

GASPIE APPEARS II A FAMILY ROW

D. H. Gustaveson Says His Wife's Brother Hit Him Over
The Head.

MAY SEE CHILDREN WEEKLY

Judge Morse Also Hears of the Troubles of the Minks, but Continues the Case.

D. H. Gustaveson, who is being sued in the Third district court for divorce by his wife, Mabelle C. Gustaveson, has been granted permission by Judge Morse to visit his two children once a week at the residence of the wife's mother. The matter came up yesterday afternoon on the hearing of the plaintiff's motion for temporary alimony. The evidence presented went to show many acts of cruelty on both sides. Gustaveson said he was unable to perform a hard day's work on account of a blow he received in the head with a gaspipe in the hands of his wife's brother at a time when Gustaveson went to call on his children at the home of his mother-in-law. The defendant claims his wife is not a fit person to have the custody of the children. Mrs. Gustaveson, on the other hand, says the oldest of the two children, a boy two years old, does not want to see his father because of the many severe whippings he has received at his father's hands. She said she had notwithstanding tried to instill a proper respect for the father into the child's mind, but without success.

Mrs. Gustaveson claimed that her husband earns on an average $75 per month, and that at times he has earned as much as $100 and $125 per month.
The defendant made the statement that he only made about $40 or $45 a month, and on that account was unable to pay much temporary alimony. The case was continued for further hearing until a date to be fixed in the future.
Lawrence A. Mink was summoned before the court on a charge of failing to put up alimony for his divorced wife, as per the orders of the court. Mink said he had received no notice whatever of the divorce proceedings, and that although he learned that his wife's complaint charged him with non-support for six months prior to the filing of the divorce suit, Mink said he had lived with her up to three weeks before the divorce was granted. The case was continued until Oct. 16.

MUDDY MISSION REUNION.

An affair of exceptional interest will take place at the beautiful McCune home at the head of Main street in the near future, in the way of a reception for the survivors of the famous "Muddy Mission," so well remembered by settlers of early days. This mission, established for the colonization of southwestern Utah in 1863, came to an untimely end through the excessive burdens borne by the young colonists, in the way of taxes levied for Nevada, to which the Muddy strip was found to belong, after the several divisions of territory made at the time in aid of the struggling middle state.
The mission was abandoned in 1871, and the colony scattered to various places. One of the early settlers called to colonize this mission was Samuel C.
Claridge, father of Mrs. A. W. Mc-Cune, Sr., in whose honor the entertainment is planned. It will take place on Oct. 6, and all those connected with the historic attempt to redeem the then inhospitable region, will be royally entertained at the McCune mansion. Invited to participate in the celebration are the first presidency and other prominent officials of the Latter-day Saints Church, together with the families and relatives of the surviving missionaries.

The event promises to be a notable one.

ARREST MAYOR MARTELL

Sheriff's Deputy at Spanish Fork Seizes Warrant on Executive Charged With False Pretense.

(Special to the "News.") Spanish Fork, Sept. 19.—A great stir was occasioned here last night when Mayor James A. Martell was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Hales, on a warrant charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses. The complaint was sworn to by M. J. Plum, who accuses Mr. Martell of having secured $3,000 from him in a deal connected with the firm of James A. Martell & Co., dealers in furniture. The false pretense, it is claimed, consisted of misrepresen-tations on the part of the head of the firm regarding the value of the stock on hand at the time that Plum was induced to put money into the concern.

Joseph Hanson and Thomas Morgan were arrested as being accessories to Mr. Martell in the alleged fraudulent deal, both being members of the company. A preliminary hearing will be had Wednesday next, before the local justice of the peace.

TO INSPECT ART BUILDING.

The following invitation has been sent to the governor, mayor, newspaper representatives and artists of the city:

"President J. G. McDonald of the State Fair association asks the pleasure of your company at the new art building on the fair grounds, Wednesday, Sept. 23, at 3 p. m., that you may see and learn what has been done in state this year.
"We desire the co-operation of every artist in the state that the exhibit this year may be worthy of the place that has been provided for it.
"Trusting that we may be favored with your presence, and that you will lend your aid in making this department of the fair as success, I am,
"Yours sincerely,
"MRS. P. J. RITER,
"Supervisor Art Dept."

HANDICART VETERAN UNION.

