CONVENTION

Proposition Presented to Erect a Club House in Ogden For The Y. M. M. I. A.

MURDER IN COLORED SALOON.

Clyde C. Rogers Shoots Lewis Jones, In Quarrel With Another Man—After "Boy Phenomenal."

Ogden, Sept. 15.—One of the most interesting and the largest attended conventions of the Young Men and Young Ladies Mutual Improvement Association of the Weber stake ever held, convened yesterday, the young men meeting at the Ogden tabernacle and the ladies at the Weber stake academy lecture hall. Sessions were held in the morning and afternoon and a public session at the tabernacle in the evening.

Of the general boards from Salt Lake City there were present Thomas Hull, James H. Anderson, Nellie C. Taylor and Emma Goddard. The most important matter to come before the convention was brought up by Thomas Hull, who suggested that the Weber stake should have a club house in Ogden on the same order as the Young Men's Christian association have, containing a gymnasium, a lecture hall, reading rooms, etc., believing that such a place would take many young men off the streets, and would provide place where young men from other cities belonging to the associations who visit Ogden would have a place to go and spend a few hours pleasantly. The proposition met with nearly unanimous approval from the members of the local board, but as this was the first time the matter had been brought up, no definite steps were taken. It is the general opinion that this is a move in the right direction, and that in the very near future the Y. M. M. I. A. will have a club house in Ogden. The matter will be taken up by the board at an early date with the stake presidency and decided upon.

J. M. Barlow, discussed the subject, "Preliminary Programs," F. O. Hales, discussed "Monthly Officers' Meetings," Joseph H. Bolivar gave a talk on "The Improvement Fund," Earl Pardee gave the subject, "The Books to Be Read as Part of the Literary Program," and William Sowerth delivered a talk on "The Improvement Era." These subjects were generally discussed after each speaker by those present including Thomas Hull and J. H. Anderson, the general board.

A change in the meeting night of the associations in the wards throughout the stake was decided upon. In the future they will meet on Sunday evenings and in the city wards on Tuesday evenings. The meetings began Tuesday Oct. 5.

Special Correspondence. Brigham City, Boxelder Co., Sept. 15.—The peach day ball game Sept. 15, will be between the Wellsville champions and the Davis county team. The first prize is a beautiful gold trophy for the best five cases of Elberta peaches, the second prize is $10 for the largest and best display of peaches of not less than 40 cases, and about a dozen other prizes will be given, and the display of fruit promises to be away ahead of any former peach day in the "City of Homes."

REUNION MISHAP. Hyrum Valentine and Alfred Bywater were hurt in a runaway Sunday morning last, when they were taking a load of peaches to the depot, a box of peaches fell from the wagon on the horses, which started them running. The men were badly bruised, but no bones were broken. The team pulled with a telephone pole and tipped the wagon, scattering the peaches.

SUDDEN DEATH. From Thatcher ward comes the information this morning that Mr. C. J. Rohrer died suddenly at that place yesterday afternoon.

PEACH SHIPMENTS. More than 50 cases of peaches have already been shipped out of Brigham City this season, some going as far east as Boston. One firm upon receipt of its first car of peaches was so well pleased with same that in paying for that car it also forwarded a draft for the advance payment of another car of the same kind of peaches. The growers who have peaches this year are happy. Last year they received

MURDER IN A SALOON.

Colored Man Shoots "His Best Friend" In Quarrel With Another Man.

Ogden, Sept. 15.—The Assembly club, a saloon run by colored men and patronized principally by colored people, was the scene Saturday evening about 10 o'clock of a murder. Lewis Jones, one of the men who had charge of the game of dice played in the saloon, is now on a slab at Ludquist's morgue, and his murderer, Clyde C. Rogers, is confined in a cell at the city jail.

According to the information obtainable from eye witnesses it seems that Rogers and another colored man named James had been shaking dice. Rogers had been drinking considerable during the evening and was in a bad mood. He and Cowden had words over the game, accusing each other of cheating, and in the controversy Rogers pulled a pistol from his pocket and struck Cowden over the head a glancing blow. It is presumed he had his finger on the trigger, as at almost the same moment the pistol exploded. Jones, who was on the opposite side of the table, saw the blow, exclaiming, "Clyde, you have shot me!" and in a few moments he lay on his back, the bullet having passed directly through his heart. Rogers on looking around realized the tragedy he had enacted and frantically cried out, "I have killed my best friend!" and fell upon the body of Jones and sobbed bitterly.

In a few moments members of the police force were on the scene and placed Rogers under arrest. The weapon with which the crime was committed was a 28-caliber long barreled pistol, which was dropped to the floor by Rogers when he saw the crime he had committed. The murdered man, and the one who fired the shot were bosom friends. Rogers will likely be charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Funeral services were held in the Elwood hall Wednesday at 1 p. m. The hall was beautifully decorated, and the ward members turned out en masse to pay their last respects to one of their most beloved ward teachers, who had been called away in the prime of life. Many relatives and friends from Brigham City and surrounding settlements were also in attendance. The speakers were Bishop P. M. Hansen, Elders Joseph Gibbs, Joseph Yates, Chris. Simonsen, Lorenzo W. The cars were all loaded with rails and coal, six of the cars were almost entirely demolished as they went down a steep embankment.
