NEW CHURCH READY FOR USE.

Handsome and Convenient First Ward structure Cost $25,000—Fair.

Murray, Oct. 5.—In the completion of the new chapel the people of Murray First ward can well claim the honor of having the finest ward house in the church. It is so pronounced by its architects, Eskins & Liljenberg, and other prominent people of the state who have visited many such buildings and know what is required for the accommodation of a thriving community. Not entirely from a standpoint of beauty from an outside appearance, but from a standpoint of convenience and substantiality. The new building speaks well of the energy and ambition of the people of this ward and will always stand as a monument and a credit to them. The people here are principally of the working class and we need not say that it has been a struggle for them. However, the business

It is expected that a large number of the profession from all parts of the state will be in attendance to take part in the proceedings. Prof. P. A. ## Myth of the Magnolia.

Story of Startups' Liquid Magnolias, the world renowned Flower Perfumed Candy.

One morn a rosy with smiling lips,
From deep slumber awakens.
Had bathed her cheeks in sparkling dew,
And cooling draughts was taking.

Up from the dell, with fragrant wing,
And honey heavy laden.
A bee in passing, paused to rest,
And spoke, as to a maiden:

"That nectared dew drop from your lips,
With violet in connection,
Commingled with this honey, pure,
Would make a rare confection."

Then playfully they mixed the sweets,
Within the blue bell's cup,
And spread the drops upon a leaf,
Just as the sun came up.

They crystallized like glittering gems,
And formed therein a cell
With nectar filled, for queens to sip;
And gods might taste as well.

A package then, of ferns was made,
With fragrant fingers pressed,
Then sweet magnolia kissed the box,
And there the trade mark rests.
