

CHURCH WILL EVER COMBAT WRONG

Elder Anthony W. Ivins Takes to Task Apologists for Immorality and Intemperance.

SERVICES AT TABERNACLE

President C. A. Callis Says Men Should Vote Righteously.

Elder C. A. Callis, president of the southern States mission, and Elder Anthony W. Ivins of the quorum of Apostles, were the speakers at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon.

Elder Callis referred incidentally to the prohibition movement, and said that men should act and vote righteously. Elder Ivins declared that apologists for immorality and intemperance were engaged in an unwholesome work.

The services, which were presided over by President John R. Winder, were opened by the choir singing the hymn, "Sweetly may the blessed spirit." The opening prayer was offered by Elder Joseph S. Wells. The second hymn was "How great the wisdom and the love." After the remarks of Elder Callis, the choir rendered with telling effect, "With sheathed sword." The closing hymn was "The Spirit of God like a fire is burning," by choir and congregation. The benediction was pronounced by President Anthony H. Lund.

ELDER C. A. CALLIS.

There is in the worship of the Almighty something that mellows the spirit and gladdens the heart, said Elder Callis, the first speaker. Wherever the children of God meet, the same sweet influence is felt. The man who lives for himself and is wrapped up in himself, can have no joy. Happiness and peace are found only by those who are found working for the welfare of others, who are interested in the uplifting of humanity.

A knowledge of the gospel is spreading among the nations. The doctrine taught by the Savior that he who would have eternal life must be self-sacrificing, is realized to a considerable extent. Men and women are seeking peace in the things of this world. In the great day of judgment the millionaire and the beggar shall stand on an equal footing.

The principles of Mormonism are being gradually absorbed by the world, and as this people becomes better understood, prejudice is allayed, and diminishes. Doctrine preached first in the last dispensation by the Prophet Joseph Smith now form the theme for many a sermon in the Christian pulpits of the day.

Joseph Smith proclaimed the doctrine anew that man is created in the image of God. Talk about Mormonism being deceived! Nothing is further from the truth. Great men of the world today are teaching the very principles for which he lived and died. The name of Joseph Smith will live when persons who sought for glory shall be forgotten.

If a man would have his life pure, his heart must be pure. The issues of life proceed from the heart. If men and women are filled with the spirit of God, their natures will be tempered and even their physical forms will change and take on the resemblance of holy beings, more and more. Every good gift given to man is intended by the Creator to be used for the betterment of mankind, and men and women should act and work and vote for that which is intended to elevate the human family, and should have the courage to do that which is right, without fear or favor.

There is no freedom in dissipation nor in any kind of evil doing. There is a vast difference between freedom and license. The gospel is a perfect law of liberty, and under its banner no man is induced to find slavery.

In conclusion Elder Callis bore a fervent testimony of the truth of the Gospel of Christ as taught by the Latter-day Saints.

ELDER A. W. IVINS.

Elder Ivins read the concluding article of faith of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Honesty, honor, virtue and temperance, he said, were the traits of the remarks of the previous speaker. Men and women with these ideals are what Elder Callis would have. Many such teachers are in the world. Man has been created in the image of God, endowed with the attributes of his Creator. Of him was required obedience and works of righteousness. The divine requirement has not always been followed by the race. Today the same principles of righteousness are being proclaimed, and yet comparatively few people recognize the necessity of repentance. The doctrine is not new; they are as old as time. Man from time immemorial has stopped his ears to the warning voice and closed his eyes to the dangers of disobeying the commandments of God. As a result, because idolatrous to the very midst of the revelations to them of the true and living God. The truths of heaven, despite the plain manner in which they were proclaimed, have been neglected and forgotten by nation after nation.

The doctrine taught of old, were proclaimed anew by the Savior of mankind, and again the voice of repentance came forth among the nations. The Great Teacher of Galilee made it plain that without repentance no man could find salvation. Mercy cannot rob justice.

After 2600 years another gospel dispensation is given to men on earth. Once more the warning voice goes out, repent, repent. Repentance is needed in the world today. The nations have been brought very close together, and that immorality and intemperance exist, is well known among the people. The gospel of repentance and of baptism for the remission of sins is again being proclaimed. The angel sent by John bringing again the gospel has delivered his message, and the gospel of the kingdom is being preached among the nations. The gospel is the same in all ages, its requirements being unchangeable. Christ was the exemplar for all. The Father's children, and he brought the resurrection and the life.

