THE EVENING NEWS.

Thursday - - September 7, 1871.

A BARRISTER'S STORY.

I had met Miss Peyton before at the Soames' house—much more recently than Charley thought when he spoke of my having seen her there "last year"—and I confess that she had somewhat impressed me. I don't exactly know how it was, but one thought of Gertrude Peyton used to stimulate me to any amount of exertion, and yet I was not in love with her; still there was an indescribable something about her presence which always afforded me great pleasure. She was certainly wonderfully beautiful, and exceedingly clever and well read; owing, as I afterward found, to her father's solicitude with respect to the improvement of her mind.

Well, I need not particularize as to how many times I danced with Gertrude Peyton that evening, and how many times poor Charley did the same; but we each bid in turn for her as a partner, and it fell to me to take her down to supper. Gertrude Peyton's mind seemed entirely to correspond with her body; it appeared to me refined and beautiful; so I was fascinated, perfectly fascinated; and when the gay company had left Mr. Soame's mansion, and I was left with Charley in the almost empty apartment, in spite of its gorgeousness, I felt as though I were in a desert.

"Come, Molyneux, old fellow," said Charley, in his usual lively way, "what on earth is the matter with you? Why, you look like a condemned criminal; been losing your heart to Gerty Peyton eh?"

Now, had I told my friend the exact truth then, I should not have had this melancholy story to tell now, but I dissimulated, and said that I was rather knocked up, or something of that kind, and retired. On the other hand, had my poor friend also spoken the truth, we should have understood each other, and so prevented the dreadful events which resulted from the deceit which we mutually practiced upon each other. You will probably have guessed that poor Charley himself was, at that time, desperately in love with Gertrude Peyton. Such was the case, as I afterward discovered; but he never would acknowledge this to me when I rallied him on the subject, and on the contrary, strenuously denied it. I never had the remotest idea that Gertrude Peyton cared for Charley Soame, still less that he cared for her.

You will perhaps wonder what poor Charley's motive was for this reticence, and you shall hear presently; but as to my own toward him, I can only account for it on the ground of mauvaise honte, an infirmity, by the by, which has frequently produced results of the most dire character in other cases, owing to the misapprehensions to which it often gives rise. Well, time went on, and the long vacation arrived. Mr. Soame had hired for the season a fine marine residence at W—, and Charley had invited me down for a month. There was boating, fishing, driving, riding, visiting, everything, in short, to conduce to amusement, and above all, Col. Peyton and his daughter had taken a house, situated near the shore and about a mile from W—. This was ecstasy for me; and as the Colonel and Miss Peyton often came over to Mr. Soame's, the latter frequently stayed with Lady Geraldine while the Colonel and old Mr. Soame walked off somewhere together, and then Charley and I would attend to Gertrude, sing duets with her, and so on. I assure you, on my honor, I never saw that my friend cared for Gertrude Peyton; there was nothing in his outward demeanor to indicate it; and as for her I really believe to this day that she loved him then, and loves me now—for she is still living, as you will hear again presently. Vain though it may seem in me to say so, I do say it emphatically, and I say also that Charles Soame's blood was on his own head!

Well, I had frequent opportunities of meeting Miss Peyton alone, and as I knew my month would quickly pass over, I endeavored to see her as much as possible. I became more desperately in love then ever; and one day when I was walking with her alone toward her own house—Lady Geraldine having requested me to escort her home, as Charley and his father were out somewhere together, as I was told—I declared my love for her in a straightforward manly way.

"I have been expecting this, Mr. Molyneux," said Miss Peyton, "and sincerely thank you for the good opinion you have of me, and the honor you confer upon me. Allow me to say to you what I should say to very few of your sex, very few indeed. That any woman might be proud of winning your regard, much more your love; but my heart is already another's, and that being the case, we can never be anything more than friends. Good friends, I hope, we shall ever be, Mr. Molyneux;" and she held out her hand to me.

Miss Peyton," said I, thunder-struck, "you surprise me! Thank you for your kind speech; but why have you led me to suppose that you cared for me when, as you say, your affections were engaged? Do you suppose me to be a stick or stone, that you should thus play with me and make me wretched for life? You have made me love you, and now you tell me you are engaged."

I saw that I was on dangerous ground, but I felt desperate at the idea of being rejected by so charming a creature; so said I, "Will you promise to pardon me, if I make one more observation? If it seems an improper one, you will forgive me, and attribute it to the perturbed state of my mind at present. Is it really a fact that you are engaged to another, or did you say so merely from a kind wish to soften the effect of what your generous heart told you would be a fearful blow?"

