

THE SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS

Issued Mondays and Thursdays and Contains All the Cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Joshua Satterthwaite—The address of Joshua Satterthwaite is desired by his niece, Mrs. Alice Johnson, who resides at 415 West Eighth street, Traverse City, Michigan.

Teachers Needed—County Supt. of Schools Smith announces that he is in need of 20 experienced primary and grammar grade teachers for the county schools for the coming year and will receive applications for such positions.

West Point Appointment—A representative from Utah to West Point will be named by Congressman Howell in the near future, as requested by the secretary of war. The appointment and day of examination will be announced later.

Bell Gets 20 Days—Judge C. B. Diehl yesterday sentenced George Bell to serve 20 days in the city jail for an assault upon Paul Peters, an aged porter in a Commercial street saloon. The attack was said to have been very brutal in its nature. Bell is a husky fellow, 19 years old.

Work On Bridge—Work commenced this morning on the bridge to connect the road in City Creek canyon with the Wasatch boulevard, and it is expected that the work will be rushed to a speedy completion, so that ere long the boulevard can be used by the public. It promises to be one of the finest drives in the country.

Guard Wants Horses—Horses to the number of 100 will be required for the encampment of the mounted organizations of the National Guard of Utah to be held in August, at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo. The animals will be selected in this city and in Davis county, and will be used as saddle horses and for the field batteries.

Outing Company—Articles of incorporation of the Snake River Outing company of this city have been filed in the county clerk's office. The capital stock of the company is $10,000 divided into shares of the par value of $100 each. T. R. Cutler is president; Mark Austin, vice president; R. W. Young, secretary and treasurer.

D. J. Driscoll's Funeral—Daniel J. Driscoll, the young man who was killed by the explosion of a soda water tank, Monday afternoon, was buried yesterday from St. Mary's cathedral. A requiem was held at 11 o'clock and the service was by Father M. J. Donovan. Many relatives and friends of the deceased were in attendance, and the services were very impressive. Driscoll was 22 years of age and formerly resided in Park City.

Boys Bound Over—Harry Clark and Harry Cook, the two young men accused of burglarizing the Sanitarium and St. Nicholas hotels, waived preliminary examination yesterday afternoon and were held to the district court. Both boys are under 18 years of age, but as they are accused of a felony the juvenile court has no jurisdiction in the premises. Soren X. Christensen is guardian and attorney for Clark and Cook.

Proclamation Received—The local receiver of the United States land office has received copies of the president's proclamation for the opening of the Crows and the Wind River Indian reservations. The former is in Montana, and the days of registration are from June 14 to 28, at Miles City and Billings, Montana, and Sheridan, Wyoming. The dates for registration for the Wind river drawing are from July 15 to 31, at Lander, Shoshone, Thermopolis and Worland, Wyoming.

Art Gallery Closed—The Holmes art gallery, adjoining the Amelia palace, is closed for the season. It was open to the public for a period of eight days, but the attendance was not as large as on former occasions when the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes has been extended to the lovers of art. Three paintings by H. L. A. Culmer of the natural bridges of San Juan county have been recently added to the Holmes collection, and will doubtless be sent east to some of the large galleries of the country.

New Schoolhouse—The trustees of the Jordan school district met Tuesday and opened bids for the construction of a school house at Union. Bids were also called for the construction of a building at Blingham but no bids were received for that work. The Union building will be a $20,000 structure but the lowest bid received yesterday was $27,000 hence all bids were rejected and the work readvertised. It was also decided to readvertise for bids for the Blingham building, all bids to be opened on July 2.

Fruit Growers to Meet—A mass meeting of the fruit growers of southern Salt Lake county, under the auspices of the Jordan Commercial and Producers' association, will be held in the new Opera House, Sunday, at 2 p. m. William M. Rosvance and others will be present. The object of the meeting will be to make arrangements to buy at a good market price all the fruit that is raised in that part of the country, also to discuss the advisability of establishing a packing house.

Y. W. C. A. Prosperous—The Young Women's Christian association, recently organized in Salt Lake is in a fair way to becoming a success, according to the statement of ladies having the society's affairs in hand. The temporary home is at the Dr. Anderson residence on Second East street, which has been fitted up, and of which every room is taken. It is the intention to provide meals for young ladies who are employed in offices and stores, who cannot afford to pay for expensive meals. The latter plan, however, will be more thoroughly discussed at a meeting of the board to be held today.

Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company has on deposit four million dollars. Have you an account? If not, open one of any amount, $1.00 to $5,000. Joseph F. Smith, President; George M. Cannon, Cashier.

MAV ANIMALS SCATTER SEEDS

Surprising and Useful Object Lessons Brought Out by Nature Study.

WHAT THE BIRDS ARE DOING.

Widespread Ignorance of Men is to Blame for Many Animal and Vegetable Pests.

The practical value of a knowledge of nature study was strikingly brought out in Prof. Cummings' class yesterday at the U. of U., when it was learned from the testimony of students that three great cures with which we are now afflicted in this state were purposefully brought here by well-meaning but mistaken persons who know not nature. These pests are: the sparrow, imported as a supposed insect killer; the wild burdock, imported as a medicine; and the white clover, imported as a hay or fodder. Animal and plant importers ought to know what they are doing before they act.

BIRDS AS SEED CARRIERS.

