Edward S. Luty Laid to Rest—
Heartfelt Eulogies on Noble Life.

GREAT ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED

Committing Depredations Along Line
Of S. P.—High School Students
Reinstated—News Briefs.

Ogden, April 8.—Most impressive were the funeral services held yesterday afternoon over the body of the late Edward S. Luty, former trainmaster of the Southern Pacific at Ogden. Long before the hour for the commencement of the services the tabernacle had begun to fill up, and by the time the services began there was not a vacant seat to be had. Friends of the deceased from many points in Utah and Nevada were present.

At 1:30 o'clock the funeral cortege left the family residence at 2065 Grant avenue and was more than a mile in length. The cortege was led by the Auditorium band with the following orders in line: Woodmen of the World, B. P. O. Elks, Order of Railroad conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers, Odd Fellows, Railroads, Ladies' auxiliary of the Railroad conductors, and members from the various offices of the Southern Pacific and railway employees on other lines. From many towns along the line of the railroad in Nevada were representative citizens as well as from Ogden and Salt Lake.

The services at the tabernacle commenced at 2 o'clock. The speakers were Pres. C. F. Middleton, Patriarch George W. Larkin, Rev. P. A. Simpson of Salt Lake City and Joseph Barry, all of whom paid many eloquent and feeling tributes to the virtues of the deceased, who was one of the most popular and beloved railroad men in the west, and offered comforting words of sympathy for the relatives of the deceased. The following music was rendered: "O Love Divine," and "Face to Face," by Mrs. A. H. C. Smith; "Someday" by "Under the Stars," Mrs. William Jones; "Face as a Bird," by Miss Tillie Hancock; "Good Night," by Mrs. Jones and Miss Hancock; "O My Father," by Orson Griffin.

Many most magnificent floral offerings were the splendid evidence of the high regard in which Mr. Luty was held by a great circle of friends. At the family residence the Odd Fellows conducted their ritual and at the grave, the Woodmen conducted their services. The grave, in the city cemetery, was dedicated by Elder William Hancock.

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED.

Depredations Along the Line of the S. P. in Nevada.

Ogden, April 8.—Stories of the boldness and depredations of the great army of unemployed men along the line of the Southern Pacific in Nevada are increasing more each day and it is puzzling the railroad officials as well as the officers of Ogden City and Weber county as to how to cope with the situation. The matter of placing armed guards upon the trains through eastern Nevada has been seriously considered by the company, and it is stated that it will be only a matter of a short time before the train crews as well as a number of special officers will ride the trains "armed to the teeth."

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS RE-INSTITUTED.

Ogden, April 8.—After considerable pressure had been brought to bear upon the principal of the high school, the 12 students of the board of education, who were expelled Monday afternoon for playing truant from school last Friday afternoon, were reinstated. The students were able to return to their classes late yesterday afternoon after receiving a severe reprimand from Principal Cloyd and they promised that they would pay strict attention to their work for the remainder of the school year. One or two of the students were taken back to the school Monday evening after an investigation of their case had been made by the principal.

ONE RUNAWAY RETURNS.

Ogden, April 8.—An indignation meeting was held late yesterday afternoon by the boys of the state industrial school on account of the action of a couple of boys of the school who ran away last Friday evening when they were brought into the city to attend an athletic meet at the armory. The boys filed a petition with Supt. Thomas and Asst. Supt. Kneass, in which they denounced the two inmates who had betrayed the trust reposed in them. Two signers ask that the runaways if caught be severely punished and denied any liberty whatever in the school in the future.

Later in the day one of the boys who escaped returned to the institution voluntarily from Salt Lake City to which place he had gone when he ran away Friday night. The returned lad's name is Hansen, and he said that his conscience hurt him and that he had talked the matter over with his mother, and it was decided that he should return. It was because that they thought that they would be denied the privilege of attending athletic meets in the future that the boys took the action they did in regard to the petition.

SPRING CITY.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Residence of Hemming Hansen and Adjoining Property Burned.

Special Correspondence.

Spring City, Sanpete Co., April 6.—A fire which started about 1:30 p. m. today burned to the ground the seven-roomed frame residence of Hemming Hansen, the new barn, granary, sheds and outbuildings of Chris. Thompson, and the barn, hay, and sheds of Edward Hansen, causing a loss of about $3,500, with no insurance.

