The Apaches.

[CONCLUDED.]

That Crook chafed under this state of affairs is not to be wondered at, but it continued until General Howard, another peace commissioner, came among us, yes, and long after. With him came a Mr. Smith, who had dealings with Minnesota savages, and, who consequently saw at a glance, that the Apaches needed whipping before being petted and fed. Howard pretended to see matters in the same light, and after his failure to coax the savages into being good, word was given Crook to up and at them. He commenced re-organizing for the work, with serious misgivings of again being stopped; but nevertheless, kept at it until the organized several bands of friendly Indians, worked his officers and men up to something like a fighting standard, when he sailed into the Apaches, and has ever since been giving them good medicine; medicine that has acted well the part of an antidote to the poison instilled by the peace fliters.

In January last, he, with 12 companies of cavalry and 100 friendly Indians, was within striking distance of Cachise and his hundreds of cut-throats, ready to force them to abandon their murderous forays upon citizens of Mexico, and to disarm them; but the wily Cachise fell back upon the treaty he had made with Howard, which, according to Cachise, (for not a single copy of the treaty could be found in the Territory,) gave himself and warriors full license to murder and rob Mexicans and to retain their arms upon the reservation! So, two months of preparation—two of the best months of the year for scouting, were lost to Crook, all through Gen. Howard's criminal blunders or desire to play into the hands of the murderers of that race to which, unfortunately, Gen. Howard belongs.

But for this delay and second blocking of the war wheels, peace would have been declared several months ago; the lives of 50 white persons and over 200 Indians would have been saved, and the great amount of property taken by Apaches would still be in possession of its rightful owners.

But, thanks to President Grant, who, regardless of the pleadings and threats of Eastern thieves and fanatics, has permitted Crook to save us from our Apache enemies, in his own good way, a signal victory over our foes is now won; this too, at a trifling cost in money; at the sacrifice of but few lives, and with a less force than that which former commanders here have had at their disposal, all of which is glory enough for all concerned.

The Prince of Wales Among the Masons.

HIS INSTALLATION AS GRAND MASTER OF THE MYSTIC ORDER IN THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The Prince of Wales was last night installed Grand Master of the Masonic Order of England and Ireland, with great pomp at Willis' Rooms. The street in front of these fashionable apartments was densely crowded by people eager to see the grand dresses and decorated aprons of the magnates. The installing officer put the following questions to the Prince:

Installing Officer—Are you ready and willing to undertake the supreme government of these orders in England and Ireland, and the dependencies of the British Crown?

His Royal Highness—I am.

Installing officer—Will you observe all things that will promote the well-being and dignity thereof?

His Royal Highness—I will.

Installing Officer—Will you protect and uphold the same to the best of your ability?

His Royal Highness—I will.

Installing Officer—You will not acknowledge any superior, co-ordinate, or inferior jurisdiction?

His Royal Highness—I will not.

Installing officer—You will not permit your prerogative or authority to be infringed?

His Royal Highness—I will not.

Installing Officer—You will uphold the Queen's supremacy?

His Royal Highness—I will.

Installing Officer—You will judge all equally, without distinction of rank?

His Royal Highness—I will.

The Primate thereupon offered up the following prayer:

"O Lord, who ruleth the hearts of the greatest and humblest on earth, imbue this Thy servant and our governor with a portion of Thy divine grace, to the end that he may rule us aright, and ever relying on Thy protection, he may glorify Thee in his works. Endow all those committed to his care with such a measure of thy wisdom that they may render due obedience to him as his, under Thy guiding power, has been set in authority over us. This we pray, through Christ our Prophet, Christ our Priest, and Christ our King."

The Grand Master-elect then took the oaths and signed the roll on the Sepulchre, the proper officers attending with the insignia of office, viz.: Steel chain, Cross of Salem, sword, baton, ring and book, which the Installing Officer took severally and delivered to the Grand Master at the Sepulchre. This solemn part of the ceremony having been concluded, the Installing Officer conducted his Royal Highness to the throne, with the words, "I place you on the throne as Grand Master of the Order in England, Ireland and Wales, and the dependencies of the English crown," and then took his seat on the right. The Primate having pronounced the Benedictio Sacerdotalis, the Herald made due proclamation to the east, southwest and northwest. The Knights in order filed past from both sides, saluting, two at once, and then marched down the centre to the swelling notes of the organ accompaniment. This salutation having been made, the Arch-Chancellor advanced to the foot of the dais and delivered an address. A magnificent banquet followed. The Prince presided, supported by the Earl of Limerick and the Earl of Skelmersdale. Nearly all the grand officers and Knights present at the installation sat down to the banquet, and among the American Knights present were Pay Director Cunningham, United States Navy, Commissary of the Vienna Exposition; Colonel Mann, United States Cavalry; and General Roddy, United States Army.

After the repast, his Royal Highness, who was received with the most enthusiastic cheering, rose and said that on such an occasion few words were required to introduce the first toast, namely, the health of "Her Majesty the Queen." In connection with the toast he had to make an agreeable announcement. They were all aware that the Queen was the patroness of craft Masonry, and he had her Majesty's permission to state now that she would be the patroness of their Order.—London (April 8) Letter to the New York Commercial.
