Epperson and one of his brothers were standing in one of the large swings, and were as high in the air as the cables would permit, when sud-denly the feet of Dell slipped from the board upon which they stood and he was precipitated violently to the ground. Blood streamed from his mouth and nose and for a time the victim of the accident was unconscious. Dr. H. A. Anderson, who lives near the park, was summoned, and after temporarily cared for, Epperson was removed to the hospital. It is feared that he is suffering from concussion of the brain.

LIFE AND DEEDS OF FRANCES WILLARD

Subject of Discourse by Rev. Benjamin Young Last Evening.

THE HONOR DUE TO WOMAN.

Man Will Accept Her Counsel in the Great Work of Righteousness-Strength and Gentleness.

Rev. Benjamin Young preached last evening, in the First Methodist church. on "The Life and Deeds of Frances Willard." The speaker said in part:

"Under the Saalic laws no woman nor decendant of a woman could occupy the throne. That answer is humorous, but it comes near being like some ancient legislation and not very far unlike some enactments which have been passed Water Applied For—Frank Riblett of Albion, Ida, has filed application with the Utah state engineer for 300 second feet of water from Elear creek in Boxelder county to irrigate 13,000 acres of land, and for lighting purposes. in recent years. The books say that the tenderness of her soul, the aspira-tion of her heart, what a part they have played in putting the nobler elements into our civilization. The man who is a man will not hesitate to give to her geles was chosen as the place of the honor which progress makes her eeting next year, without a dissentcounsel in the great work of righteous-ness to which God has called us,

UPLIFTING FORCE.

"What a force for uplifting and in-spiring-was Miss Willard while she lived and what a power to quicken and ennoble as we read the story or as we think of her now. Low Dickinson said of her, 'Her nature was many sided and prismatic. On every side it was electric light. In no one particular was her greatness more marked than in her power to discern, to inspire, to educate and to utilize the highest forces in other womanly natures. She worked after God's method, through humanity for humanity's sake. It was not long in womanhood before she had formed the resolution to study the woman question and to talk in public upon the subject. I think it was while traveling in Europe that this came to her. In the year of the woman's temper ance crusade her heart took fire and like Joan of Arc she beheld a vision. It was when she took charge of the Chi-cago W. C. T. U. that she selected her career of toll and sacrifice. Her baptism of conflict occurred during the crusade at Fattsburg, while women sung and prayed before and inside of the saloons of that city.

WAS AN EDUCATOR.

"In the year 1874 she wrote the resolution which made her famous: 'Recog-nizing that our cause is and will be nizing that our cause is and combated by mighty determined and relentless foes, we will trusting in ifin who is Prince of Peace, meet argument who is Prince of Peace, meet argument who is Prince of Peace, meet argument with argument, meet judgment with patience, denunciation with kindness and all our difficulties and dangers with prayer. How strong and beautiful that is, Her genius for organization has seddom been equalled; her ability as a leader receive year supposed. It Inader scarcely ever surr is exemplified in studying tion with the National Women's Tem-perance union. It is also revealed in the tact with which she conducted the effort for the relief of the Armenians. Suffering always touched her heart. To her the words "home and mother" were words of the sweetest vocabulary. Her words of the sweetest vocabulary.

much in her death and beautiful as heaven is, I think it gained when Frances E. Willard swept through the gates of the new city.

'Miss Willard was an educator. This seen in the success which came to her in her school work and in her ef-forts in the women's college in Evanston. For nearly a quarter of a century she moved before the public, pleading for the full emancipation of women. She was a born leader. She was clean and logical in debate. In speech she was fluent, lucid and clear. In her addre she was never hysterical, rhapsodical Memorial Exercises of the Three Salt nor fanatical.

STRENGTH AND GENTLENESS. "She was a combination of strength and gentleness, energy and delicacy, resolution and taot. She was never petulant. She was not hasty in speech, she was careful and thorough. Never careless nor uncharitable, it was not until the breath left her weak form that she ceased to plan for the Interests of the humanity she loved. She was a patriot. The star spangled human was to her the embien of a Godappointed nation. She prayed for a a pure people; when political inequality would be unknown; when men and women would be one in the contention of right and in the determination to suppress wrong. Patriotism is not fol-lowing a torchlight procession on the sve of election, it is not applauding the spread eagleism of some of our latterday demigods; it is not in wearing a badge of something you may never have thought about, possibly never read. It may be in giving one's strength or, it is in thinking and working and voting for that as God gives you to see it which means the country's pros-perity, the strength of its honor and the triumph of its moral forces. She was a

We may catch her spirit and se moved by her example. Leaders fall, but the work of righteousness goes on. Let us live toward the ideal furnished by this life, but of the whole let us work toward the God life."

UNKNOWN FRIENDS.

There are many people who have used Chamberiain's Colic, Cholera and Distriboes Remedy with splendid results, but who are unknown because they have hestated about giving a testimental of their experience for publication. These people, however, are none the less friends of this remedy. They have done much toward making it a household word by their personal recommendations to friends and neighbors. It is a good medicine to have in the home and is widely known for its cures of diarrhora and all forms of bowel trouble. For sale by all drugglets.

DETECTIVES MAKE ARRESTS.

Young Man in Jail on the Charge of Burglary.

At a late hour last night Detectives Shannon and Wilson placed under arrest one Harry Clark, a youth about 20 years of age, upon suspicion of having been guilty of several acts of burglary. Early in the day the room of S. H. Williams in the Sanitarium was entered and a number of articles of wearing apparel were taken away. The detectives had a clue as to the identity of the thief, and were not long in landing the object of their search.

Clark was found at a roominghouse on Second East, near Fourth South, and in the room with him were five other youths. All were taken to police headquarters, but after a severe question-ing, and it being apparent that the five knew nothing of the robbery, they were discharged. In Clark's room there were found several suits of clothes and other articles of clothing, corresponding to the goods missing from the Sanitarium A young man, supposed to be a pal of Clark's, was arrested at Ogden yesterday afternoon. His name is Lewis Cook, allas Charles Ross, and he was waiting the arrival of his chum from Salt Lake, when arrested,

KNIGHTS HELD SERVICES.

Lake Lodges.

The Knights of Pythias held annual memorial services yesterday, the three Salt Lake lodges, Calanthe-Myrtle, Rocky Mountain and Lincoln, partiel-pating. The Krights turned out in full ranks at 10 a.m., and after a brief parade through the business section of the town, the order took cars for Mt. Olivet where ritualistic services were held for the deceased knights. There were 225 knights in the procession headed by Held's band, with N. W. Sonnedecker, past grand chancellor, as marshal. Past Grand Chancellor W. R. White acted as chancellor commander of the day and H. Masterman, as prelate, Grand Chancellor H. P. Johnson de-livered an culogistic address at the cemetery. Flags had been placed on each knight's grave. These graves were covered with large and beautiful bouquets. A new ritual was used for the first time in Sait Lake yesterday.