The gospel does not compromise with anything of an evil nature. Whatever is dishonest, immoral and unjust is repudiated by the Church, and all that is of good report and praiseworthy is sought after and adhered to. The individual is entirely in the wrong who says that houses of immorality are necessary, or that evil should be given license, and Elder Ivins, imperially, intemperance and dishonesty have no right to exist. They are wrong, otherwise God would have made provision for them. All such evils should be stamped out of the community. There is legitimate work for everybody, but the trouble is some men are not so willing to earn bread by the sweat of their own brow as they are to win it at the expense of some other man. If every man would be a laborer, and every woman a mother, there would be plenty of employment for all.

DEATH OF BENJ. J. HADDOCK.

After Lingering Illness He Is Summoned from His Family.

After lingering and painful illness from Bright's disease, Benjamin Joseph Haddock died at the family residence, 427 west Fifth North street, late Saturday afternoon. The deceased, who was familiarly called "Benjie," was a well known young business man and had a wide circle of friends. Possessed of a sunny and cheerful disposition, he shed brilliance among all with whom he came in contact, having a smile and a kind word for all.

Mr. Haddock leaves a wife and six children. Mrs. Haddock before her marriage was Miss Hannah Littlefield, and they were married May 6, 1896. The oldest child is a girl, aged 12 years. His parents are John W. and Margaret Haddock, who survive, as do also two brothers and one sister, namely, Lon J. and Ray M. Haddock and Mrs. Lella Jettie. The deceased was for many years in the employ of the Utah Light & Railway company, but later engaged in business in this city. He was born at Middleboro, Eng., April 20, 1875. The funeral will be held at the Twenty-second ward meetinghouse tomorrow, commencing at 2 o'clock.

BENJAMIN J. HADDOCK.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.
On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. John Cartwright celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in a most enjoyable reunion of relatives and friends, about 40 being present. The rooms were bright with a profusion of carnations and roses, and a program of addresses, recitations and vocal and instrumental music was enjoyed, among the speakers being John Henry Smith, Bishop O. P. Hunter and Bishop Solomon. Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright came to Utah in the year which witnessed their marriage, 1859, and have since resided in Salt Lake. From 1860 they have been residents of the Eighth ward, and in token of their esteem for the honored couple a number of old friends of the ward tendered them a handsome bowl and ladle. Another substantial gift received by them was $10 in gold presented by their children. Delicious refreshments were served and a delightful time spent by all.

DIDN'T KNOW
Coffee Was the Cause.
Many daily habits, particularly of eating and drinking, are formed by following our elders.

In this way ill health is often fastened upon children. A Os. lady says: "I had been allowed to drink coffee ever since I can remember, but even as a child I had a weak stomach which frequently refused to retain food." "The taste of coffee was in my mouth all the time and was, as I found out, the cause of the stomach rebellion against food." "I now see that it was only from following the example of my elders that I formed and continued the pernicious habit of drinking coffee. My digestion remained poor, nerves unstrung, frequent headaches, and yet I did not suspect the true cause." "Another trouble was a bad, nuddy complexion for which I spent time and money for creams, massaging, etc., without any results." "After I was married I was asked to try Postum, and, lo! you believe it, I, an old coffee taster, took to Postum from the very first. We made it right according to directions on the package and it had a most delicate flavor and I at once quit coffee, with the happiest results." "I now have a perfectly clear, smooth skin, no digestion and haven't had a headache in over two years."

"Name given by Postum Co. Battle Creek, Mich. Head, 'The Road to Wellville' is in place."

Never read the above letter? A new habit of drinking Postum in time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

TUBERCULOSIS GERMS LURK IN THE STREET

Women's Skirts Are Most Effective in Stirring Them Up and Spreading Infection.

Tuberculosis, considered from the standpoints of cause, effect, prevention and cure, formed the subject of an interesting paper read before the Utah county medical association and women's clubs at Provo. Extracts from the paper follow:

"Tuberculosis destroys more lives than any other disease, causing one-seventh of all deaths."

"It is communicable and positively preventable. Also, when recognized and treated in an early stage, curable."

"It is not hereditary, only susceptibility being inherited."

"It is caused by a germ given off by a pre-existing case of the disease, and can be caused in no other way."

"It attacks only persons who are susceptible, and a susceptible condition may be the result of heredity, breathing impure air, lack of sunshine, over-crowding, improper and insufficient food, the use of alcohol, overwork and all other influences that cause impaired nutrition and lowered vitality."

"The tubercle bacilli gain entrance to the body chiefly through air which has been contaminated with dust from dried sputum; also in contaminated milk and meat."

"They may attack any organ of the body. They usually attack the lungs, and the disease is then known as consumption."

