LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

A regular meeting of the Elders' Quorum will convene this evening at 7 o'clock in the west wing of the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Rooms.

THIRTEENTH WARD.—Elder John Taylor is expected to preach to-morrow evening in the Thirteenth Ward Assembly Rooms. Services to commence at 7 o'clock.

IMPROVING.—The many friends of Miss E. Coudack will be glad to learn that she is gradually improving, being strong enough to leave her room for a short time to-day.

REWARD OFFERED.—A few weeks since a male was killed by a passing train on the Utah Central track, in the vicinity of Farmington, and as the animal was quickly eating corn when the train came up, it was supposed that some malicious person placed the corn in order to entice the male there upon purpose that it might be killed. The good people of Farmington, thinking that the affair reflects unfavorably upon them as a ward, offer a reward of $200 for the discovery of the person who placed the corn on the track.

THE MORSE MEETINGS.—If there is any intention on the part of our citizens to join in the simultaneous National Morse Testimonial Meetings on Tuesday, it is not about time some arrangements were made and published? Doubtless our honored Governor is already appealing to our more re-deliver that grandiloquent speech of his with variations appropriate to the circumstances? Besides Utah has been as much benefited by the telegraph as any other Territory or State has.

BLOCKADE.—A dispatch from Corinne, received last night, says the U. P. trains are still blocked between Evanston and Aspen, and one from Ogden informs us that no trains were expected there last night.

THEATRE.—The entertainment given by the American Concert Troupe in the Theatre last evening was decidedly superior to that of the previous evening, and the appreciation by the audience of the various pieces presented was vigorously and repeatedly manifested.

The orchestra under the leadership of Professors Speight and Thomas and Little Master Speight, acquitted itself with more than ordinary credit and was markedly applauded.

Mr. Scott's songs of "Mollie Darling" and "Kiss Me and I'll go to Sleep" were very nicely rendered, and manifested that in his professional life the gentleman improves upon acquaintance.

The same may be said of Mr. Correll, who in consequence of laboring under a severe cold in his throat, has not been enabled to satisfy himself before the public. Last night, however, he made a decided hit in the "Duetto Comique" with Mrs. Correll. All the artists were honored with an encore, but in this place Mr. and Mrs. Correll received a double encore, which embodied some unpleasant, radical, telling truths. Mr. Correll was also very effective, and was well received by the audience. He is a comedian, but no more.

Mrs. Correll, though not a marvel of wonderful voice, is always pleasing and popular, rendering the ballads and other pieces entrusted to her with a charming simplicity that goes right home to the hearts of the audience. She possesses a rich, soft, mellow, clear, sweet, liquid, delicious voice, which would be enough to afford the delightful effect of it by overstrained effort at excessive ornamentation.

Miss L. Stevenson is a real artist, both vocally and on the piano, well and favorably known and popular in other climes. She executes difficult and elaborate variations, both vocal and instrumental, with ease and undeniable ability, rather too much so, in the opinion of some, who have thought, to perfectly suit the tastes of our theatre-goers. We have also thought, and perhaps she will excuse the suggestion, that she were to sing a simple and touching popular ballad or two, in a simple and touching manner, with fewer and briefer floridly elaborated passages, she would be likely to receive her immediate reward in the energetic demonstration of the audience, who are not so well versed in the higher and more intricate styles of vocal music.

Professor Speight is an able and skillful violinist, and it is a pleasure to hear him upon that instrument.

Of the performance of the "Child of America," it is difficult for any one who has not seen and heard him to form any correct estimation. He touches off the quicker passages with admirable precision and perspicuity, and in the slower ones he exhibits great clearness, fullness and purity of tone, continuous and well sustained. He is a surprise, a marvel to all, and must be seen and heard to be appreciated.

The company appear again this evening, and if they are favored with a large house it will be an evidence that the community recognizes, appreciates, and encourages genuine musical ability and skill of a high class.

BOOKS RECEIVED.—"Little's Living Age" for April 6. This work is well known as a choice selection chiefly of the cream of European current literature.

"Harper's Weekly" contains an excellent portrait of Queen Victoria, with other illustrations. With the "Weekly" is a supplementary reproduction of Queen Victoria and her family, London, well worthy of a place in any library.

"Die Modenwelt," an illustrated magazine for fashions and fancy work.

"Croft's Western World," devoted to the development of the Great West.

"Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper," contains a supplement lithograph of Senator Sumner.

"The Manufacturer and Builder" for April, is an excellent number, liberally illustrated.

The above may be obtained at Dryer's R. R. News Depot.

SNOW SLIDE IN LITTLE COTTONWOOD.—The following was received by Deseret Telegraph to-day for publication in yesterday's News:

Alta, Little Cottonwood, Utah, 12.—Yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, while the men from the Wellington were going to work, a slide came down and buried seven men. One was found by his hand reaching out of the snow. All the rest were got out except Mr. E. H. Murray who, before they could extricate him, was dead. He fell with his head down hill, and was thus smothered. His body being brought down, and will be sent to Salt Lake to-morrow. Several other slides have occurred, but no further loss of life as far as heard of.

Snow fell during the storm over six feet on a level on the old snow.

In one slide seven men were buried, but all were got out. Mr. W. B. Smith and a man with him, of the Davenport mine, were buried in their cabin, but they also got out unhurt.

SHOULD NOT BE PERMITTED.—We notice by announcement in the Ogden Junction that the notorious play of Jack Sheppard was in rehearsal and shortly to be produced at the Ogden Theatre. We do not wish to say much about the impropriety of presenting so acknowledgedly immoral a play as this, further than that we utter our earnest protest against the presentation in the theatre of such a play, and that we are not enough influenced at work in this Territory, through the importation of the impure institutions of so-called civilization, tending to vitiate the minds, tastes and passions of the youthful and upward, with-out aid and encouragement being given to the damnable work from such a direction as this!

If the play of Jack Sheppard was considered so evil in tendency as to be officially prohibited from theatrical presentation in Britain, surely matters have not arrived at such a pitch that its enactment can be sanctioned in Utah.

It would be infinitely better to have no drama at all, than to have those which tend to poison and lead astray the minds of youth. The noblest office of the drama is its capacity as a teacher of morality and virtue. When it takes the opposite tendency its way is corrupted. The reason of the prohibition of the presentation of the play of Jack Sheppard elsewhere has been that its production before the public has invariably been attended with bad results upon the young, whose impressionable minds have been corrupted by the daring exploits of the hero of the drama that they have been led, in many cases, to imitate them. It through studies that numbers of boys have been induced, by ideas conceived from this source, to commence a career of crime that ultimately led them to the scaffold.

We trust that the play will not get any further than a rehearsal. The attempt to produce it publicly could undoubtedly be nipped in the bud. If this, however, will not the case, simply because would be the fitting reward of its production.

ESSEX.—Mr. J. W. Dunn has taken a farewell benefit at the Theatre on Wednesday evening (April 12).

For Deseret Telegraph.

POCHIE—Destructive Gale—Houses Overthrown.

POCHIE, 12.—A furious windstorm is raging here this morning. Four houses have been demolished and another nearly so, besides the damage done to various miners' cabins in the vicinity. If the wind does not abate soon, considerable injury will be done to the buildings throughout the town. No one has been killed so far.

CLARKSTON.—Bishop Simon Smith writes from Clarkston, Cache Co., that the winter evenings have been agreeably spent there in attending lectures, dancing, &c. There has been no drinking, there being no whisky shop in the settlement, and such an institution is altogether out of the question. The spring work has fairly commenced, and is in good condition for receiving the seed. The health of the people is excellent.
