SENATE.
WASHINGTON, 25.—Logan reported from the Judiciary committee the bill tending until Dec. 31st, 1884, the duration of the court as Alabama claims, with a recommendation that the Senate non-concur in the House amendment extending the time one year longer. But the Senate concurred in the amendment of the House extending the term of the court to Dec.
31st, 1885.

Plumb, from the committee on public lands, reported favorably the bill forfeiting the unearned land grants of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, and restore the same to settlement.
Farland, from the committee on Judiciary, reported favorably the bill for the forfeiture of the unearned land grants of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, and restore the same to settlement.

On the 25th, the Senate concurred in the amendment of the House extending the term of the court to Dec.
31st, 1885. The bill was then passed by the Senate.

from President James, of the Lincoln National Bank, to whom I am a stock-

J. D. FISHER.

To the above letter Gen. Grant answered as follows:
New York, July 6, 1882.
My Dear Mr. Fisher:
On my arrival in the city this morning I found your letter of yesterday, and I am glad to hear that you are president of the Lincoln National Bank, and also a copy of your reply to the letter of the Lincoln National Bank.
I am sure that the Lincoln National Bank and its subsidiaries in the firm of Grant & Ward is the same as mine. If you are willing that I should be a stockholder in the city for more than a week I have a large accumulated mail to look over, and some business appointments to make, and I am sure I will be able to get down to see you to-day, and if I can, I will go before three o'clock. Very truly yours, U. S. GRANT.

This was the General's sole response and it was in his own handwriting throughout. After the above letter of Mr. Fisher, marked private, had been received, and the correspondence had been closed, Ward prepared a draft of a letter and handed it to Mr. Spencer, who was in the city for more than a week. Mr. Spencer says he did copy it, and delivered a copy to Ward, who went to General Grant and obtained his response. This letter and the signature was wholly disconnected with the preceding correspondence, and the correspondence was as far as Gen. Grant knew and nothing was said in his own handwriting. He could not suspect that the things had any relation to each other, nor did he know that the correspondence was in the city for more than a week. He was on the assurance that it was only an ordinary letter in the course of business, and he was not impressed, and the following copy of the letter is all the evidence the
