LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

BENEFIT NIGHT.—To-night, the performance at the Theatre is for the benefit of Mr. W. T. Harris, prompter, and also favorably known as a comedian. The bill is very excellent, the performance commencing with the beautiful drama, "Ireland As It Was," in which Mr. Harris will appear as "Ragged Pat" and Kate Denie as "Judy O'Trot." Messrs. Hardie, Lindsay, Graham and others will appear in the piece. Miss Clive, the famous danceress, will dance a Spanish medley, which will be followed by "Gisippus," a negro farce, & Ben Cotton, the characters being sustained by Messrs. Harris and Hardie.

The whole to conclude with the operatic extravaganza, "Womby Lind at Last." This is a very laughable piece and has never been presented here before. Kate Denie will appear as "Jeany Leatherlum," and during the piece she will sing "Call me thine own," and "I dream I dwell," while Mr. Margets will also give dues, "Old King Cole," and "Breakdown."

This is a splendid variety bill, and in such good hands will assure a delicious entertainment, and will be well worthy of public patronage.

LITHOTOMY.—The operation of lithotomy or cutting for stone in the bladder, was successfully performed on Monday by Dr. Anderson, on a boy nine years old, son of Bro. Calvin Moore of Battle Creek. Drs. Bushard, Fowler and Tait assisted in the operation. The stone was of the kind known as mulberry or oxalate of lime, weighing over one pound. The surface was thickly studded with sharp tubercles. It weighed exactly half an ounce and was one and one-eighth of an inch long, one inch wide and three-fourths of an inch thick. The boy is doing well.

LIVERPOOL.—The Millennial Star of the 10th ult. says:

"Liverpool was all alive on Monday, Nov. 1, with the municipal elections (women voting) and the opening of the street railroad. The portion opened runs from the Dingle along Great George, Berry, Remshaw, Lime, Elliot, Church, Lord, and Castle Streets to the Town Hall, continuing thence along Dale and Manchester streets, St. John's Lane, and Lime Street to the top of Elliot Street, forming a circle. A branch will be made up Scotland Road to Walton Lane. Ten cars or carriages, each drawn by two or three horses, and twenty-fourty-two passengers inside and twenty-four outside, are running. All the carriages were built at New York."

POLICE.—Wm. Welsh, a patron of Bacchus, was favored with an audience before Alderman Clinton, this morning. Will has figured before his Honor formerly, and must be fond of living in a rock house, for he has on several occasions been an inmate of the elegant quarters provided by the city authorities for those who break the law. Being a little top-heavy last night he conceived the notion to visit a spot where he had spent so many (in) happy hours, but being rather boisterous, the officer in charge compelled him to go "way on pain of being locked up. Not wishing to mar the good feelings existing between himself and said functionary, he reluctantly departed, and was next seen emerging from the basement room of the "Chicago Restaurant" bearing on his back a sack of flour; but he had not gone far before he perceived some one in pursuit; he darted off like a young deer, still retaining his hold on the sack of flour. Through the mud he dashed along in the most reckless manner, but was finally captured, near the Townsend House and escorted to the lock-up. Alderman Clinton fined him $5; but not being in possession of the money, he was permitted to join a few other notables in the lock-up.

Pat Mulligan and Robert Jones, two other worthies who had been imbibing too freely of the "bitters" were each permitted to subscribe to the public funds ten and fifteen dollars respectively; but being similarly situated to their brother unfortunate, they were transferred to prison.

CAPTAIN BRINE.—We had an exceedingly pleasant interview with Captain Lindsey Brine of the British Navy to-day. The Captain is on a pleasure tour over the American Continent, many portions of which he has already visited. He is charmed with the location and appearance of Salt Lake City, and thinks it by far the most beautiful place he has yet seen in America. He has traveled a good deal in Oriental climes and is struck with the similarity of location between this and some of the cities in the Holy Land, and is of opinion that Utah should be called the Syria of the Western-hemisphere. He has read considerably in relation to the history of the "Mormon" people and has been much interested in their movements and welfare in the past; but after visiting Utah, and noticing the evidences of industry, good order and morality that everywhere present themselves here, his interest in their success and prosperity will be far greater in the future.

THE STORMY WEATHER OVER.—The delirious weather which has prevailed for the past few days, seems to have passed away, and, though the air is keen and biting to-day, the sun shines brightly and the atmosphere is clear. It is to be hoped, for the sake of many who have small wood piles and but little means to replenish them, that we shall have quite a spell of pleasant weather yet before winter fully sets in. This is unusually early for frost and snow to make a permanent stay in the valleys in this region.

SPRINGVILLE.—Brother W. M. Brownley, writing from Springville on the 29th ult. says:

"Winter has apparently set in, snowing all day yesterday. The people are now engaged in hauling lumber from Hobble Creek canyon for the mill and factory in Provo. Co-operation is flourishing and general peace prevails."

LAMY CHIMNEY CLEANER, ETC.—Miles & Jones, the new co-operative brush firm, have sent us one of Morgan's self-sealing mucilage bottles and a lamp chimney cleaner, both of them very useful articles in every office. It is claimed for the mucilage bottle that the mouth will not clog up like the old style, and that by means of the chimney cleaner a lamp glass or chimney may be cleaned instantaneously and perfectly without the least risk of breaking. Both articles and all kinds of brushes may be purchased at their store, three doors west of Theatre. These gentlemen have had a long experience in the brush-making business, one in this country, the other in England, and articles of home manufacture in their line, will no doubt be placed in the market fully equal to anything imported. Give them a trial.
