BANDITS WERE NOVICES.

Not Only Blew Open the Safes, but They Also Blew the Contents Into Atoms.

WANTONLY KILLED MESSENGER

His Helper Came Near Causing Death Of the Whole Crew by Showing Fight.

Redding, Cal., April 1.—It is evident that the three armed men who held up the Oregon express and attempted to rob it at Copley at 10:20 o'clock last night were novices. They took human life without provocation and the methods they employed to open the safes were so crude that they gained but little plunder by their work.

The particulars of the robbery were obtained when the train, minus the express car, reached Redding this morning. When the train pulled into Copley, which is merely a watering station, the three masked highwaymen came out of the brush on the east side of the track.

This is shown by the experience of a tramp, who was attempting to steal a ride. He was jabbed in the ribs with a rifle muzzle and made to enter the smoker. In the meanwhile one of the robbers knocked on the door of the express car. W. J. O'Neill, Wells, Fargo & Company's messenger, it is thought asked him what was wanted. The reply was evidently satisfactory because O'Neill slid the door back about 18 inches when a rifle bullet was sent through his body. It passed near his heart and the messenger fell back dead. O'Neill was not armed. He evidently believed from what he was told that the knock came from a member of the train crew.

CREWS ROUNDED UP.

The highwaymen then went to get the crews of the two locomotives, who were still in ignorance of any trouble, so that they could loot the express without fear of the train being pulled out with them. They brought back Engineers B. H. Josink and E. A. Bissell and Fireman J. F. Stury and Fireman A. Raymond. One robber stayed on the west side of the train looking out for possible danger while the two others marched the engine crews back on the east side to the express car. The robbers were all the time using vile language and discharging occasional shots from their rifles. This happened at the crossing of the front end of the train of what was going on, but they remained in the cars throughout and were not molested.

A FOOLISH HELPER.

When the express car was reached by the robbers, Colford, helper to Messenger O'Neill, awaited their return with a shotgun in his hands. At first glimpse of the masked men he raised the weapon and pulled the trigger. The cartridge snapped, but the plucky young fellow started to put another shell into his gun when the robbers covered him with their rifles and commanded him to lay down his gun or be killed. Engineer E. A. Bissell joined in asking Colford not to make a fight, arguing that if he did they might all be killed.

The robbers then made the two firemen and the brakeman climb into the smoker. Because Brakenman L. Stone was not quick enough one of the robbers hit him over the head with a rifle, inflicting a severe scalp wound.

DYNAMITE USED.

When the bandits found that Colford could not open the safe, they decided to use dynamite, first removing the body of O'Neill, which lay near the safe. There were two safes in the car, one the large through safe and the other a small one known as the local. Under orders the engineers placed six sticks of giant powder provided by the masked men on top of the large safe and on this they set the small money box. The leader of the robbers then lighted the fuse, and the entire party made its way forward to the locomotives by the time the explosion had occurred.

SAFE BLOWN TO ATOMS.

When they returned to the wrecked car, it was found that the small safe had been blown to atoms and the top of the through safe had been blown off. The floor and trucks of the car were left and tiny pieces of greenbacks were broken and twisted coins covered the floor, showing the force of the explosion.

The leader is said to have looked at his partners in crime: "Well, pals, I guess we got nothing."

NOT MUCH PLUNDER.

It is certain that the unskilled robbers did not get a great amount of plunder, although their blundering methods may have blown thousands of dollars into atoms. The robbers again marched the two engineers and the express helper forward, where they commanded Engineer H. H. Josink to climb on the engine. To do this he had him unstrap it and climbed in after him and ordered him to pull away from the scene. At a bridge spanning the Sacramento river about 200 yards south of Kibick station, which is five miles south of the point where the train was stopped, they had Josink stop his engine, and they alighted and disappeared in the darkness. Under telegraph orders, Josink ran his engine to this city and took Sheriff Richardson and a posse back to the point where he last saw the robbers.

The tramp who first encountered the robbers at Copley, and who was made to climb on the train, is held in jail as a witness. The body of Messenger O'Neill was brought to Redding, and the inquest will be held here.

KNOW NOTHING, OF COURSE.