The seeds that float on the surface of inland ponds adhere to the feet and feathers of the wild ducks swimming thereon, and when these fowls fly to other ponds, perhaps far distant, they carry the seeds. The seeds will sink when the covering breaks, and will lodge in the mud, to grow again. But here the herons, cranes, and snipes wade freely, while the swallows and martins, the robins and thrushes, come in early summer, and, of course, many other birds come to the ponds to drink and bathe. As they wade in the mud it adheres, mixed with seeds, to their feet, and again the seeds may be carried away to sprout and grow in other places. Darwin produced from a teaspoonful of mud mud 37 plants—all from the seeds that had accumulated in the mud of the pond. Kerner gives a list of 31 species of pond side plants whose seeds he found in the mud taken from the beaks, feet, and feathers of swallows, snipe, wagtails and jacksnaws—species of plants now found all over the world, and which start up quite unexpectedly at places where integrating birds have rosted and gone to drink. After rainstorms, too, the seeds of land plants get mixed with the mud and adhere to the feet of birds and mammals, and many of the weedsy plants are thus spread.

Wild cherries (chokecherries) are distributed by the birds which eat them whole and then throw up from the crop the undigested stone. The robin, thrush, catbird and crow feed upon cherries.

WHAT THE CROWS DO.

Many other berries, pokeweed, poison ivy, Virginia creeper, sumach, red cedar, black alder, bayberry, barberry and wild rose, and several, and several, are carried by the birds. A typical crowfoot one pound of the average deposit contained the following number of seeds: poison ivy, 1,041; poison sumach, 341; other sumachs, 231; red cedar, 15; dogwood, 15; sour grass, 6; total of 1,484 seeds from a fair sample of surface earth from a place frequented only in the nighttime by these birds. This roost of 15 acres would furnish seed enough to cover 1,150 acres as thickly as wheat in June.

OTHER ANIMALS HELP.

Sheep are great carriers of the seeds of plants. The little white and blue flowers that bloom early in spring over the hills and mountains (forget-me-nots) have rows of small spines on each seed, and the plants grow from one to three feet high, just high enough to be caught in the wool of the sheep, the manes of the horses, the tails of cows and dogs. High trees do not bear these seeds. And, further, those plants that are not edible to animals seem to seek neighbors that are, and to grow among them. Hence these seeds are carried by the squirrel, the gopher, the prairie dog, the chipmunk, in carrying away the edible nuts. The burdock, the burdock, the crowfoot, the buttercup, beggar ticks, clover, etc., are almost universally dispersed. Many seeds, moreover, are covered with a coating like shellac that prevents their being directed when eaten by the animals. And the seed, the emigrant wagon, etc., do the same work, in other ways.

MISTAKEN FARMERS.

Two farmers who lived in the Tenth ward of this city brought in for cultivation two plants that have since have overrun almost the entire state, the white clover, which was mistakenly supposed to be a good kind of fodder, and burdock, which was supposed to have other valuable medicinal properties. Other persons prominent in this state brought in the English sparrow to eat fruit worms, but this tribe of birds live mostly on grains.

The department of agriculture has issued a volume on seeds—a book giving the facts about purity of seeds for planting, and it will pay every farmer to get a copy of it in order to select only the pure and unadulterated seeds. Certain seeds are self distributors. Pests bearing seeds often burst open, and scatter their seeds, as the balsam poplar, and it will pay every farmer to get a copy of it in order to select only the pure and unadulterated seeds. SEED BARRIERS.
Mountains, oceans, deserts, climates, may form barriers which will prevent the dispersion of plants, so that each zone has after all its characteristic vegetation. But the peach and wheat, native of Asia, and the tomato and potato, natives of America, now grow in nearly all temperate climatic regions.

SERIES OF LECTURES.

To be Delivered at University by Dr. Benjamin Andrews.

In the assembly room of the University of Utah, Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews will deliver the first of his series of lectures before the summer school of that institution, beginning at 3 o'clock. The subject of the lecture will be "Teacher's Self-culture." In the evening the gentleman will speak on "Gash and Grind in Teaching," in a meeting to be held at Barratt Hall, commencing at 8:20.

The assembly hall, on the Temple block will be the scene of Dr. Andrews' last lecture, on the "Problems of Greater America," Sunday evening at 8:30. These lectures are free, and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Dr. Andrews is an eminent educator, and is at the head of the Nebraska university. Formerly he was President of Brown university, Chicago, and went out of that institution because of his pronounced views in favor of silver. He was at one time at the head of the Chicago public schools. He is distinguished as a writer on educational subjects.

ELKS GETTING READY.

Uniforms Ordered and They May Take Juvenile Band to Denver.

Seely Raybould of Salt Lake B. P. O. E. 85, announced this morning that nearly all the uniforms have been ordered for those who propose to attend the grand lodge meeting at Denver next month.

The various committees appointed to work out the details in preparation for this big gathering are working overtime to get things in shape for the event, and it goes without saying that the local lodge will be heard from at the big convention.

It has already been announced that "85" is going after the band prize and will come mighty close to capturing it. Now, that happy individual Tom Pitt proposes to take another band along, and if satisfactory arrangements can be made, the Denver citizens will see and hear something new—a juvenile band. Mr. Pitt is doing everything in his power to arrange for the juvenile band to accompany the excursion to Colorado metropolis, and present indications are that the youthful musicians will go.

BEFORE JUDGE DIEHL.

Principal Van Cott Adjudged Guilty and Fined For Assault.

The case of the city vs. Marion Van Cott, principal of the Waterloo school, charged with assault and battery upon the person of a pupil named Duane S. Walker, which has been pending for several days, came to a conclusion this morning when Judge C. B. Diehl announced his decision in the case which he has had under advisement.

Judge Diehl did not make any extended remarks on the testimony, but adjudged Mr. Van Cott guilty as charged and imposed a fine of $10. Mr. Van Cott was represented by his attorney, Ray Van Cott, who immediately gave notice of appeal to the district court. The defendant was then released upon his own recognizance pending the filing of the notice of appeal. Judge Diehl believes that he was justified in doing what he did to the Walker boy, and thinks he will be vindicated in the higher court.
