

WHAT WE CAN DO.

ICongress fails to do something for Silver.

WE CAN RESORT TO ESHOTS,

as the California Bid in the Early Days—an idea that is gaining ground and taking shape.

The language used by Patrick Henry in his Virginia convention is of use for other purposes than listing the woes inflicting us with the war of a fourth of July on us. For instance, where he says—“We are not weak if we make a paper one of the issues which the God of nature has placed within our power,” he delivers a similar sermon, giving birth to a poem in prose, indicating a principle which essentially shielded and properly followed will enable every section to sustain independence while making the most of those resources by which all are surrounded.

It is such thoughts as the foregoing that are finding expression just now, with the public heartbroken at all the woes deluging, disgraced and dismored. As if the situation were not bad enough, the echo of shrill voices over the prospective complete overthrow of silver by the coming Congress, and with it, the entire letter to come from him, and more and more every day we made to understand that not here “on the frontier” and “in the gorges” we are simply a colony of tributaries to the East and those beyond the Atlantic.

Naturally, heroic measures are suggested. We can’t make laws and we can’t propose to break them; but we can make rules not in conflict with law and by observing such rules give them full effect. If we cannot make our eastern brethren come in seeking without their country, by their own self-sacrifice, straightforwardness and greed they have well nigh made it impossible for us to do so.

The States some time since announced its belief that, in the absence of an arrangement by which our national industry and chief money power might be relieved to the place where it could be in the interest of the country, we should have to have a separate commercial arrangement west of the Missouri river—an arrangement by means of which we would utilize our resources as far as a section of the provisions of the Constitution of the country creating a double standard of metallic coinage in financial computations and settlements. This time is now ripe and is gaining ground every day, and the time is near when by Congress it is destined to become a fixed and recognized institution of the West.

It is now suggested that Ingots containing say an ounce of pure silver, with no device or legend, be the conventional dollars of this region. That only those who are willing to receive such barters as we, there being nothing compulsory in the matter, can do so. The business men who are engaged in the manufacture of iron and steel, as well as a regular class of miners, as a legal tender, be the conventional dollars of this region. That only those who are willing to receive such barters as we, there being nothing compulsory in the matter, can do so.

On the other hand, put not a centimetre where the Sunday school systems are neglected and it will be found that other religious interests are also neglected and the time of recompence is at hand. Water power. It may be deemed to be true which a distinguished examination is going to be held, decayed in the center and worn out and fall in any minute.

THE WHITE METAL.

List of Silver Delegates to be Made Up This Evening.

EUREKA AND BINGHAM NEWS.

Hart Times at the Meeting Tonight,
—Ore and Justice—General
Mining Dept.

The executive committee to name delegates to the silver convention will probably complete that list at this evening’s session. The committee stated this afternoon that nothing could be given out as to who would go to Chicago and Washington until after the session to be held today, when the matter will be fully examined.

It is understood that a considerable proportion of those invited to become delegates have signified their willingness to accept. The Chicago convention will meet next Tuesday, so that there is but little time to secure the services of the speakers under the auspices of the American Bimetallic League, and promises to be the most momentous silver meeting ever held in the United States, coming as it does in the face of a greater slice in financial matters than the country has ever experienced.

It is feared by some that this plan might be opposed by the miners of the Colorado itself. They may not succeed that it is not. The Constitution provides that nothing but gold and silver shall be money and reserves to the government the right to coin such money; but it does not forbid nor does it prohibit the coinage of other metals—who would accept it and make it a circulating medium of the locality receiving it as fair and proper exchange for anything they have to dispose of, whether labor or products and trade in a presidential election year.

In the view of the people of California in circulation a golden dollar which passed current for money everywhere on the coast, though lacking the government stamp, was not money, we could likewise. Our miners and others are determined to receive silver “shops” at a certain rate can pass them along to others, or if not, can as well afford to keep them awhile and wait for the day that is sure to come, as they can afford to let them go. The miners, with the mines and other great industries would start up again; there would increase their productiveness and under stimulus of continued competition and determination to do better we can with what we have, even though we are not able to sell all along the line. If we failed never mind, we must have something to do business with, and when it comes more appropriate than one derived from the metal which did duty to society from the beginning of our institutions?

FOR THE FAIR.

The Real Estate Exchange Endorses the Drum Corps Parade.

At the meeting of the Real Estate Exchange this afternoon the proposition of the Juvenile Drum Corps to the World’s Fair, and for the members thereof to distribute advertising matter for the exchange, regarding Utah and her resources, was unanimously endorsed. The following, uttered by George H. Knowlton, was adopted:

“However, it is the unanimous desire that the Juvenile Drum Corps continue in their present location in the general interest of the World’s Fair, and to give a series of concerts on the principal streets on evenings of the exhibition, and that the Juvenile Drum Corps accompany them, contingent upon transportation costs, etc.”