"I assure you, Mr. Molyneux, that I have told you nothing but the truth, and, under any circumstances but the present, should resent any doubt cast upon my veracity!"

PEOPLE'S VERDICT

Over Half a Million sold and in use!

4,000 made and sold per week

SINGER'S

New Improved Silent

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES

ARE

The Best in the World,

Because all of them are in constant use, while a very large proportion of other makes are no used, owing to their being partially or utterly impracticable.

THE SINGER

NEW FAMILY MACHINE

Has been brought to perfection, regardless of time, labor or expense, and is now incomparably the best Sewing Machine in existence.

It is simple, compact, durable, beautiful, quiet, light-running, and capable of performing a range and variety of work never before attempted upon a single machine; using either Silk, Twist, Linen or Cotton Thread, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, or anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner.

The New Improved Attachments for Hemming, (any width) Braiding, Embroidering Magic Ruffling, Gathering and sewing on (at the same time) Self-Sewing, Cording, Tucking Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are novel and practicable, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

Folding Tops and Cabinet Cases.

New designs of the unique, useful and popular Folding Tops and Cabinet Cases, peculiar to the Singer Machine, are in every variety of Wood, such as black Walnut, Mahogany, Rosewood, Satinwood, and from the plainest to the most elaborate pattern and finish. The Machines themselves are plain or highly ornamented with pearl and gold to correspond with their tables or cabinets.

In the Singer the work is fed or passed through the Machine in the natural direction, namely, from the operator, permitting her to sit in a natural and healthy position, as in the other Machines the work passes from right to left, or the reverse, compelling the operator to sit in a bent and unhealthy position, and thus causing weakness of the back, etc.

The Singer uses a SHORT STRAIGHT NEEDLE, which is not liable to break or miss the stitch. Many other Machines use a long crooked needle, which is liable to break and to miss the stitch.

In the Singer Machine the Shuttle is carried, thus avoiding nearly all wear. It requires no oil, and does not soil the thread or goods. Other Machines draw their Shuttles in a race, thus causing great wear, and requiring oil, soiling the thread and goods.

On the Singer, the Tension on both the upper and lower threads is absolutely under the ready control of the operator, thus rendering the Machine always available for good sewing, which is not the case with any other. The so-called cheap Machines are really worthless, and so are many of their new peculiarities and supposed advantages.

The SINGER is the Oldest Practical Sewing Machine,

Being about twenty years in the market. Having been constantly improved by the employment of the most skilled ingenuity of the age and unlimited capital, it is now divested of all unnecessary parts and possesses All the Very Latest Inventions and Improvements. It is the only Machine sold on Honest Claims, as all its parts are Practical and will do all that is claimed for them. Some other Machines are Greatly Complicated, to do Useless and Silly things, and thus are rendered Liable to Constant Derangement. The Singer Seldom, or Never gives trouble, but is readily and easily managed by those who utterly fail on other Machines.

SINGER'S

New Manufacturing Machines

Claim the same advantages over others of their class as the new Family Machines. These old and well-tried sewing Machines are applicable to all kinds of heavy and light manufacturing as Clothing, Leather, etc., and run in the most perfect and reliable manner without trouble to the operator.

HAVE ARRIVED!

A Full Assortment of those
Beautiful and Unrivaled
MACHINES.

(The numbers on which show a manufacture of between Three and Six Hundred Thousand.) Consisting of the Different Varieties made by the Singer Manufacturing Company and we shall sell at Eastern Prices, with addition of Freight only. To accommodate parties who cannot pay all down, we will sell on

EASY MONTHLY INSTALMENTS

So that all may possess one of these Blessings.

For the convenience of our Patrons we have engaged the services of a gentleman who has had twenty years experience and is one of the most skillful experts in the world in repairing and adjusting Sewing Machines. He will put each Machine in complete and practical running order before it leaves the Institution and will also impart to purchasers all needful instruction, so that they can at once commence work.

We resort to no trickery whatever to sell Sewing Machines, but allow their Great Merits to recommend them. We can do this, as the demand for them is so great that although the Singer Company make more than all other first-class companies combined, they cannot nearly fill their orders, and are compelled to still extend their Gigantic Works.

We having been so fortunate as to secure the

General Central Agency,

For this Territory, we extend a cordial invitation to all to come and see the Machines, whether they wish to buy or not. See all others, but do not buy without you examine the Singer.

We Guarantee every Machine we sell to give entire satisfaction.
