FATAL COLLISION ON O. S. L.

Engineer John C. Van Why Killed-Divorce and Other Court Cases -School Board Meeting,

The recent airing, in the columns of the press, of an "individual" interjangle is deplorable only to the extent that it menaces the larger good women may hope to accomplish through organization and the reputation they covet for tact, the propries, good will, graciousness and poise,

In fact women collectively, via organization, cannot hope to inject any perceptible measure of goodness into the turgid stream of life unless they freely surrender all personal bias and pettiness to the paramount purpose of their organizations. To be widely help-ful, organizations, and individuals as well, must have an abiding, heavenborn faith in humanity, a rationed tole-erance of human fallibility, and a char-ity which shines out like the sun, gildog even the meanest objects. Whenever we indulge in hateful tendeticles we are gravitating, by so much, toward a downward and groveling course. It is from an alliance of the verthieth qualities in womanhood, from merger of the highest capabilities of good women everywhere, that the domwomen's associations, world, ational, and state, may expect widely

The individual must be dense indeed does not recognize that there is no this wide world where a really spot in this wide world where a really beneficent work can be carried on it political and religious differences are kept constantly flying in the air. Hu-man nature is so constituted that both subjects in agitation are capable of bringing out as many bristling points as the porcupine, and of inflicting as many stings on the handling. The affairs of the human race a recorded in history show the seasons of serious political and religious disturbnces to have been so many periods or essation in the advancement of the fine arts, invention, education, and the practise and extension of the common ndustries upon which the fundamental well-being of society rests. The nawell-being of society rests. The na-tional and healthy growth of communiimpeded where es in religion and politics ays uppermost. of the Utah state federation.

That all club women greatly degrecate indulgence in the personalities which Mrs. Nelden has so urgently solicited, goes without saying. The discernment of Mrs. Nelden does not, evidently, reach out to the broad result, and the full harvest of her zeal; but is entirely satisfied in courting methods states has given him much praise for his masterly work with the pencil.