San Francisco, April 1.—At the office of Wells, Fargo & Company in this city it was stated this morning that no definite information regarding the robbery had been received. S. D. Barstow, superintendent of the western division, said that he did not know the value of the contents of the safe in the express car, but he was sure that there was not much money, as very little coin was being brought from the north at this time. There were no valuables from the east in the car. He said that messenger O'Neill was one of their most efficient men and had proven his bravery by his death. The train that was robbed, with the exception of the express car, will arrive here this afternoon.

MRS. BOTKIN TESTIFIES.

Tells at Length of His Relations With John P. Dunning.

San Francisco, April 1.—Mrs. Cordelia Botkin was called this morning as the first witness for the defense in her trial for the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning by means of poisoned candy. She told at length of her relations with John P. Dunning, whom she said she first met in Golden Gate park, and had assisted financially. She said she also received $800 from Mrs. Corbaley. She said she was in Humboldt county on June 27, 1897, the date of the postmark on an anonymous letter mailed to Mrs. Dunning from San Francisco. She said that she wrote the letter, and also denied the statements concerning her movements made in the testimony of Miss Lizzie Livernash. She said she had never inquired regarding the effects of poisons, and had never contemplated suicide. She emphatically denied purchasing the handkerchief found in the box of poisoned candy. She asserted that she had never in her life been in the store of Hays & Son, where the candy is alleged to have been bought.

All Collieries Idle.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 1.—All the collieries in this district are idle today, the miners remaining away from work to celebrate the anniversary of the eight-hour day victory in the soft coal region.

Antarctic Expedition Arrives.

Lyttelton, New Zealand, April 1.—The British Antarctic steamer Discovery and the relief steamers Morning and Glenelg arrived here today. The relief ships, which left Hobart Dec. 5, reached the Discovery Feb. 14 and found all the members of the expedition in excellent health and spirits. Scientific work was continued by the explorers throughout the winter of 1903. They established the fact that the interior of Victoria land continues at a height of 9,000 feet, and is evidently a vast continental plateau. A new route to the west was found and a depot was established 2,000 feet up the glacier.

A Big Insurance Policy.

(Special to the "News.") New York, April 1.—The largest insurance policy ever issued by an individual, namely one for $1,500,000, has just been issued by the Mutual Life of this city to James C. Colgate, banker and financier, and member of the Stock Exchange firm of James H. Colgate & Company. Following its conservative methods, the Mutual Life has reinsured all but $25,000 in other companies. Thus another name is added to the list of policy holders including George W. Vanderbilt, who carries a million dollars or more in the Mutual Life.

Coal Famine in Prospect.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 1.—Des Moines and the entire state of Iowa are confronted with a coal famine as a result of the lockout which closed every mine in the state, and that section of Missouri included in the territory embraced by the affected district. But little coal is for sale in the state. Local dealers today placed double rough orders in Kansas City, Omaha and St. Joseph and other neighboring cities, but it is only possible to secure coal in limited quantities from those points. Unless the situation is eased within the next three weeks manufacturers will be compelled to shut down. Leading operators say they will be prepared to supply the demand for coal while yet, and that they have no thought of compromising. The miners say the situation must remain as it is for at least 60 days at the end of which time negotiations for an adjustment will either be made or the strike will be continued with the help of the national United Mine Workers of America.

In the Senate.

Washington, April 1.—In the senate today Mr. Patterson introduced a bill for the amendment of the Chinese exclusion act of 1902, giving notice that on Wednesday next he would address the senate on the bill. In giving this notice, he said, he had received what he considered definite information that the Chinese government had denounced the treaty between that government and the United States and the treaty would expire Dec. 7 next. Unless the law should be extended Chinese could come into the United States after that date without obstruction. Mr. Patterson, expressed dissent from this view.

A bill was passed authorizing the free transmission through the mails of books for the blind.

Also the following: Authorizing the collection of labor statistics in Hawaii.

Authorizing the detail of retired officers of the army and navy to schools as inspectors.

Mr. Mallory then addressed the senate on the Carmack resolution, instructing the committee on the judiciary to make inquiry into the legal right of the secretary of the interior to issue old age disability pension order recently promulgated, he said, the only point at issue was whether the legislative branch of the government had not transcended its authority and usurped legislative functions in establishing the rule by new order. He contended that such usurpation had occurred and agreed that this order was not in line with the order given by Judge Lochren during Cleveland's administration.

