Sunday School Convention Has an Interesting Time.

DAY'S SESSION.

IMPORTANT BUSINESS DONE

Instructions to Teachers-George Rey nolds in the General Superintendency-Answers to Questions.

Monday evening's session, of the Sunday school convention began at 1 o'clock. "For the strength of the hills we bless Thee," was the opening hymn. Elder James . Ure offered prayer.

Elder Joseph Ballantyne conducted the song service, and practice on the following hymns: "Far, far away, on Judea's plains," "God is Love" and "The Sabbath Day." "Literature for the Sunday School" was the theme of Elder L. John Nuttall's brief address. The Descret Sunday School Union had been engaged for some years past in preparing suitable literature to aid the Sunday school workers in making Latter-day Saints of our children. That there may be uniformity in text books throughout all the schools of the Church, the Sunday School Board recommends as text books, the four standard works of the Church, namely, the Bible, the Book of Mormon, Doctrine and Covenants and Pearl of Great Price, and as useful helps the following works: Articles of Faith by Talmage, Story of the Book of Mormon by Reynolds, Life of the Prophet Joseph Smith by George Q. Cannon, the Faith Promoting Series, published by the Sunday School Union, and the various Leaflet and other lesson helps. The Juvenile Instructor, as the organ of the Church Sunday schools, and the Sunday School Treatise should be in the hands of every Sabbath school worker. The Sunday school literature published by the religious socleties of the world is not suited to the use of Latter-day Saint schools. Much of it is pernicious and hurtful and should find no place in the Sabbath schools of the Saints. Elder D. O. Mackey followed with an instructive address on "Marching as a Sunday School Exercise," Marching aids in systemtizing the school work, economizes time, promotes order and neulcates prompt obedience, and the speaker urged greater attention to this feature of the Sunday school work, particularly among the older members and teachers, who should set example in this as well as in every thing else.

Appropriateness in the music marching was illustrated by Prof. Mc-Clellan playing first a sacred march, which necessitated a slow, dragging movement, out of place for children; Of the retiring members, Messrs. the other extreme was illustrated Giauque and Moyle probably will be a few strains of a something akin to a two step movement. A selection consistent and timely music followed in presenting the familiar "Marching Homeward" of the Sunday School "Marching music book. By care and attention marching can be made a pleasing and attractive exercise, which will aid very materially in the discipline and inter-

A solo, "With verdure clad," Haydn, was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Lizzle Thomas-Edward, General Superintendent George Q. Cannon, speaking upon the subject of Sunday school literature, desired to emphasize the importance of using only our own Church literature in the schools. Imported literature, he said, should be rigidly excluded fro mall the classes of the school. In reply to a question as to whether the assistants of a Sunday school superintendent ceased holding office when the superintendent was removed, or lied. President Cannon said that they did not cease to hold office, but retained their authority and position, in this respect differing from the counse. lors to a Bishop.

President Cannon stated that at the meeting of the Sunday School Board in the afternoon another member of the general superintendency had been chosen to fill the vacancy caused by he death of George Goddard. George Reynolds, who has been connected with he organization as long and is as famhar with its workings as any man living, was chosen to fill this vacancy. The action of the board was unanimously endorsed by the vote of the assembly

President Cannon referred to the Juvenile Instructor, now the property of the Union, and bespoke for it the loyal support of all Sunday school workers was the Sunday school organ and if it were more generally read than now any of the queries sent in to the question box would not need to be answered in the convention, as they have been replied to frequently in the Instructor.

Elder Joseph W. Summerhays explained the purchase of the Juvenile Instructor by the Deseret Sunday School Union. At its next meeting the nion Board will organize and appoint a business management and editorial corps, as on January 1, 1901, the In-structor comes under the management of the board and the property of the Sunday School Union.

To a number of questions which had been handed in, Elder George Reynolds the following replies:

Where the assistant superintendents ssist in conducting the exercises of the Union Board, the superintendent pre-sides, and the minutes should so state, sisted in conducting the exercises." The Sacrament should be administered to all departments of the school, whether they meet in the general assembly room or otherwise.

Schools should not be adjourned for Stake quarterly conferences, except in the city or ward where such confernce is held.

When children are tardy at the Sacrament and the bread has been passed it is proper for them to partake of the water if in time to do so. During the passing of the Sacrament no other business should be carried on. Appro-priate remarks, singing or music on the rgan may be had with propriety dur-ng the passing of the emblems. Ten minute singing practice should be held every Sunday morning, and it preferable to do so immediately before the classes are separated for department work.

The leaflets may be used in all the d to the capacity of the members of the class. Prof. W. C. Clive favored the audience with an artistic violin selo, cc-companied on the piano. A thirty second silent drill was next iven. This is instituted in the Sunday school preparatory to the admin-istration of the Sacrament, and has a very pleasing effect in impressing upon the minds of the children the sacred-

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well-known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms ap-pear we have found that the dreaded roup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy, for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. SALVATION FOR
