IDEAL OF THE SCHOOL.

It has also been claimed that this institution should not only do any higher or university work, but should leave all such instruction to the university and colleges of the state. The general consensus of opinion among our people, however, as far as we have been able to learn it, is that those who are mistaken who hold this view. While the institution should not and undoubtedly will not undertake any work that is beyond its resources, and that is not demanded by its patrons, and while it is not the intention to present unnecessary duplication of the courses given in the state institutions, we have the policy to be settled that the institution shall aim to give the highest instruction it can provide. Just what that may mean, the course of future events must decide. The ideal of our school, however, remains the same that it has been, namely, "to found a university with colleges, academies, schools, institutions, museums, galleries of art, libraries, laboratories, gymnasiums and all proper accessories, where instruction of the highest grade possible to its resources shall be given to young people of both sexes in science, literature, art, mechanical pursuits, and in the principles of the Gospel as taught by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints."

CONDITION AND PROGRESS.

A few words concerning the condition and progress of the institution. For the first time in our history, an adequate chemical laboratory has been provided, also the direct use of our library in a reading room, with the constant service of a salaried librarian. The mechanical arts department, introduced this year, has been eminently successful and we hope at once to extend its sphere of action. The addition of the Salt Lake business college, effected this year, has made our commercial equipment as complete as that of the best business schools in the country. The greatest improvement, however, have taken place in the work of the regular four-year courses, in which the increased teaching forces and the improved facilities for instruction have resulted in more uniform and systematic method of class work in almost every department. The total enrollment of students for the year has been 123, being, by a singular coincidence, the same as the total enrollment of last year. The attendance this year, however, shows a gratifying increase in the number of regular students in the most important departments, classified as follows: Preparatory students, 73; last year this enrollment was 64; kindergarten training, 47; last year, 32; evening German class, 19; last year, 20; music students, 62; as compared with a total of 227 last year; business college, 604; last year, 425; high school and normal, 410; last year, 283. Last year there were also 49 students of physicians and hygienists from the training course for nurses conducted by the Relief society and classified as special high school students. This year this course was not given, the decrease in the attendance at the missionary course from 227 last year to 62 this year has been due to causes over which the school, as such, has no control, and there has been a somewhat similar decrease in other Church schools. Our plans for the training of missionary students next year include a system of actual practice that it is believed will supply the former lack of what may be termed the laboratory method in this department. We began this year the work of concentrating in some degree the work of music instruction given by various eminent professors of the art in this city, as a first step in the direction of a conservatory of music. A notable part of this work was the successful training of a conductor's class in vocal music by Prof. Stephens and a small class in harmony by Prof. Shepherd. We have so arranged this vocal course for next year that all the students of music in the school will have the opportunity of this peculiarly practical training in higher branches of the vocal art. For the ensuing school year, we have decided to make the course in business college work strictly professional, and to give the four-year commercial course in the high school department; to strengthen the normal course by further instruction in the various branches of science and by the addition of a course in normal training; to remove the domestic arts, sewing, dressmaking, etc., to more commodious apartments in the Brigham Young memorial building; to utilize the memorial room as a class room, and Barratt hall as a study room, by making some changes in the furniture. The total number of students has far increased for the ensuing year and the contemplated additions to the apparatus are so important that the standing of the school in the work which it is at present giving is now placed beyond all reasonable question as to its quality, thoroughness and efficiency. And for these advantages, we, as guardians, in a sense, of the educational interests of the people whom we especially represent, feel that we only speak out the sentiment of every patron of the school in expressing thanks to the Alma Mater of all those who have been instrumental in founding and to those who have been constant in sustaining this institution of our people.

THE VALEDICTORY.

