

HARVARD MEN GAME LOSERS

Make no Complaint Against Cambridge Crew Over Loss Of Race.

ENGLISHMEN TOO STRONG.

But Harvard Would Like a Try at Them in Home Waters Next Year.

London, Sept. 9.—While naturally keenly disappointed at their failure to defeat the Cambridge crew, the Harvard oarsmen are offering no excuses. During the five weeks spent on the Thames they exerted every effort to reach that form which they hoped would enable them to win and entered their boat in perfect condition, but as was proved, this was not sufficient to overthrow the English crack university crew, which Captain Filley and his men candidly admit was too strong for them.

The Americans rowed their best from start to finish, and took advantage of every lesson they had learned since reaching England, and did not lose hope until Cambridge crossed the line. The only wish now is to have an opportunity of meeting the wearers of the light blue in American waters.

The Harvard men, having completed the serious work of their visit, are devoting their last week in England to pleasure. They paid an early visit to their training quarters at Putney this morning, after which they went to the college, Cambridge, where John Harvard was educated. Tomorrow the men will go to West Wallingford, where they will meet the American ambassador, and Mrs. Reid, returning here Tuesday.

LONDON PRESS COMMENT.

London, Sept. 10.—All the morning newspapers devote much space to commenting on the Harvard-Cambridge boat race and while glorifying in the sustained prestige of the English crew, they pay a high tribute to Harvard's pluck and clean sportsmanship.

The Daily Mail says the Americans proved gallant losers and merited the universal admiration they received, adding: "It is pleasant to discover that there are some things we can learn from the Atlantic on still held as our own despite the steady loss of much of our best blood to the United States and the colonies."

Writing for some time past Vivian Nickalls who predicted a victory for Harvard, says:

"Harvard adopted the wrong tactics. We would, however, learn something from the Americans in the matter of sailing, but we are a conservative lot and I don't think the race will teach us anything. The Daily News believes that the Cambridge victory was not so much that of men as of methods. The well-known oarsman, R. B. Etherington-Smith, writing in the Daily News, says he feels convinced that Harvard had far more latent power in their crew than the Cambridge men, and if taught by one of the few good English coaches it would be hard to find a crew to beat them."

The Daily Telegraph says:

"There is an atmosphere in what is called sport today which has been somewhat unduly fostered in America, and deeply felt in this country—the atmosphere of mercenary, businesslike calculation. It is good for both nations that the true spirit should have been made manifest by such a race as Saturday's."

Further on the editor says:

"There was a most fortunate coincidence after the regrettable circumstances which led to the suggestion that Americans in the future would be welcomed at the Harvard summer and shown Englishmen that there are true amateurs in America."

Guy Nickalls, in the Morning Post, finds among the many lessons taught by the race that "the days of the professional rowing club are numbered."

All the writers hope that international races will become more frequent and that Yale will send a crew to England if she wins next year at New London.

AUK A FAVORITE.

If Wind Today Reaches Any Velocity Chances Are Against the Vim.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 9.—With the situation of the reports for the Hovey cup entered in yesterday's race, the question among the yachtsmen at Marblehead today was which of the three remaining contenders, the American yacht Vim and Auk and the German yacht Wannee, would win tomorrow's fifth race of the regatta. The Vim, which is the New York boat Vim having two legs in the cup and the Auk of Boston and the Wannee sailing club each.

The course tomorrow will be triangular one, and it seems to be the opinion tonight that if the wind attains a velocity of over six miles an hour the chances would favor the Auk.

PITCHER ESSICK.

Will Make Debut in Major League Company.

Portland, Sept. 9.—Pitcher Bill Essick, who was sold to Cincinnati along with Larry McLean, has left to make his debut in the major league company. Bill is one of the best pitchers that ever wore a local uniform, but he has a weakness, which is that he may not be able to hold the big fellows, although Ned Hanlon is supposed to be one of the cleverest manipulators of young talent and may break the bonds of his bad habit. Essick has everything in the pitching line, and more than some twirlers who have made good in the big leagues, but he is woefully weak in holding his position. He may be taught to remedy this defect after a few months' experience up there, and if he overcomes it he will have easy sailing among that company.

NEW AUTO RECORD.

Run of Richard Little and C. D. Herty From Coast to Coast Successful.

San Francisco, Sept. 9.—R. H. Little and C. D. Herty, who in company with three expert chauffeurs, left New York Aug. 18 in an automobile seeking to reduce the trans-continental tourist car record of thirty-three days, arrived here tonight. The trip occupied twenty-four days, eight hours and forty-five minutes, including all stops, thus lowering the record by nearly nine days.

END OF SEAGIRT SHOOT.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 9.—With about 30 competitors to participate in the final, the national match will be completed tomorrow. The firing will be at the so-called long and the 1,000-yard range.

NEW SWIMMING RECORD.

New York, Sept. 10.—The record of swimming the Hudson river was reduced by 16 minutes yesterday by Miss Alice Fitzgerald of this city. The swim was between points where the river is one mile and three-quarters wide, and Miss Fitzgerald swam it in 57 minutes and a half.

Six miles above Quebec, near the point where the St. Lawrence at low water is somewhat less than 2,000 feet wide, a cantilever bridge is being built. It is of the American pattern and steel. As Brooklyn bridge had to yield the palm to the Forth bridge in 1890, so now the Forth must yield it to the St. Lawrence.

The central span of the Canadian bridge is 1,800 feet long, stretching almost from bank to bank. The central suspended girder is 475 feet long and 130 feet deep at the center. The width of the anchor spans is 500 feet; of the approach spans, 210 feet. Two tracks will carry the railroad traffic. There will be roadways for road and street car traffic. So our Canadian cousins are to have "the longest bridge span in the world."—Everybody's Magazine.

Leggins vs. Rattlers.

Rattlemakes have appeared in such enormous numbers in the rich wheat fields of the upper Columbia river country that harvesters have been driven to use extraordinary precaution to avoid being bitten. The use of leggings made of sheet tin is a common practice, and has been strongly recommended for general adoption. In one wheat field 50 rattlers were counted.—Spokane Dispatch.

Boston Views the "Remains."

It had been a strenuous afternoon for the devoted teacher who took six of her pupils through the Museum of Natural History, but his charges had enjoyed every minute of the time.

"Where have you been boys?" asked the father of two of the party that night, and the answer came with joyous promptness:

"We've been to a dead circus."—Youth's Companion.
