AGREEMENT WITH CATHOLIC CHURCH IN PHILIPPINES

Washington, July 12.—An agreement has been reached between the secretary of war and the representatives of the Catholic church in the Philippines regarding a number of impotant matters of controversy which will obviate the necessity of prolonging threatening and vexatious litigations. Regarding the landed properties, the agreement provides that the Roman Catholic church, through the archbishop of Manila, shall possess absolute title to the land and property pertaining to the hospital of possess absolute title to the land and property pertaining to the hospital of San Jose, the hospital of San Jose, the hospital of San Jose, the college of Santa Isabella. These properties are valued at $2,066,000. The church relinquishes to the government of the Philippines all claims and demands upon the estate of Santa Potenciana and upon the hospital and founcation of Santa Isazio, except that the archbishop is to retain possession of the block in which the present Santa Cruz cemetery is situated. The Spanish-Filipino bank dispute also was settled, by which all claims to the exclusive privileges and to note issues beyond the amount approved by the American government are abendoned; but upon the other hand, the bank receives the confirmation without litigation and importation privileges.

CONGO CONDITIONS.

Brussels, July 12.—Maj. Lomair, who served 18 years in the Congo and who resigned when notified he would be prosecuted for cruelty toward native soldiers, retailated today by publishing a sensational exposure of the repulsive condition in the native army. He declared the soldiers are merely brigands who raid the populace, assault the women and burn the villages. The major adds that when he attempted to protect the natives by inflicting sever punishment upon the troops his disciplinary measures were overruled by his superiors. He insists that the real object of the Congo administration in preferring the charges was to get rid of him.

San Francisco, Cal., July 12,-Mayor Charles Boxton, major of volunteers in the Spanish war, head of the department of dentistry of the college of physician and surgeons, twice elected supervisor of the city and county of San Francisco, the first of the officials to fall into the net spread by the briberygraft prosecution, today on the witness stand, in the Glass trial, told in detail the story of his entrapment last fall at the home of one Roy, a restaurrteur, who, cooperating with the prosecution, bought for $500 his supervisorial vote against an ordinance prohibiting child patronage of skating rinks-only to Both the direct and cross-examination of Mayor Boxton was concluded within the day. Other witnesses called were President Homer S. King of the Bank of California, a director of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company, and Henry T. Scott and Frank G. Drum, respectively, president and director of that corporation. The last named is under indictment on charges of bribing 14 supervisors to fix the legal gas rate as 75 instead of 85 cents.

Into the cross-examination of Mayor Boxton, Atty. Delmas injected the identification by the witness of certain court papers connected with the Both the direct and cross-examination

Into the cross-examination of Mayor Boxton, Atty. Delmas injected the identification by the witness of certain court papers connected with the attempt last fall to remove Dist. Atty. Langdon from office and appoint in his stead Abraham Ruef, the presumed object being to kill the graft investigation in the bud. The 18 supervisors, including Boxton, swore that they were each and all guiltless of the crimes of bribe taking or of any crimes; from this Delmas can argue to the jury that Boxton is a perjurer, and therefore his testimony against Glass in having accepted a bribe from Halsey of the telephone company is not worthy of belief.

The examination of Homer S. King was to draw from him the statement in effect that Louis Glass, as acting president of the Pacific States Telephone company, was the only official who had authority to sign checks or O. K. disbursements without authorization by the board of directors. The attenpt was moderately successful.

Frank Drum was questioned at length about his part in the renting of rooms in the Mills building by Agent Halsey for the alleged purpose of paying bribe moneys to the supervisors. He said that he had introduced Halsey to Agent Cannon of the building, merely; but he confessed that in a general way he knew from Halsey that the rooms were to be used for the interviewing of supervisors on the rival telephone subject, and that Halsey desired secrecy in the matter.

The examination of President Scott was to determine among other things that after the storm of the bribery prosecution broke, Glass shipped Halsey out of San Francisco in disguise to Manila, gave him a position there with a telephone company of which Glass is president, and also caused him to be carried on the payrolls of the San Francisco company as pensioner in the sum of $175 a month. All that Scott would testify to was that Halsey did go to Manila and that he (Scott) put him on the payrolls as stated, though Halsey "was no longer an active employe."

REGULATIONS FOR THE USE OF BENZOATE OF SODA.

Washington, July 12.—The department of the agriculture today promulgated regulations governing the use of benzoate of soda and sulphur fumes as preservatives of fruits and other foods, which regulatios were prepared by the board of food and drug inspection and approved by the secretaries of agriculture, treasury and commerce and labor in accordance with the provision of the law that products shall not contain substances which lessen their wholesomeness, orders were issued that no drug, chemical or harmful or deleterious dyes, or preservatives, should be used. Protests coming in great numbers from the National food association and the California fruit packers caused the federal authorities to temporarily withhold its regulation. The statement issued today permits the use of common salt, sugar, woodsmoke, potable distilled liquors and condiments, and pending further investigation the use of saltpeter.

