

are insupportable to house owners; they are abandoning their estates, and small farmers are giving up the cultivation of the soil; the police are ineffectual and the frequency of burglaries is unparalleled.

The Herald's Atlanta special says it is reported that the President has directed Meade to suspend the order removing Governor Jenkins. The feeling among the citizens over the removal is very intense.

The Times' special says General Ruger and not Dunn is appointed to succeed Jenkins. The State Treasurer is also removed and Captain Rockwell of the Ordnance corps is appointed.

The Times' Washington special says it is probable that Stanton will be nominated to-day. It is determined to push through the bill, requiring two-thirds of the Supreme Court to concur in any decision involving any Constitutional question.

The Tribune's special says that Sunset Cox is to be nominated for the Austrian mission, and ex-Governor Ford as minister to Ecuador. The friends of Mayor Hoffman are pressing him for the Austrian mission.

SABBATH MEETINGS.—Elder Jonathan C. Wright occupied the time in the morning. He touched briefly on the fulfillment of the prophecies with regard to the establishment of the Kingdom of God, and spoke of the unity which the Saints must possess to fully accomplish the designs of the Lord, and the obedience which they should ever manifest to the requirements of Heaven. As a people we are growing in faith and in good works. Those who are honest in their desires to work righteousness are growing in the knowledge of the truth, and in the power of God. The Lord does not forsake the people who seek to do His will; and they who believe that He does, are in darkness and pursuing a dangerous course. He spoke of the "signs of the times"—the earthquakes, disasters, convulsions of nature, and terribly destructive accidents, news of which is brought to us about every day, as indications of the near advent of the Son of God; and declared that those who will not shut their eyes to the light may see the goings forth of the Almighty among the nations of the earth.

In the afternoon, Elder Orson Hyde, Pres. B. Young, and Elder E. T. Benson addressed the congregation. Their remarks were reported.

THEATRICAL.—The performance of "Money" on Saturday night, in most of the characters, was equal to any performance of it which we have ever seen; though Mr. Margetts as Graves and Mr. Lindsay as Stout were not so felicitous as they usually are. Every character in "Money" is a "character," down to the "Old Member" who shouts "stuf-box" so vociferously in the club room. Graves is a strange mixture of lugubriousness, true friendship and eccentricities. The very tone of lugubrious resignation, under the circumstances most comical, with which he utters "Just my luck," should bring the house nearly every time. Stout is fussy, political charlatan, but a gentleman, or he never would be a member of so aristocratic and select a club, and there is nothing rough or unpolished in his manner.

As Evelyn, Mr. Stark was most excellent. The points were made with consummate effect, and the whole personation was masterly and artistic. Miss Adams, as the heroine Clara, looked and acted the part exceedingly well. Mr. McKenzie was as dignified, scheming, unscrupulous and close-fisted in Vesey, as "Stingy Jack" is drawn by the author. Miss Colebrook was very good as Lady Franklin; Miss Alexander played Georgina neatly; Messrs. Graham, Hardie, Thompson, and others, were good in the roles they represented.

The farce went well; and made mirth ad libitum. Mr. Margetts was very comical as Wiggs; and the young ladies took their revenge most laughably.

To-morrow evening Shakespeare's famed comedy, the "The Merry Wives of Windsor" will be presented for the first time here, with Mr. Stark as the fat Falstaff—the redoubtable Sir John. There is a great difference between the character in this comedy, and that in the tragedy of "Henry IV," which was played here some short time ago; the situations and circumstances in which the old Knight is placed being very different, and in some instances side-splitting. This comedy has been often asked for by patrons of the Theatre, and now there is an opportunity for all to be gratified with a sight of it. In its performance an entertainment is offered which ought to satisfy the most ardent lover of mirth.

TERRIBLE EXPOSURE, AND FATAL FREEZING.—We have obtained from Bro. John M. Murdoch, of Heber City, Wasatch Co., the following account of a most extraordinary case of exposure, and the case of freezing to death appended to it.

