

SOCIAL & CHAT

The larger number of the week's events have been Holloween parties, and these were attended by all the social details that accompany the occasion.

Pillow sheets, hollyhock impor-mations, and gauze-like veils were the essential features, and each party had "the unique" menu and followed this of all.

Among the houses and boutiques of the enjoyable affairs were Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Furtach, Prof. and Mrs. W. A. Weston, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilkinson, Miss Hazel Whittier, Misses Ivy and Mary French, Miss May Evanson and Miss Julia Carlson, Edwin E. Clark, Mrs. George Day, Mrs. Frank King, the guests of the First Presbyterian Church, the Daughters of the King, Club of St. Mark's church, some of the L. D. S. W., "as in the Lion House" and the young girls of Howland Hall. Besides these were houses of culture, too numerous to mention.

The reception and dancing party given as Christening on Thursday night will rank among the most delightful events of the year. The hosts were Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Wright, Dr. and Mrs. Snow, and Mr. and Mrs. George Bush Jr. The hall was filled with sets of round tables, each decorated with a profusion of palms, potted plants and cut flowers, white and green predominating in the hall and in the refreshments room, red carnations being used, while chrysanthemums and red tulips were the chief decorations on the tables. The refreshments were served in a series of palms, on a piano raised near, prettily decorated in white and pale green. The receiving party stood in the alcove to the left of the main entrance, which was also bordered with palms. About 40 guests were present to enjoy the delightful soiree.

An elaborate affair was the luncheon given by Mrs. A. H. Tarter on Thursday in honor of Miss Lovell. The event took place at the Commercial club, the private dining room being used, and the table being in the form of a horseshoe. A beautiful centerpiece was framed in a low bank of American roses and carnations, with palms and pines forming an immense baseboard extending almost the entire length of the board. Silver candleabra with shades corresponding with the flowers completed the attractive table decorations, while palms and potted plants formed a background.

The guests were mostly figures from the colony. The ladies were Mrs. Kearns, Mrs. Hader, Mrs. Weller, Mrs. William H. King, Mrs. Dorothy of Park City, Mrs. Knapp, Mrs. Sarah Remond, Mrs. Dooly, Mrs. Arthur Blvd, Mrs. Congdon, Mrs. Ferro, Mrs. W. L. Snyder, Mrs. M. H. Whitney, Mrs. Linda, Mrs. E. W. Jones, Mrs. Frank King, John Cowan, Mrs. James Ferguson, Mrs. Simon Ramburgh, Mrs. J. E. Ramburgh, Mrs. Oberndorfer, Mrs. Charles Bush, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. George Atkin, Mrs. George Bush, Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. F. E. Way, Miss Shadrack, Miss Cowan, Miss Way, Miss Luce, Miss Lawrence, Miss Snyder.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. James Rogers gave a delightful card party at her home, the amusement being cards. The rooms were prettily decorated in crimson and greens, the parlor being redecorated their silver wedding anniversary last night in a delightful gathering at their home, a large number of their friends being present to share the evening.

THE SHIRRED HAT.

Shirred effects are the popular fad for hats of all kinds just now. This charming simple model is of gray Fance velvet, shirred all over. A white net of sparrow's bills forms the crown top from side to side, with crushed roses of yellow Louisiana ribbon on the back and a flat bow on the band.

Miss Jessie Miller was hostess at an informal but pleasant affair on Wednesday afternoon, about 30 of her friends being entertained at dinner. White carnations were effectively used in the decorations, and the center-piece was a China plate in which was placed a cluster of amasinging greeting cards, which was enjoyed. The guests were Miss Beulah Light, Miss Ethel Conry, Miss Ella Schulte, and Miss Belle Quinn, Belle Perrin, Miss Walter Cross, Miss Minnie Jones, Miss Ethel McDonald, Miss Leah Miller, Miss Paula Schulte.