The valedictory address was delivered by Miss Pearl Mitchell. It was a modest and straightforward statement of the benefits of a Church school training, in part as follows: "It has been our privilege to pursue a course of instruction under the good influences of this institution. While studying the various branches of science, art, and literature, we have been impressed with the beautiful truths they have had for us. Our Alma Mater has given us higher ideals, and a deeper appreciation of the good, the true, and the beautiful in life. "True education is a process of developing the soul. It produces men and women with strong moral characters, who will not only live better lives themselves, but who will be better qualified to help their fellow men to improve. Our Alma Mater has given us something that we consider to be of greater value than all other things. We have been taught concerning God and His dealings with men. We have been strengthened in our faith in the Gospel. We have imbibed a feeling of reverence for sacred things. Christ, the one perfect man, has ever been held up before us as a type of all that is noble in life. In imitation of whom every soul should endeavor to live. "We have duties and obligations to perform proportionate to the blessings we enjoy. Our Alma Mater has given us its gifts of thought and feeling. For this we shall ever remain its debtors. We are the fruits of its labor and shall be known as such. Our course in life will be observed. If we prove ourselves to be all that is expected of us, credit will be reflected upon the school. And, whatever it be, we will come into our lives with the to the harm of our Alma Mater. Only in our best endeavors does the reward of our school."

DR. TALMAGE'S ADDRESS.

A brief synopsis will give but an inadequate impression of the glowing address delivered by Dr. J. B. Talmage. He began by calling attention to the frequency of graduations in our schools while thousands of young people graduate yearly, yet like death and wedding, this event is extraordinary to those who participate in it, and is something which is always looked back upon as a pleasurable landmark in the life. Notwithstanding the objection that is so often urged against the propriety of the word "commencement" in connection with graduation he nevertheless held it to be an apt and significant word. It is in reality a commencement. The diploma awarded ed arena virtual announcement that those who receive them are well prepared for life's work, prohibitions of what they will do with the power to do that they have acquired during their school life. Those courses sometimes are regarded as long; but there are longer ones to be met with in life. It only remains what disposition shall be made of our time.

He advised the graduates to be happy; happy in tears, if need be, but to be happy. Discontent should have no room in their hearts. Happiness is a duty. "There's a good time coming," but a good time is here also. This goodness should not be passive but positive and aggressive. No pessimism or skepticism should be harbored in their hearts. There are spots on the sun, but the attention should be upon the beautiful light that gives life and warmth to the earth. There may be some earth still clinging to the roots of the lily, or a thorn embedded in the rose, but this should not deter us from appreciating the beauty and perfection of these glorious flowers.

"It may be your part to sing the trouble of the song of life, or the deep base of protest against what you know to be wrong," but whatever your part, sing it well.

He bade the graduates God-speed in their work, and trusted that the world would be the better for their having lived in it. He admonished them to cherish the words of those who had preceded them in life's work.

AWARDING OF DIPLOMAS.

President Lund of the university board awarded the diplomas in a brief well worded speech; and afterwards announced that Thos. Brighton and C. D. Stewart of the high school and Stewarts college respectively had been given the Grant scholarships for the present year; and that Owen Horsfall and Alfonso Z. Tanner of the high school, and Lawrence Nelson and Armand of the business department had been awarded the scholarships for the next year. These scholarships are for $40 each, and were given by Hon. Heber J. Grant.

The singing of Miss Parry and Miss Shipp, and Messrs. Pratt and Foster, the "Lone Starry Hour," by eight voices and the chorus from Robin Hood by 12 voices, Prof. Stephens' pupils, was very fine and received hearty applause.

IOSEPA CONFERENCE.

Hawaiian Saints and Missionaries Have An Enjoyable Gathering.

The quarterly conference of the Iosepa colony, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was held Sunday, May 22, at Iosepa, President Thomas A. Waddoups and Counselor Cole presiding, assisted by the following named missionaries: Albert W. Davis, Samuel Woolley, Jacob F. Gates, Frederick Beesley, Mathew Noall, Charles C. Bush and William Waddoups.