The regulations declare that the label of each package of sulphur-foods or of foods containing sodium benzoate, or benzoine acid, shall bear a statement that the food is preserved with sulphur dioxide, or with sodium benzoate, or benzoine acid, as the case may be, and the label must not bear a serial number assigned to any guaranty filed with the department of agriculture nor any statement that the article is guaranteed to conform to the food drug act.

Certain coal tar dyes, bearing a guarantee from the manufacturer that they are free from subsidiary products and represent the actual substance of the name they bear may be used after having been tested and found free from harmful constituents.

The question of the entry into the United States of vegetable greened with copper salts which do not contain an active amount of copper, will be admitted to entry if the label bears a statement that sulphate of copper or other copper salts have been used.

No prosecution will be based on the sale of foods and food products manufactured or packed in the United States per or other copper saits have been used.

No prosecution will be based on the sale of foods and food products manufactured or packed in the United States prior to the issuing of this decision, where the composition of such foods and food products is at variance with the requirements of this decision, if the nature of the variation be plainly stated on the label. In every case, however, the burden of proof will be on the manufacturer to show that the goods were manufactured or packed prior to the date of this decision.

Edward M. Shepard Discusses Its Evils and the Cure For Them.

PRESENT PLAN IS DECEIVING.

Facilitates Falsehood-He Would Abolish the Dollar Mark on Certificates of Stock.

Galesburg, Ill., July 12-An address by Edward M. Shepard of New York "Corporation Capitalization and Public Morals" was the feature of today's session of the annual meeting of the Illinois Sstate Bar association.

The abolition of the purely nominal money capitalization of business corporations as a cure for the evils of over capitalization was set forth by Mr. Shepard in his address. The removal of the dollar mark from capital stock will, he believes, go far toward solving the problem.

"It is the falsity of the present plan of corporate capitalization which should condemn it," he said, "For the very reason that it facilitates deceit, the delusion of investors and insincere dealing with public sentiment by public officers, it should be ended, if there be a better plan. I think there is a better plan. I think there is. I suppose that the share of stock shall have no dollar mark; that its only essential feature shall be the truthful certification that it is one of a given total number of equal shares into which the enterprise is divided.

the truthful certification that it is one of a given total number of equal shares into which the enterprise is divided.

"Who lends a corporation money upon the nominal amount of its capitalization? The creditor who is same considers, not the nominal, but the actual situation; his concern is with the company's realizable property, its mortgage of lien debts, its floating debt, its gross income, its net income. Is not, however, the creditor entitled to know that the capital of which he has been assured shall not, until he is paid, be taken from the company in dividends, but remain a fund for his security? Indeed, he is entitled to that. Our system of nominal capitalization does not give him that assurance. The creditor might, however, require a corporation, as a condition of his extension of credit, to provide him with a statement of present and actual conditions, just as a broker requires a statement of solvency of a partnership whose note he places on the market. For carlessness or dishonesty in making such statements the common law provides ample remedy. The essential thing, as I conceive it, is that the basis of the dividend or of the credit shall be found in some responsible statement of present actual facts, not in fictitious or nominal, or obsolete capitalization."

Mr. Shepard also spoke of the common idea that the profits of railroads and other public service corporations should be restricted to 6 per cent. This, in his opinion, is a fallacy, and if so restricted would prevent industrial advancement.

"Private capital will not go into new and untried enterprises unless upon a promise that, in case of success, the profits shall exceed the rate of interest which could be earned upon assured investments." he said.

"Sensible capitalists will never take the risk of total or partial loss unless paid for the risks in the magnitude of on assured investments," he said.

"Sensible capitalists will never take the risk of total or partial loss unless paid for the risks in the magnitude of probable or possible profit. It is absurd to suppose that constructive genius and financial, and even moral courage would have carried railroads over the Allegheny mountains, or the Rockies or the Sierras, on the assumption that if the enterprise failed a great loss should be borne by the promoters, but that if the enterprise succeeded, then their profit should be limited to what they could have earned without risk by lending their capital on bond and mortgage. ital on bond and mortgage

However, the owners of railroads and other like properties, in considerable part, have themselves to thank. If from the beginning they had openly insisted that their risks should be convenient. ly insisted that their risks should be compensated by large profits, just as would be the risks of a pioneer manufacturer or the merchant who loads a ship for Cathay: If in this matter there had been neither concealment, nor insincerity, nor juggling of figures, there would today be less of the notion that railroad rates ought to be adjusted to produce not more than 4 or 5 or 6 per cent."

Examination Monday.

New oYrk, July 12.—Henry J. Wilson, former messenger of the First National bank, who says he was robbed of $1,715 in cash while collecting for the bank July 1, was arrested today and held in $5,000 bail for examination Monday. Notes and drafts to the amount of $32,000, which Wilson asserted were stolen at the same time, have been returned to the bank. The messenger, after making the collections, did not return to the bank for several days, declaring that his pocket had been picked and that he feared he would be accused of theft. After the notes were restored to the bank he surrendeded himself, but was not arrested until his story was investigated.
