CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have practised medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathists are very loth to do). I tried ——— and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have found a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,
D. W. GRAY, M. D.
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son, Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.

MUSCATINE, IOWA, March 21, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflammation and discharge of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been thoroughly purified by the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is recognized by the leading druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 250 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, their names cannot be recalled by the best-informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

EVENING NEWS.

Saturday, April 13, 1878.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, April 7, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

Our little city looks beautiful clothed in the spring habiliments of nature. Our trees are clad in their full foliage and present a very attractive appearance with the exception of the cottonwood, which is covered with caterpillars, much to the annoyance of everybody. Some trees are entirely stripped of their foliage, so numerous are they that in walking the streets you are liable to get them about your person. Indeed it seems almost an impossibility to keep them out of our houses. The people feel that there is no alternative but to discard the cottonwood as a shade and substitute other varieties whichthey are fast doing. There is an excellent prospect for fruit at present. Vegetation is advancing rapidly; garden vegetables are very early. Lucerne, in consequence of the mildness of the spring and warm weather, is very forward. I do not remember it being so warm in the month of March during seventeen years residence in Washington as it has been the present year. Our city is well watered as also our farms, and judging from present appearances, the prospects are excellent for good crops the present year.

The people, as a general thing, are enjoying good health and feel well. Very few deaths. Our much-respected and veteran father, Randolph Alexander, passed to another sphere of late, and we unite in saying, peace to his ashes. The people of this place are richly blessed with the necessaries of life and well clad. Some few families are about starting to Arizona and others are expected to follow soon; among them is Chapman Duncan, of long standing in the church. Altogether our prospects as a settlement are excellent. As a general thing the people of this place cheerfully respond to the demands made upon them in a pecuniary point of view. We have a good day school in session at present. We have also a Sunday school in a very healthy condition, with good attendance. Our energetic Bishop, F. J. Jones, labors continually in the interest of the people, always taking the lead in every labor and duty, always having a good word for the faithful and a gentle rebuke and fatherly admonition to the wayward. In fact he is a father to the people, watching his little flock with a care and zeal worthy his position.

ROBT. F. GOOLD.

U. O. of Moroni

MORONI, Sanpete County, Utah. April 7th, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

Thinking that a few items in relation to the working of the principles of the United Order, as applied in an attempt to unite in a few branches of business by the people of this place, may be interesting to the readers of the NEWS, I will say that the United Order of Moroni was organized and incorporated September 10th, 1874, with a capital of $800, which amount had increased to $11,000 in 1875; and to over $13,000 in 1878. The capital was about equally invested in sheep and cattle, which gave the shareholders a nice herd of each. The herds are kept a long distance from here, which entailed an extra expense upon the company, but that plan kept the range, in the vicinity of our settlement, free for milch cows and work teams.

The company paid annual dividends, ranging from six to twenty-two per cent., which had been steadily increasing from the first year.

The company furnish the people with meat each [summer and fall, and at a much less price than it had ever been sold at here before, the meat was mostly paid for in labor, dividends or in wheat, at $1 per bushel. Sheep and cattle were first received at high rates, upon which reductions were made to the amount of about $2,000. We found many difficulties to be overcome in starting the enterprise, but only such as may be overcome by patience and perseverance, coupled with the blessings of the Lord. In addition to the amount paid to the shareholders, we also tithed the profits of the company.

The financial success had become an established fact, but yet there were found faint-hearted persons who were filled with fears that matters were not, or would not be in a prosperous condition, and who seemed to think it were better to scatter than to gather, better to divide than to unite the interests of the people, and who were never easy only when advising the dissolution of the incorporation, and who persisted in their efforts to that end, until, in an evil hour, the members were advised to dissolve the company, which they did, in opposition to the feelings of nearly all of the officers, who understood the state of affairs and realized that if the people were once discouraged in their efforts in this direction, it would be a serious block in the way of a further union of interest, which were in contemplation by the people.

When the accounts were settled, every shareholder was paid up in full, together with a dividend of 22 per cent., which was thought to be very well for a "bankrupt" or "busted" enterprise.

When will we learn wisdom and believe in the Lord and his promises?

Your brother in the gospel,
JAMES M. CHRISTENSEN,
In behalf of the late board of directors of the United Order of Moroni.

GEORGETOWN, Essex Co., Mass, April 4th, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

It becomes my sad duty to pen an account of the death of Sister Marinda J. Carleton, of Georgetown, Essex Co., Mass., who departed this life March 21st, 1879.

Sister Carleton was the daughter of Thomas and Hannah (Dow) Burbank, was born in Groveland, a village adjoining Georgetown, March 22d, 1837. She was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by Elder William Risley, while still young, and was married to George H. Carleton Esq., the present cashier of the Georgetown National Bank, May 26th, 1857.

Her mother united with the Church at an early period of its existence, but her father, though friendly to the cause, never became a convert to the Gospel, and so the family never gathered with the main body of the Church, though two of Sister Carleton's sisters gathered to Utah, where one of them died, and where the other, with several relatives and many friends still resides.

Deceased also leaves one brother, two sisters and a widowed mother, all residents of this State, to mourn her loss. The latter, a firm Latter-day Saint, is now in her 85th year, and, since her husband's death, has made her home with the deceased. She has been quite feeble of late, and her daughter's death was a blow which it is not likely she will very long survive.

Deceased was in good health until about two weeks before her death, when her sufferings commenced. She continued to be up and about until Saturday, March 15th, when she took to her bed, and, notwithstanding the best medical attendance that could be procured, continued to grow worse until the following Friday morning, when she seemed to realize that her hour had come. She called her husband to her bedside, gave him careful instructions as to her burial, etc., making the dying request that he would endeavor to secure my attendance at her funeral, but if that could not be, she was indifferent as to who conducted it. She then placed her hand upon her husband's head, and left her dying blessing, and at noon precisely breathed her last.

Though separated from the main body of the Church from the time of her baptism till her death, with the exception of a visit made to Utah in company with her husband in 1871, Sister Carleton never faltered in the way of truth. Moving in a circle of society in which her religion was held in special odium, she was too excellent an example of its virtues to be held in other than the highest esteem by all who came in contact with her, and the example of her character and life have done a great deal in removing prejudice from the minds of a great many who were much surprised in being told what her religion was. Very many of the poor and indigent in her neighborhood have reason to remember her kindness and generosity, for she, in her quiet, unostentatious way, often and freely dispensed charity among them, and many of the elders, who have traveled in this region, will have grateful memories of the hospitality and generosity of "Sister Rinnie." Particularly is this the case with myself.

Her husband, Mr. Carleton, is well known and very highly respected for his moral and business qualities, and, while not a professor of religion himself, accords to all full liberty of conscience. He is one of the honorable men of the earth, has often extended hospitality to the elders, and has spoken freely in the defense of our people. He was devotedly attached to his wife, whose great desire was to have him see as she saw, and settle in Utah.

Immediately after her death, he endeavored to communicate with me at Boston, but I had just gone to Rhode Island, and from there to New York, before his letter overtook me.

On its receipt I took the first steamer to Boston, and thence by rail to Georgetown, arriving yesterday. The funeral had been over some days and had been conducted by Mr. Weston, a Universalist minister.

And thus has passed away one of the most exemplary Latter-day Saints I ever knew. Peace to her ashes and comfort to those who mourn her departure.

The local papers gave full accounts of the funeral and touching eulogies on the character of the deceased, which, however, could do no more than justice to her virtues.

Respectfully your brother in the gospel,

B. F. CUMMINGS, JR.