FILES CARRY INFECTION.
"The consumptive patient gives off in his sputum vast numbers of bacilli, and if precautions are not taken to destroy them they are liable to be carried to other persons, who, if susceptible, will contract the disease."

"The consumptive patient should destroy all sputum, and instructions for his guidance are furnished in a circular by the state board of health."

"Files frequently convey the infection, having been contaminated by coming in contact with moist sputum."

"Women's long skirts, dragging upon sidewalks and floors, may carry the infection into the house of health."

"Drinking cups, sputum infected dust in churches, theaters and other buildings are among the frequent channels of infection."

Contrary to a general belief, tuberculosis does originate in Utah, and while as yet it is not as extensively disseminated as in the more densely populated states, it is increasing, and will continue to do so unless vigorous preventive measures are strictly enforced.

SUMMARY OF PREVENTIONS.
"Education of the public and the consumptive patient through the public press, the dissemination of literature, instruction in the schools, formation of societies, etc."

"Strict compliance with the law requiring physicians to immediately report the disease to the board of health."

"Careful surveillance of the case by the board of health during its entire course, and the enforcement of preventive precautions. The enforcement of spitting laws."

"The early diagnosis of the disease, which is alike of the utmost importance to the patient and the public."

"The establishment by the state of a public sanatorium for the isolation and treatment of the early cases of the disease, and a hospital for the incurables."

"The tuberculin testing of cows and careful inspection of meat and milk."

KEELER'S IMPRESSION.
John Y. Smith's Attitude on Prohibition is Further Set Forth.

From Joseph H. Keeler of Utah county, comes to the "News" a statement that Senator John Y. Smith did not give Utah county delegation which waited upon him concerning the matter of prohibition, as serious an impression will be had. I was one of the delegation that waited on the members of the legislature from Utah county and I am in a position to know exactly what Senator Smith said. The report of the meeting as published in the Herald was somewhat colored, doubtless for a purpose. The senator gave the delegation to understand that the public he set forth in opposition to the prohibition law were not having any impression on his mind, but that he felt the delegation ought to understand the full situation. His conclusions were that he would act according to his best judgment when the question came up before the legislature. I certainly did not get the impression that he was unwaveringly in opposition to prohibition.

GO OVER PROPOSED ROUTE.
A trip over the proposed automobile boulevard in Salt Lake was undertaken yesterday afternoon by a number of automobile men and officials of the Salt Lake beach. With them went a committee of the automobile club, whose duty it will be to decide whether the boulevard is practicable and how it might be financed. On this committee were M. T. Joseph, O. H. Hewlett, Dr. W. F. Beemer, J. E. Langford and Ben Davis, accompanied by C. W. Reese, Adolph C. Allen, L. C. Keller, Joseph Nelson, J. A. Hammond, J. F. Raleigh, Dr. C. M. Benedict, Assistant Attorney General George C. Hockley and C. W. Dan-
After arriving at the end of the run, it was decided on unanimous vote of all present to go ahead with the project. A company will be formed to build a grandstand and to own the boulevard which will run directly from the Redwood road to Sulfide from the proceeds of racing meets. It is expected that funds will be raised so that the boulevard will eventually pay for itself.

SERVICES IN CITY JAIL.
Religious services are to be held hereafter on Sunday afternoons at the city jail, by the Woman's Christian Temperance union. Several of the workers visited the prison yesterday afternoon, but owing to the fact that the latter had not been notified that the workers had made arrangements with Chief Barlow for the services, only a short meeting was held and that in the woman's ward. The program consisted of singing and short talks, but by next Sunday it is expected that all the prisoners will attend the services.

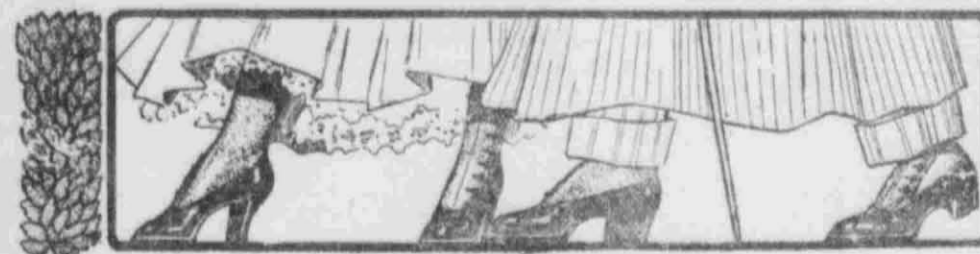

Chief Barlow says that he believes religious services will have a good influence upon the prisoners, especially upon those who are not hardened.

"One thing is certain," said the chief, "it cannot do any harm and I think the plan to have Sunday services is a good one."