On Sunday, 23d ult., a young man named John Lee, started on foot from this city, to go to Heber City. On the Tuesday following he was at William Kimball's, and started from that place to go over the mountains. A heavy snow storm coming on, he lost his way in the blinding drift, and traveled in the snow from Tuesday till Saturday, when exhausted nature could endure no more and he sank down. Thinking that he was going to die, he sought a hole, where he might lie and not be so exposed in his last moments as he would be on the level snow. Here he was covered by the snow drift, the storm continuing, until he was completely buried in, how deep he did not know, but believed there was about five feet of snow over him. In a state of partial unconsciousness he lay until Tuesday morning, as he afterwards learned, when he thought he saw the sun rising, and with the thought came hope and a desire to dig his way out. He had on two hickory shirts, and two heavy coats, but in his efforts to free himself from the snowy tomb in which he was buried, his clothes were worn through, and the skin and part of the flesh were worn off his elbows. As he got his head above the snow he saw a man coming down from the mountains, to whom he made signals; and this person, a young man named Galloway, from Rhoads' Valley, came to him and helped him out. Galloway then started for the nearest house, at Hallstone's rancho, some three miles off, for assistance. He found some teams from Heber City, and Lee having been got down to the road where a sleigh could get to him, one of them took him up; but a horse team soon after passing he was taken by it to the fort at Heber City. During all the time of his exposure from leaving Kimball's, he had been without food. It was nearly sun-down when he was got down to the road, and the air was very cold. When he reached Heber City, it was found that his arms and legs were frozen; and though living when Bro. Murdoch left, his recovery was considered almost hopeless.

The sequel is a mournful one, with regard to Galloway. This young man, in company with another man, having an ox team, had been going over the mountains to Rhoads' Valley, and had camped the night previous in the mountains. They had with them an odd ox, which had given out, and young Galloway was going down with a little hay to seek for it when he was seen by Lee. His companion started, not knowing but Galloway would soon overtake him, and wondering what detained him until he reached his destination. When Lee was put in the team, Galloway started for Rhoads' Valley, a distance of 10 or 12 miles, and was found the following morning within two miles of the settlement, frozen to death.

Both are spoken of as excellent young men, Lee being about 17 years of age, spare made and wiry, Galloway being about 18, stouter made, and, as the end showed, not capable of so much endurance.

THE WEATHER.—In this city was cloudy overhead in the afternoon. The following has been received by Deseret State Telegraph Line:—

Fountain Green; cloudy, with indications of snow. About five inches of snow on the ground. Very cold.

Mount Pleasant; very pleasant; snow about eight inches deep.

Fort Ephraim; fine and clear. Thermometer at zero. Snow about three inches deep.

Manti; mild and pleasant, with five inches of snow.

Chicken Creek; fine, with six inches of snow.

Round Valley; very cloudy; three inches of snow.

Fillmore; fine; about six inches of snow.

Beaver; quite warm and pleasant, with six inches of snow.

Parowan; pleasant, but cloudy. A severe storm of snow and wind last night; snow is now nine inches deep.

Tokerville; cloudy; a slight snow storm last night.

Washington; clear and pleasant; snow about three inches deep.

St. George; hard frost last night. Clear and pleasant to-day, and the snow going fast. Thermometer at 55.

INFORMATION WANTED.—A W. Street, Esq., Postmaster of this City, has been inquired of concerning Mrs. ELLEN RUTHERFORD, who, when last heard from was a widow with a child—a girl—that would be now about 10 years of age. She came from Boise City, Idaho, to this city, about two years ago. Her aged mother, and a sister paralyzed since they heard directly from her, are anxious to learn of her whereabouts. Information to be addressed to Miss Melissa E. Howard, P.O. Box 183, Junction City, Davis Co., Kansas.

WILL NOT REPEAT.—We understand that the Management of the Theatre do not design repeating any plays during the brief engagement of Mr. Stark. It is well that the public should know this, so that no one may be disappointed by not going to see a piece on its first presentation, expecting it to be repeated.

DIED.—In this city, Sunday, January 12, 1869, of whooping cough, Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Robert C. and Mary Kirkwood, aged 4 months and 18 days.

Funeral takes place to-morrow at one p.m.

Special Notices.

MUSICIANS who desire to obtain a knowledge of Thorough Base or Harmony, as most of our instrumentalists do, who have not already obtained it, should make the acquaintance of Mrs. White as soon as possible. The quickness with which she imparts a knowledge of the "divine science" by "Robbins American method," is somewhat astonishing. Her success with her pupils is beyond all question. Call at the Townsend House.