CHANGES ARE NOW IN EFFECT.

Five New Deputies Were Installed In the Street Department Today.

ONLY ONE WAS RETAINED.

Thomas Fowler Goes Into the Health Department as an Additional Quarantine Inspector.

SEVERAL NEW MEN SPRING UP.

Desire to Go to the National Convention Appears to be a Much Coveted Prize Among Republicans.

With a few exceptions the changes agreed upon in the employes in the various departments of the city took place today. All of the changes in the water works department as published in last evening's "News" became effective today. In the street department five new deputies went to work today, only one of the old deputies being retained, namely, William George, deputy for the First precinct. The new deputies are: Second precinct, John T. Williams, vice Dan Parker, removed; Third—Henry Arnold, vice Josiah Lee, removed; Fourth—James Maxwell, vice John Axton, removed; Fifth—David Cameron, vice Orson Hogan, removed; Annex—William Colton, vice William Everett, removed. Arnold, Maxwell and Cameron are Democrats and the other three are Republicans. Street Supervisor Seddon says that there will be no changes in his office force at present. The only change in the health department today was the employment of Thomas Fowler as an additional quarantine inspector, the ordinance providing for two, but only one has been employed for some time past. Other changes will probably be made in the department on Monday. The new clerk in the land and water commissioner's office, Miss Bessie Davis, also assumed her duties today. A. L. Simoni, a holdover, who has been in the city recorder's office since the change of administration, went to work today as a special water assessor in the water works department. H. F. Fernstrom, who was appointed as clerk in the city recorder's office on Monday has been at work in the office for several days past.

POLITICAL STRAWS.

The Tribune discovered this morning that "a mugwump never votes for anybody." Meaning Sam McDowell or Parley Williams? The Kearns people are working themselves into a frenzy over the fact that a meeting of the postmasters of Utah is to be held here on April 7, just one day ahead of the Republican state convention. It is feared, almost to the point of black spasms, that the postmasters will talk politics, and Senator Kearns' generals seem exceedingly unwilling to risk the result of such an event. The truth is that the meeting is to discuss the postal service in the state. The dates form a simple coincidence. What better time for such a gathering?

A new factor has sprung up in the good-natured contest that is coming off in the election of delegates to the Republican national convention. Cin-tah county and several other counties in the eastern part of the state will send delegations instructed to vote for W. F. Calthrop as a delegate, first, last and all the time. Mr. Calthrop lives at Vernal, and that section of the state is going to insist upon recognition. Utah county's delegation to the Republican state convention consists of S. R. Bennion, E. W. Davis, J. A. Block, Mrs. J. A. Block, James C. Hick, W. A. Colton and H. Colton. They are instructed to vote for Mr. Calthrop as one of the national delegates.

The name of C. O. Whittemore was mentioned prominently today in connection with the delegation to the Republican national convention. Mr. Whittemore is not a candidate in an active sense, but it is understood that, inasmuch as the position has become a matter of complaint, he would consider his election a high party honor.

A. S. Fowler, popularly known as "Andy," has declared his candidacy for the Democratic side for a city judgeship and is working among his party friends for the nomination.

Judge Jacob Johnson is in from Spring City. The judge is a candidate for re-election in his district and while he seems to feel perfectly confident, he is not talking politics to any large extent.

CALIENTES HOLDUP.

District Atty Sanders Here on Business Connected With Recent Robbery.

District Attorney Benjamin Sanders of Ploche, Nev., is in the city on business connected with the holdup of a number of the Utah Construction company's employes at Calientes on the night of Feb. 21. One of the men who committed the robbery was injured and after his capture was brought here for treatment at the hospital. C. H. Moore is the man's name, and he is now waiting for regulations papers to take him back to Nevada to stand trial. Moore cashed a check at De Lamar which was stolen from one of the employes at Calientes and the merchant who cashed the check has identified him positively as the man.

IDAHO RURAL CARRIERS.

(Special to the "News.") Washington, D. C., April 1.—John L. McCham has been appointed regular and Arizona Mitchell substitute rural carrier at Kendrick, Idaho.
