Sets Forth His Reasons for Not Liking the Anti-Mormon Party.

Leaders Are So Filled With Hatred And Bitterness That They Cannot Be Fair or Honest

9844844444444 PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS $

We endorse the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt & and the candidacy of William H. Taft and the principles enunciated by these sterling leaders of Republicanism, and we pledge the united support of the Republicans of Salt Lake county.

We endorse the platform of the National Republican party and the platform adopted by the recent Republican state convention and we renew our allegiance to the principles of the party in $ state and nation.

We commend the administration of the Republican party in the State of Utah and in the county of Salt Lake and the vigorous and impartial enforcement of the laws by its public officers and the economic administration of county affairs.

We favor the establishment of sood roads and we pledge the pominees of this convention for county commissioners to construct and maintain a system of good highways throughout the

"But I have one great objection to the 'American' party. This is the evident dishonesty of its leadership, and the evident dishonesty of its methods and allegations."

CALLED TO ORDER.

The Republican county convention met at 10:30 o'clock in the Salt Lake theater following a city convention which met at 9:30 o'clock. The theater was beautifully decorated for occasion, and pictures of prominent members of the party were displayed. County Chairman J. U. Eldredge called the county convention to order, and introduced as the temporary and introduced as the temporary chairman Attorney H. A. Smith. The morning session was taken up with an address by Judge Smith, and the naming of the convention commttees, after which a recess was declared unstable of the convention of the conven til 1:30 o'clock in order to give the til 1:30 o'clock in order to give the committees time to formulate reports.

Judge Smith, in taking the gavel as temporary chairman was warmly applauded, and he went at once into a discussion of local problems, declaring that while national issues were of great importance, the time was too limited at this convention for their extended discussion.

INSULT TO MANHOOD.

"The 'American' party," "he said, "sees an evil in this state that must be "sees an evil in this state that must be corrected in hatred and bitterness of speech. I for one do not propose to evade or pass by the issues these people raise, but like all good Republicans I am willing and anxious to meet these peope on their own meet these peope on their own grounds and meet their issues fairly believe it can be shown that it is not true.

"If I read the pages of history aright there has been more bloodshed and bitterness and strife over the question of religion's place in the world than over any other question.

"And after all the bloodshed and strife men have resolved without party and without creed that the Church is sacred and must not be assaulted by the state, and that it must stand on its own ground.

"And just as surely they have decreed that the Church must keep its creed that the Church must keep its hands off the state. This principle is firmly imbedded at the roots of our American government and was the essential spirit predominating the preparation of the Constitution.

STATE CONSTITUTION.

"Our own state constitution reiterates this principle, and I will read a few paragraphs upon this subject: The rights of conscience shall never be infringed. The state shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion or the free exercise thereof; no religious test shall be required as a qualification for any office or for any vote at any election, nor shall any person be incompetent as a witness or juror on account of religious belief or the absence thereof. There shall be no union of church and state, nor shall any church dominate the state or interfere with its functions. "This declaration in the constitution of Utah puts its people on record as to their intentions and desires. The 'American' party declares that the church must keep its hands off. Who does not agree with them in this contention?

"Any effort of church authority to dominate the state strikes at the foundation of the constitution, and all good citizens will join in beating it back, should any attempt ever be so made."

The speaker then sketched the growth of the Republican party from its birth in the dark hours of the forming reballion to its braye attitude on all great of the state o bellion, to its brave attitude on all great public questions.

"Can it be then," he asked, "that a party which has bravely met the greatest questions of the nation's growth will stand supinely by on a merely local question, and allow a condition that is un-American to develop within our s un-American to develop within our midst?

CANNOT BE FAIR.

CANNOT BE FAIR.

"The reason that I don't like the 'American' party is chiefly that its leaders are so filled with hatred that they can't be fair. I was born within the chadows of these Utah mountains. I have lived here since, and I say that I believe the Mormon men and women believe in the complete separation of church and state. To those not of that Church I say, let us come to an understanding with those within the Church on this matter. We are all united in being opposed to it. Let it be known that in theory and in practise as: well just where we stand on this matter. I favor putting in our platform the declaration of the state constitution on this matter.

"But let us wage an upright campaign. I was heartly disgusted with what I saw a few days ago. The people of Utah knew Uncle Jesse Kinght as well before the Democratic convention as they knew him after it. They knew he would not accept the nomination the as they knew him after it. They knew he would not accept the nomination the Democrats tendered to him. And when he exercised his right as a citizen, and for perfectly plain and pertinent reasons, he declined the nomination, we had the spectacle of a political party's organ rushing forward to cover his name with villification and abuse and raise the wholly false cry that Church domination was responsible for his withdrawing from the ticket.

"I thank the committee for the honor it has done me in selecting me to preside over this convention, and I have but one wish. That is that common honesty shall prevail through the campaign."

The minority report was then read by Anton Lundberg, which placed the nomination of county commissioners first on the program. Lundberg asserted that collusion had been used to effect the placing of the order of business according to the report made by the majority of the committee.

Lon J. Haddock arose and repelled the insinuation that collusion or manipulation had been used with the committee report, and said that Lundberg had had his hearing before the committee and had been turned down.

Parley P. Christensen took the floor and reiterated the charge of collusion and manipulation, in behalf or certain candidates.

dress of welcome by representatives from foreign countries. Addresses were made by delegates from France, England, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Cape Colony, Canada, Cuba, Porto Rico, Brazili and several of the Mexican states. The foreigners have been given an important part in the program and their presence is lending much interest to the work of the congress.

