John A. Peterson, in an effort to recoup his fortunes by fraudulent means, has come to grief. The federal grand jury has found an indictment against him for seeking to derfaud C. E. Howard of Colorado and for felonious use of the United States mails. In his scheme to get rich quick, Peterson represented himself as the general superintendent of the Great Western Detective and Collection Agency. His offices flourished in every country on earth, but the address of his Salt Lake office was not particularly mentioned. The alluring name of "Pet," however, did duty as cable address for Mr. Peterson, and he was luxuriously equipped—with the exception of cash—to detect and collect. But this slight disability was the reason of his assumption of the general superintendency, and the aid of the newspapers was counted on to supply the cash. Peterson inserted an advertisement in the Denver Post offering employin the Denver Fost onering employ-ment to eight men as special secret de-tectives. One of the replies received was from Howard of Colorado. In his re-ply, Peterson sold that if Howard would send him $5 to pay for outfit. would send him so to pay for ordentials, regulation badge and equipment, he would be employed as a detective by the agency at a salary of 14 a day for eight hours work, 40 cents an hour for overtime, and expenses not to exfor overtime, and expenses not to ex-ceed $4 a day and railroad fares. The fact that Mr. Peterson was not general superintendent of the Great Western Detective and Collection agency, or of anything else except his own fortunes or misfortunes, and did not intend to appoint Mr. Howard or excore else as a detective here or anyone else as a detective here or anywhere, but merely wished to find out how many five dollar bills would come his way, is responsible for the untimely end of his dream of author-ity and wealth, and his trial will follow in regular course.

Went Direct to Chicago.

Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 28.-A few minutes before 4 o'clock this morning Oberlin M. Carter, ex-captain of engi-neers, walked out of the portals of the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, a free man. At the gates he was met by his uncle, L. D. Carter, and immediately driven in a hack to the union depot in this city. This last movement was a to throw the newspapermen whom he wished above all things to avoid, off the track. At the union station he was met by a representative of the Associ-ated Press and while Carter still staunchly refused to be interviewed as to his plans as to the future he said: "I will catch the Missouri Pacific train out of here at 5:14 o'clock to Kan-sas City and there, after breakfast will take the fast Santa Fe train direct to Chicago. I wish to spend Sunday with my mother, who is over-anxious to see

The captain looked much older than when he entered the prison nearly four years ago, but showed no trace of illealth.

It was thought last night that an officer of the department of justice might be at the prison gates to re-arrest Car-ter on an old indictment, but such was not the case. When he decided to leave the gates were thrown open to him and he passed out of the prison walls for the first time since he was brought into court during his attempt to obtain a re-lease by an act of habeas corpus. He was attired just as he was on his arriv-al at the time of his incarceration.

District 43 Wants Highland Boy Tax For a High School.

Charles Brink, J. W. Grant and Nicholas Hair, trustees of school district 43 at Bingham, held a consultation with the county commissioners today in relation to the opportionment of the taxes on the ore produced by the Highland Boy mine last year. The tax on the product of the mine was apportioned by the county commissioners to Salt Lake City, where the office of the company is located, instead of district 43, where the mine is located and the ore pro-duced duced. The Highland Boy company refused to pay the tax here, claiming that it was illegally assessed to the city. Be-cause of the higher rate of tax here the company would be compelled to pay $10,200 more than it would in district 43. The trustees of that district are very anxious that the tax should be ap-neutioned to the district for they need duced.
