THE LADDER OF SUCCESS!

"Now or never you must climb Upward to the peaks sublime, Leaving trivial things below; Upward, where the laurels grow."

Nothing is more inspiring to the ambitious young man than to read the life stories of those who, from the poorest surroundings, have climbed the ladder of success.

Thomas A. Edison was a train boy. Jay Gould canvassed for books. P. A. Collins worked in a mine. Heary Clews started life as a book-keeper.

Augustine Daly used to earn but $8 a week.

Such facts seem stranger than fiction. Yet the list could be indefinitely drawn out of men who, born poor, with few educational advantages, have, by persistent work, by hard study, by putting to its best use every opportunity, climbed the ladder of fortune and success.

Greater Opportunities

Have you then, were ever condescended to the successful man of the past. Would you mount the ladder of success? Your first step in such a race will be to secure that compendium of all knowledge, the