A demonstration lasting several minutes was made when a military band sent here by the government of Mexico played the "Star Spangled Banner," at the opening of the session. The singing of the "Irrigation Ode" by a chorus of 100 voices was another feature which aroused enthusiasm.

President Goudy's address, a brief address by Gen. J. Franklin Bell, U. S. A., and the responses by the foreign delegates occupied the greater portion of the morning session which closed with the appointment of committees. There has been keen competition for places on the resolutions committee by which under the rules of the congress all resolutions must be ratified, and it is predicted that some effort will be made to inject into the resolutions criticism of certain phases of the administration's forestry policy and some reference to government regulation of the public domain. Nothing of a political nature, however, is likely to find favor with the congress.

A notable feature of the congress is the absence of men prominent or active in political affairs and the presence of an unusual number of men who are active workers in the practical fields of reclamation and will make up

Prof. Fisher of Yale Says Such Fate of 5,000,000 People Living in United States.

COST SOMETHING ENORMOUS

Demise of 138,000 Persons Annually Entails an Expense of Over a Billion Dollars.

Prof. Calmut, Director of Lille Pasteur Institute, Advanced Theory Tubercule Bacilli Taken Swallowing.

Washington, Sept. 29.-That 5,000,000 people, now living in the United States are doomed to fill consumptives' graves unless something is done to prevent it, unless something is done to prevent it, was the startling declaration of Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university in an address on "The Cost of Tuberculosis" before the international tuberculosis congress today. Prof. Fisher's address created a sensation.

Prof. Fisher further declared that the 138,000 persons who die of consumption annually in this country cost, in hard cash, over $1,000,000 a year.

In section one, in which it is expected the most of the scientific discussions and discoveries will develop, there was and discoveries will develop, there was a discussion of great importance to the congress at this morning's session when Prof. Calmett of Lille, France, director of the Pasteur Institute, advanced tor of the Pasteur institute, advanced the theory that tubercule bacillat are taken into the system by swallowing. Heretofore inhalation has been considered the principal method of contracting consumption. Infection by inhalation was warmly defended by Prof. Tendeloo of Holland.

Past Asst. Surgeon Victor G. Helfer

Tendeloo of Holland, Past Asst. Surgeon Victor G. Heifer of the United States public health and marine hospital service, and director of health of the Philippine islands, asserted that in tropical countries, where tuberculosis and hookworm disease pre-vail, elimination of the hookworm pro-duced better results in diminishing the mortality from tuberculosis than any mortality from tuberculosis than any other measure that has yet been tried on a large scale.

The second day's session of the international congress on tuberculosis opened at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The entire morning was devoted to the work of section I, with Dr. William H. Welch of Baltimore, presiding. Participating in the discussions which dealt principally with such phases of tuberculosis as channels of infection, latent infection, predisposition and latent infection, predisposition and heredity, were many distinguished medical scientists from abroad, Sur-geon-Gen. Simon von Unterbergen of St. Petersburg, Russia, honorary phy-geon-Gen. Simon von Unterbergen of St. Petersburg, Russia, honorary physician at the czar's court, contributed his views on "Heredity in Tuberculosis," All tendency to disease that appears in any individual," asserted Dr. von Unterberger, "is to be regarded as hereditary, whether or not the corresponding disease can be traced back each time to parents or ancestors. The tendency to consumption is inherited and may be developed by various agencies. Numerous autopsies show that every man over 30 years of age has old remains of tuberculosis infection. These facts show how comparatively easy the human organism can overcome the tubercle bacilli and give us in the indication for our treatment, the strengthening of the organism by the strengthening of the organism by hygienic and dietic means. We must seek to destroy the tubercle bacillus. but our chief endeavors must be di-rected towards strengthening the

Dr. Julius Bartel of Vienna, discusor. Sumus Barter of Vienna, discussing the routes of infection, said:
"The infection from pharnyx, stomach and intestines is far more frequent, particularly during early life than has generally been considered. Of less importance, as compared with general hygienic regulations, is the constant dispute concerning the more frequent mode of infection whether due to swallowing or inhalation, inasmuch as it is difficult to judge the relative effects of deglution and aspiration." Dr. Carl Hart of Berlin, in his views on the subject of predisposition of the apices of the lungs to pulmonary tuberculosis declared that aside from infection the cause of pulmonary tub-broulosis in youthful individuals is to be sought in an individual predisposition due to anatomic and ional disturbance of the normal conditions around the superior aperture of the thorax. The final outcome of this battle between the tubercule bacilli and tissues, depends on the degree of the functional disturbances, he declared. Dr. Samuel Bernneim, of Paris, quoting from clinical facts and ex-periments on animals drew the con-clusion that Luberculosis is chiefly transmitted by aerial germs and by way of respiratory tract. He further stated that the skin may serve as a channel of entrance to tuberculosis, in conditions practicularly favorable to contimation, although this could not be considered a factor of first import-

Other speakers on the program and their subjects were:
Prof. N. P. Tendeloo, Leyden, "Channels of Infection;" Dr. G. Kuss, Angicourt, France, "Sources and Paths of Tuberculosis Infection;" Prof. Francis Harbitz, Christiania, "Latent Tuberculosis;" Prof. A. S. Bombay, Sept. 29.—Thousands of native houses have been washed away and there has been a heavy loss of life in the Hyderabad and Deccan districts as a result of the floods which followed an unprecedented rainfall.

The river Musi rose 60 feet, all the bridges were carried away, and the country was devastated for many miles in either direction. Corpses are strewn everywhere, and scores of bodies have been found in the branches of trees where they were lodgd by the swollen waters. The native hospital at Hyderabad was undermined by the waters, and collapsed, all the immates being buried in the wreckage,