On Saturday evening, May 21, a short program and singing practice was given by the missionaries to members of the Iosepa choir, and on Sunday two meetings were held, commencing at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. at which Elders Davis, Gates, Woolley, Bush, Beesley, Wm. Waddoups and Mathew Noall spoke in the order given. Subjects spoken upon were: The necessity of vigilance in keeping the commandments of God; regret that so many of the Hawaiian Saints had left Iosepa to seek employment elsewhere; the benefit to be gained by perseverance, diligence, and industry; the intention to soon provide the Hawaiian Saints at Iosepa with the deeds to their homes, and general encouragement and instruction.

The sacrament was administered during the afternoon session, and President Waddoups presented the authorities of the Church, both general and local, all of whom were sustained.

All but three of the Iosepa Saints were in attendance, and these were detained at their homes on account of sickness. The spirit enjoyed in both meetings was excellent and the interest very good. The Iosepa colony has a good choir under the leadership of James Halemanu, while Sister Annie Alopa presided at the organ, with marked ability. The work of the choir added materially to the interest in the meetings held. On Sunday evening the missionaries joined with the choir in giving a sacred concert which was appreciated alike by both Hawaiians and "hole's" (visitors).

Several of the missionaries visited the fields, yards and homes of the people. The Saints appear to feel well and are as prosperous as could be expected. The fields look well, the lucern crop is in fine condition, and wheat and other crops are flourishing.

To the visitors the trip was an enjoyable one, as they were pleased to note the healthy condition, temporarily and specially of the Saints residing in that section.

COAL MINERS ANXIOUS.

Wire to Salt Lake Regarding Labor Agitation Conference.

Upon receipt of a morning paper at Winter Quarters this morning setting forth that Manager Williams of the Utah Fuel company would hold a conference with the strike agitators with the object in view of arriving at an amicable settlement of the alleged existing labor troubles in Carbon county, the miners in the employ of the company were considerably worked up. Indicative of the feeling of the men a wire was sent to Mr. Williams this morning from the foreman of the mine asking if the story as printed were true and asking for a reply.

Apparently the men did not relish the thought of the striking agitators taking their places or even working among them to stir up strife. Manager Williams, however, wired back the true state of affairs.

In course of conversation this morning Mr. Williams stated to the "News" that he was more than pleased at the class of men who were now working in the mines. Contrary to the expectation of the strikers, he declares that the green men are turning out to be first class miners and are doing even better work than the Italians did. In corroboration of this statement he exhibited the pay roll just made up today, wherein it showed that the men were making on an average of $4 a day, more money than under conditions nearly all of which remain a right in the state. Mr. Williams asserted that the company also sold considerably more commercial coal during the month of April than it did during the same month of last year.

DRUMMERS VS MERCHANTS

Big Time at Logan is Scheduled by Commercial Men.

On Wednesday, June 1, Logan will be the scene of one of the biggest and most ambitious fetes that have been held in Cache valley for some time. On that date, which is also President Brigham Young's birthday, the commercial travelers of Utah and Idaho will meet with the merchants of Cache valley and indulge in a right royal time, the financial proceeds of which will be devoted to the poor of Cache valley and will take the form of donations of coal and necessities next fall.

At 8 a. m. the Oregon Short Line will run a special out of Salt Lake to accommodate the large crowd from here which has gathered for the occasion of going. It is anticipated that Mayor Morris and the members of the city council will go up to Logan for the occasion, while the number of delegates extended to Utah's Senators and representative to be present in addition to a number of prominent citizens. Held's last will also be on the list.

Upon arrival at Logan the excursionists will mass with those brought down on a special from Pocatello and Idaho points and a grand parade up town will follow, a number of prizes have been offered for the most attractive floats in line.

The great athletic event, however, will be the football game, that is, a pick-up game of the traveling men and the merchants of Cache valley.

Serious assertions are forthcoming to the effect that the game will be an all-star affair and already considerable money is said to have been placed in anticipation of a battle royal. The line-up of the opposing teams is being kept a profound secret, but it is feared there may be attempts made to kidnap the batteries at the last moment.