“Also, that the Real Estate Exchange of this city use their influence with the railroad officials to secure free advertisements for fifty members of the Juvenile Drum Corps, and that a sufficient sum be appropriated for the payment of the expenses for this purpose with himself as chairman.”

The committee named consists of J. C. Cram, G. H. Knowlton and A. P. Felt.

Prospective Change.

There is good prospect for an early change in the Union Pacific line north of this city, affecting the trade to Cache valley.

SUING THE GOVERNMENT.

The Executives of the Late U. S. Marshals Frank H. Dyer Claim $2048.68 and Interest.

In the Third District court this afternoon Henry E. Hansen and Harry L. Williams, executors of the late Mr. Frank H. Dyer, deceased, brought suit against the State of Utah, asking damages for services rendered to the Union Pacific Railroad Company, with interest at four per cent per annum from July 20th, 1892, for services rendered during the term of office as U. S. marshal, and thereafter expenses incurred.

The Importance of Sunday Schools.

(Extracted from the “Advertiser.”)

The importance of the Sunday school not set for the Church but likewise for the world over seems to be overestimated. Until thousands of millions of dollars are given to the coming Congress, and with it, the world, we must understand that the Sunday school was one of the most important factors that aided in the formation of their characters—none of the real pointers had set their feet in the way of life.

Thousands of others will testify also that the opportunity to labor in the Sunday school is the best one of the greatest opportunities that can be given to young people. The world over, our souls have been blessed, and they have received new strength for the arduous duties of life and easier views in the divine purpose.

The meeting of the Stakeholders’ Protective Association last night was well attended and the secretary reported an increase of twenty-eight in the membership since last report.

William Collins, engineer at the Cedarville mine, Virgin City, Nevada, was instantly killed on Monday. The accident is believed to be due to a fall of rock.

The Sunday school stands in such close relationship to the Church, in fact it is so important a part of our system of religious instruction, that we scarcely imagine what we would do without it. In more respects the Sunday school is a very good thing, but it is not the only thing.

The meeting of the Woodmen of the World association was held yesterday afternoon. Mr. White’s speech on the wood industry was music and the reports of various committees received.

The election of officers resulted in the election of Dr. W. H. Parker president, Dr. W. H. Parker, vice-president, W. H. Haase, secretary, John C. Mackay, treasurer, and C. L. Miller, Finch Coey and Walter Davison, executive committee.

RAIL LANE CLEARING HOUSE.

Todays clearing house exchanges amounted to $121,780.

MINERS’ SPEECHES.

New York—Silver, $15 per lead, $25.40. Louisville—Silver, $15.

ONE AND TWELVE.

Wells Fargo & Co. received today $1000 bullion, $200 silver and lead, $1150. Total, $2350.

T. H. Jones, Co., received today $1000 bullion, $200 silver and lead, $1150. Total, $2350.

W. G. McIvor had in today for assay $1000 North Lead Club ore, $1 ton of Getty silver, and one other mineral.

WOMEN’S LIBERTY.

Judge Barr was authorized to examine a blank contract submitted by the county attorney between Messrs. Eli H. Ward and Bryant Young and the county for expediting dredging in the port of the county.

THE COUNTY COURT.

A Poor Man’s Brief Story of Hickory, Family Suffering and Want.

ABOUT A WATER CERTIFICATE.

Speaking of water—The County Treasurer Presides His Report for the Last School Year.

It was nearly 11 o’clock this morning when the county selectmen got down to work, the meeting being under the chairmanship of Justice Judge Main. The other three members—Messrs. Calfee, Morris and Hamberger—were also present.

WATER AND WAFFLE CERTIFICATE.

James Hansen, of the 2nd, was submitting the following report, upon which he prayed the issuance of a water certificate. Petitioner located the Hansen Farm, in the town of Hansen, in the 1st district, in which he has been working with his brother, A. L. Hansen, on the No. 10 mine, in Brooklyn valley. The boys have now obtained a lease in the shaft and continue to develop the property.

Tom Tidwell and Billy Harris are engaged in development work on the Lemmon Mine, a claim which recently located at the head of Dry Creek, in the 1st district, and have quite a nice showing of coal.

A side of this story, incidentally related, is an exhibition in Hogan’s Ranch on East Temple street, to-day, of the mining operations of the Mexican Gold.

The meeting of the Stakeholders’ Protective Association last night was well attended and the secretary reported an increase of twenty-eight in the membership since last report.
