MALIGIOUS ASSAULT ON SUGAR COMPANY

Tribune's Vile Onslaught Met by Governor John C. Cutler.

BANKER McCORNICK'S VIEWS.

Japanese Labor Has Proved the Salvation of the Beet Crop In Idaho.

(Special to the "News.") Idaho Falls, Idaho, Feb. 3.-The article in the Salt Lake Tribune ostensibly dated from this place and the Tribune's headlines and comments thereon, created indignation and disgust here where the facts in relation to Japanese labor are so thoroughly understood. Every city and town in Bingham and Fremont counties, which remembers the scarcity of labor last year and the impossibility of the farmers obtaining white help in the handling of the beet crops, can testify that the Tribune's article is maliciausly false from beguning to end. All the people of these counties, Gentiles and Mormons, know the endeavors that have been made to secure white help for the beet fields, and of the appeals made through public meetings for the people to furnish the help to save the farmers' crops. The Tribune article, therefore, becomes absurd and its malice is so evident that it can only defeat itself. the searcity of labor last year and the

it can only defeat itself.

The article in the Tribune referred to in the above dispatch was printed on Saturday, and the usual attempt was made to prejudice the public against the beet sugar industry, for the sele reason that Mormon capital is concerned in it. The Tribune article states that the Utah-Idaho Sugar company has no use for whites, and that it prefers Japanese labor to Americans in the beet fields of Idaho. Governor John C. Cutler, one of the directors of the company, promptly answered the Tribune article and his letter is printed below. It punctures the Tribune position so thoroughly, that it is something of a marvel that that sheet should print it at all. Its appearance can only be accounted for on the supposition that the chief dispenser of blackguardism was temporarily absent. The governor's letter is as follows:

"Editor Salt Lake Tribune: In this mosning's issue of your paper I notice an article under these sensational headlines: 'Sugar company has no use for whites. Prefers Japanese laborers to Americans in beet fields of Idaho.' You give a certain reason why the Utah-Idaho Sugar company is supposed to prefer Japanese to American laborers, and you quote my name as one of the directors of said company, which you lcano Sugar company is supposed to prefer Japanese to American laborers, and you quote my name as one of the directors of said company, which you say makes this preference.

"I desire to state emphatically that the said statement of preference is absolutely untrue. The Utah-Idaho Sugar company is and has been at all times in favor of giving not only American citizens, but citizens of Utah and Idaho the preference; and in proof of this I will say that at the Lehi factory, which is one of the largest of the company's factories, none of the allen class referred to are employed, because there are enough American citizens to do the work. Idaho is a new and sparsely settled state, where the sugar factories are established, but preference is given to citizens of that state when white men can be employed by the company. But if the factories had now to depend entirely on residents and citizens to furnish the labor for the sugar factories in Idaho, they could not run. Time will remedy this condition, as it has done in Utah.

"And I may add that when the thought of meaning the sugar factories in which is a may be a sugar factories in Idaho, they could not run. Time will remedy this condition, as it has done in Utah.

"And I may add that when the thought of meaning the sugar factories in the sugar factories in the sugar factories in the sugar factories in Idaho, they could not run. Time will remedy this condition, as it has done in Utah.

"And I may add that when the thousands of people now living in want in thickly settled parts of the east find out that so much better living can be made in these western states than in their congested districts, I believe they will come west, settle on our vacant lands, accept the labor that these factories and other institutions will be glad to give them, and make themselves and their families ind pendent. But until white labor is available, these companies are under the necessity of engaging such labor as can be had.

"JOHN C. CUTLER."

MR. M'CORNICK'S STATEMENT.

MR. M'CORNICK'S STATEMENT.

T.R. W. S. McCornick, another of the directors of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, said:

"It is deplorable that an industry like beet sugar which loes so great an amount of good, should be attacked in such an unjustifiable manner. The facts, which anyone could have ascertained, are that the presence of Japanese labor in Idaho has been the salvation of the farmers engaged in beet culture. The farmers simply could not handle their crops, though they and the sugar company moved heaven and earth to obtain the necessary white help, and if the Japanese labor had not been obtained it is hard to say what would have happened to the indu try in that part of the country. Idaho is sparsely settled and the tracts of land are very large, not like they are in Utah, where the farmer grows small patches of heets and takes care of them with the aid of his family. White labor cannot be secured in Idaho to pull beets and load them, and the sugar company, in aiding the farmers to secure Japanese labor, ought to be applieded rather than blamed. The Colo. company, in adding the farmers to secure Japanese labor, ought to be applauded rather than blamed. The Colorado where the sugar industry is much larger than here, they have the ame problem to meet, but as Japa are not obtainable there, the labor is let to Russian immigrants who are brought

"The Witch of Endor, at the command of the king went into a trance just as modern trance mediums do. She explained that she was able to see things vaguely, which is an explanation made by every clairvoyant when about to describe what she sees. She described Samuel as an old man coming forth with a robe about his shoulders, and the message she gave Saul as coming from him was the same denunciatory reproof as Saul was accustomed to receive during Samuel's lifetime. over exactly upon what principle the

"In other words, Saul received from the lips of the woman the same thoughts that were already in his mind. There was nothing new in the description of Samuel's appearance, nothing new in the spirit message he sent the king. It is possible that the woman, having put to sleep her conscious mind, was able, through her sub-conscious mind, a possession which psychologists accredit every person, the thoughts of Saul, which she merely repeated to him.

"It is not uncommon for mediums to tell us something we already know, and we think it wonderful. There may be more in telepathy than we understand, and to a large extent I think clairvoyant powers may be explained by that. I believe that 99 per cent of so-called mediums are fakirs, just sharp witted tricksters who are able to live off the public by their deceptions. Many of them realize they have some strange power which they can't themselves explain, but the most of them take pains to turn it into a commercial advantage."