The fire started in the kitchen roof of Hemming Hansen's house and was caused by a defective flue. A strong wind was blowing at the time, and the fire was carried over the outbuildings on Mr. Hansen's lot and caught in the barn of his son, Edward Hansen, on the north side of the block. In a few minutes it had spread to a Christian Thompson's barn and from there was carried by the wind to Andreas Thompson's place, a block and a half away.

At the latter place the fire was extinguished by the fire company, and the loss of the barn and outbuildings was about $1,000.

For a time it seemed that the whole northeastern part of town would be burned, and it was only by the most diligent efforts that the new brick residence of Chris. Thompson and the home of Orson Hansen across the road north were saved. The old sheds on the Lambert place adjoining Orson Hansen's were burned.

The Mt. Pleasant fire department came over and did good work in arresting the spread of the flames.

Much sympathy is felt for those who suffered loss by the fire, and especially for Hemming Hansen and his wife. They are among the city's oldest residents, and Mr. Hansen has taken especial pride in beautifying his home and surroundings, and today he saw the labor of years swept away in a few minutes.

Evanston, Wyo., April 7.—Judge David H. Craig of Rawlins opened the Third district court here today, with the largest criminal docket on record, nine persons being charged with murder.

On Wednesday, April 8, hearing will begin on the case of Mrs. Annie Bruce and daughter, who are charged with the murder of James Bruce of Smoot, Wyo., husband and father of defendants. Bruce died in terrible agony after eating fish put in his lunch on the morning of March 20, 1907. Suspicion at once pointed to the wife and daughter of the deceased, who were charged with the crime and put in the county jail. They are both out on a $10,000 bail bond, given last September, when the case was postponed.

Blasi Biagio, Frank Tini, Joe Tini, Joe Moreno, Scarsot Dart and Secundi Camillo, all Italians, are on trial at this time for the murder of two white boys at Cumberland, Wyo.—John Kennedy and Edward Buke—the trouble starting in a saloon. The penalty for the crime, in this state, is not less than twenty years or for the term of their natural life.

Thomas Daxons, who had served several years in the California penitentiary, being released but a short time ago, will be tried for the shooting of Ira Taylor, an oil well driller, at Spring valley, the early part of January, 1908.

HELD FOR MURDER WITHOUT BAIL

Archie Burns Must Answer for
The Killing of Jas. F.
Jensen.

WILL PLEAD SELF DEFENSE.

Evidence of Witnesses Show That Killing Was a Matter of Who Could Shoot First.

Special Correspondence.

Mt. Pleasant, April 7.—The preliminary hearing of Archie Burns for the killing of James F. Jensen in the Jim Flisk saloon in this city March 21, commenced at 2 o'clock yesterday in Justice Ole Clemenson's court, and was concluded this morning. At its conclusion the defendant was remanded without bail to the custody of the sheriff to await trial in the district court, for murder in the first degree. Judge William H. King and J. W. Cherry were the attorneys for the defendant, the state being represented by County Attorney Lewis Larsen and District Attorney Woods.

The prosecution put in considerable evidence relating to the homicide and the circumstances leading to it.

Seven witnesses for the state and one for the defense were heard, their evidence going to show that Burns had passed Jensen several times in the saloon before the shooting, and after he had made grimaces as he passed. The last time he passed Jensen looked intently at Burns, and the latter told him to "take a good look, governor," and then passed to another room. Jensen took offense at Burns' grimaces and remarks, and followed him to the rear room. There he accosted Burns with the remark that he couldn't stand his insults. Burns told him to leave him alone, as he wanted no trouble with him. The witness for the defense testified that at this point Jensen dropped his right hand to his hip pocket, and the state to the evidence, Burns then started toward Jensen and followed him into the bar room, grabbing him first by the right hand. He shot twice while Jensen stooped and after he fell to the floor walked around behind him and fired twice more, all shots taking effect, each one having been capable of causing death. Jensen shot once after falling to the floor, and Burns shot again before he left the room.

The attorneys moved for a dismissal on the ground that Burns shot in self-defense and could not be held for murder. The evidence introduced to some extent justified the defendant's contention that he acted in self-defense; that it was only a matter of who could shoot first. The judge, however, thought a jury should decide the matter, and held the prisoner as stated.