One of the largest and most delightful events of the week was the reception given on Tuesday night at the First Congregational church in honor of the new pastor, Rev. Elmer Gammie. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms, chrysanthemums and carnations being used with artistic effect. A delightful program of music was among the features, and delicious refreshments were served by a number of young girls being a most brilliant one. Mr. Clifford Powell of Salt Lake was master of music and E. L. White of Salt Lake was best man. The bride's dress was a white gown of white duchess lace and silk veil fastened with a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. Mr. Powell wore a handsome gown of white crepe over pink with a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride's mother, Mrs. C. W. Stewart, was at another part of white duchess lace and silk veil fastened with a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. Mr. Powell wore a handsome gown of white crepe over pink with a bouquet of pink carnations.

The wedding of Miss Grace French and Mr. William H. Pollard, will take place next Friday, the marriage to be solemnized in the Temple at noon, and a reception to be held in the evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elmer T. French.

An interesting announcement of the week was that of the engagement of Miss Jane MacEachern of this city and Miss Malcolm G. Truman of Chicago.

A VERY SMART COAT.

This long, three-quarter length coat is of heavy tan broadcloth, the millinery effect of the three ruffles giving it a particularly smart touch. The only decoration is the wide band of ruffled cloth cut to fit the neck and carried single file down the front with many rows of stitching, which is repeated on the strap cuffs that finish the large pouch sleeves. Pearl buttons are used.

Indies commenced with the Church, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gorham and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Miller invited in receiving and delightful music was furnished by the Neapolitan Mandolin club and the Sunday school orchestra.

Mrs. Pardee entertained informally at the post on Tuesday.

On Monday evening Fred and Mrs. Radcliffe gave a luncheon at their home, the affair being in honor of Miss Katharine, the Queen of Pennsylvania. Delightful music was rendered, among those who participated in the entertainment being Mrs. A. D. Martin and Mr. Neilson.

At the card party given by Mrs. H. H. Hinchliffe, Mrs. Williams and Miss Elizabeth O'Brien and about 20 guests enjoyed the afternoon.

The usual delightful hour took place at the post on Wednesday.

Mrs. C. C. Slade was hostess at a card party on Wednesday afternoon, the entertainment being "El." The rooms were prettily decorated with palms and chrysanthemums, and the soups and broths were done in water colors. The program was given by Mrs. H. H. Hinchliffe, Mrs. Williams and Miss Elizabeth O'Brien and about 20 guests enjoyed the afternoon.

Mrs. Elmer Jones received informally at her home on Tuesday.

Mrs. V. H. Pease entertained the ladies of St. Mark's Guild pleasantly at her home on Tuesday.

At the card party given by the Jewish Relief society on Tuesday afternoon prizes were won at bids by Mrs. Baskerville and Mrs. Lehman, Mrs. Baskerville and Mrs. Brown winning the "El" prize.

Mr. Will Jones will give a box party at the Grand tonight in honor of Mrs. Harvey.

The musical recital given by Miss Gray, Miss Miller and Miss Mountain at the Congregational church on Wednesday evening was the brilliant event of the week. The program was filled with a large and representative musical audience, and the program an unusually difficult one was splendidly rendered.

Mrs. C. C. Slade will entertain as a card party at her home next Monday.

THE LARGER OUTSIDE CITIES

OGDEN.

Wednesday evening a pretty home wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ekholm, when their charming daughter, Miss Marie A. Ekholm, and Mr. H. E. Anderson, a nephew of the bride, Rev. E. L. Gustafsson officiated in the ceremony.

The wedding party entered the parlor at 8:30 o'clock. The bride was attended by Miss Edith White and Herbert Sanday, noted as best man. The bride and groom stood under a beautiful floral bower, while the ceremony was performed. The bride wore a pretty gown of white silk and carried an exquisite bouquet of roses. The home was prettily decorated with cut flowers and evergreens, the color scheme being green and white. There were present only the relatives of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends, who, after attending the
