The communica-tion is in reply to several inquiries made by Mr. Davis in regard to the geological survey. The first ques-tion which Mr. King replies to is whether under the provisions of the sundry civil act referred to in the joint resolution, he would be able to make a geological survey which will show the mineral resources of the whole country. Mr. King says the act referred to created an officer called director of the geological sur-vey, and provided that he should vey, and provided that he should Mrs. Lockwood further declares that have charge of the survey of the she is prepared to prove that her geological structure and mineral resources of the "National Domain," a term which is held by the Depart-ment of the Interior to signify pub-ild lands.