After the ball game, which commences at 5 p. m. all hands will be allowed to take a breathing spell until evening when they will adjourn to the Thatcher pavilion, a new $20,000 structure, where they will trip the light fantastic with the belles of Cache until the wee small hours.

For the accommodation of those who are forced to tear themselves away from the festive scene on account of business the Oregon Short Line will run a special back to Salt Lake that night, but tickets will be good returning the next day.

The Oregon Short Line has put in a flat rate of $2.50 for the round trip.

U. OF U. BANQUET.

Alumni Association Will Have A Glorious Time Tuesday Night.

The Alumni association of the University of Utah will give its annual banquet and ball on the U. of U. campus, Tuesday evening, May 24.

The regular monthly meeting of the general officers, board of directors and missionaries will be held on Friday, June 3, 1904, in the L. D. S. business

Tuesday, May 31, at 8 p. m. The evening will be spent as follows: 8 to 9, informal dancing; 9 to 11, banquet, music and toasts; 11 p. m. to 1 a. m., dancing. Special cars will run to Main street till 1 a. m. in order to accommodate those who may attend. Those who have not sent notice of their coming are asked to be present anyway, as arrangements have been made for extra members. A full attendance is expected.

MURRAY'S WATER SUPPLY.

To be Increased by Building Pipe Line And Installing Pumping Plant.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at Murray last night at which ways and means were discussed for providing the city with a permanent water supply. The meeting was called to order by Councilman Stratton, after which several schemes were considered, the most feasible, however, being that to sink artesian wells in the vicinity of the South Cottonwood meetinghouse, sufficient to secure a flow of perhaps 75 gallons per minute, and then pipe the water into the city. The scheme involves the use of 10 4 and 4-inch pipes, the installation of a pumping plant and the extension of the system along all the principal streets of the city. The estimated cost will be about $20,000.

The meeting adjourned without any definite plan of action being decided upon, but the probabilities are that another meeting will be held soon at which committees will be appointed to authorize the work done.

An awning belonging to Mr. Christensen, the photographer, was stolen from the car terminus this morning.

ALBERT JONES NOT DEAD.

The news wired to this paper from Pocatello concerning the demise of Albert W. Jones was a mistake, although Mr. Jones is a very sick man, and has been a long time past. The death referred to, however, was in the same family, Mrs. Jones' father, Peter Affleck, having passed away. The correction is made by the "News" correspondent at Pocatello, who very much regrets the mistake made.

Amusements

By invitation from the authorities of Granite stake the Eighteenth ward minstrels will make a second visit here on Friday evening next. The company left such a decidedly pleasant impression on its first visit that the committee in charge assures them that they will do large business on their return. In the advertisement of the event that appears on the dramatic page of this issue, the admission price was given as 10 cents, a typographical error. It should have been put down as 25 cents.

AT THE RESORTS.

All the resorts are getting in shape for the opening on Monday when Salt Lake will have more sanitariums for that tired feeling than any other city of its size in the country.

All is in readiness at Saltair for the opening. By way of a preliminary there will be a special train leave at 7:45 this evening to accommodate the dancers and then the gates will be thrown wide open. The regular weekly balls have been the occasion for a successful run.

Lagoon will throw down the bars this evening when the initial ball of the season on the new floor will be in order. Manager Jacob Bergerman has closed a contract with Held's band to furnish the music there this summer. This week the gardeners have been out in force planting flowers and generally getting the place into shape.

Another resort which is practically right in town is the Utah National park, situated between Third and Fourth South on East Temple street. Manager Courtney has opened a vaudeville theater on the grounds and will cater to family patronage. Only soft drinks will be sold.

Out at Alder's park, Manager Levy is getting ready to entertain visitors through the summer. He has caused the lake to be cleaned out, all the boats overhauled and painted, erected a new dance hall and instituted a number of changes which will be appreciated by patrons. The Utah State band, under Prof. Pedersen, has been secured for concert work.

GENERAL RELIEF SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the general officers, board of directors and missionaries will be held on Friday, June 3, 1904, in the L. D. S. business