Survivors and Their Descendants Are Urged to Meet On Oct. 3.

The annual reunion of Handicart veterans will be held in this city Saturday, Oct. 3. Three meetings are scheduled for the day, namely, at 10 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. The first two will convene in the Fourteenth ward meetinghouse, and the evening session in the assembly hall in temple block. All survivors of handicart companies and the children of any who were numbered among those bands are cordially invited to be present, as also handicart missionaries and men who went out to rescue the emigrants who pushed and pulled their belongings across the plains.

The morning meeting will be devoted to renewal of acquaintances, handshaking, and perhaps brief remarks of greeting. In the afternoon members of the various companies will address the assemblage, in recitation of handicart experiences. At the assembly hall handicart missionaries and rescuers will be numbered among the speakers, and addresses will be delivered by leading Church authorities.

MAY LOSE ITS CHARTER

Governor Directs Attorney General to Investigate Charge of Fraud Against Promoters.

Steps to disincorporate the Citizens' Investment company may be taken by Attorney General M. A. Breeden, following instructions to him received this morning in a letter from John C.
Cutler. The statement that the company secured its charter through fraud and misrepresentations has been made and the attorney general is directed to ascertain the truth of the statements, and if found true to take steps at once to revoke the charter of the concern. Governor Cutler's letter to the attorney general is as follows:

"Referring to the articles of incorporation of the Citizens' Investment company, and the public discussion of the purposes of this incorporation, I desire to submit the following: It is very questionable if there would be sufficient grounds for the disincorporation of this company on the statement of certain persons that it is their belief that the company intends to use the buildings, when completed, as a "red light" district.

"But if the statements made in this morning's issue of the Inter-Mountain Republican are true that there is a new "red light" district then there are sufficient grounds on which to commence proceedings for disincorporation. It says: "The company that is building the new red light district is incorporated under the laws of the state. It secured its papers with falsehood and misrepresentation. . . . The men who got that charter have laid themselves liable to fine and imprisonment."

"I request you to call on the Republican for proof of these statements. If they are found to be true, I ask that you take immediate steps to dissolve said incorporation."

HEALTH PRECAUTIONS.

State Board Advises School Officers
As to Proper Methods.

The August bulletin of the Utah state board of health was published this morning. It shows the total deaths in the state to be 228, with 58 districts reporting no deaths, and 74 localities free from contagious diseases; scarlet fever, 26 cases, 3 deaths; smallpox, 9 cases, no deaths; diphtheria, 46 cases, 5 deaths; typhoid fever, 125 cases, 9 deaths; whoopingcough, 173 cases, 3 deaths; measles, 55 cases, no deaths; chickenpox, 7 cases, no deaths; pneumonia, 18 cases, 9 deaths; consumption, 13 cases, 9 deaths.

The following circular of importance is issued with the bulletin, for general circulation:

"Health officers, school trustees and teachers are urged to combine in an effort to prevent the increased prevalence of contagious diseases that appears with the beginning of the school term and continues until its end. It is disastrous to look upon this harvest of disease and death as inevitable, nothing being farther from the truth.

"It should be remembered that there are two essential factors in the causation of every case of contagious disease; the susceptibility of the individual and the invasion of the disease germ.
In other words, without the existence of the susceptibility on the part of the system, the entrance of disease germs could not cause disease, nor is it possible for a contagious disease to occur without the access of germs given off from a former case.

"Recognizing these facts, we should direct our attention to the discovery and correction of the conditions which lower vital resistance and those which increase the liability to contact with disease germs. Among influences which induce susceptibility to disease none is more potent than the breathing of polluted air. Here we find an explanation for the increased susceptibility noted during the school period. The colder weather closes the doors and windows of the homes night and day; the outdoor air is carefully excluded from the living and sleeping rooms and children are compelled to breathe and rebreath the air within until the life-giving oxygen is exhausted and it is saturated with foul impurities. This inevitably results in impaired nutrition, and weakened resistance to any disease germs that may find lodgment.
The practice is inexcusable and uncivilized, and all too prevalent even among intelligent people.

"It is the duty of the health officers to educate the pupils and to do all in their power to protect children from this flagrant evil. Open windows or other means of securing a constant supply of fresh air night and day should everywhere be urged. The ample ventilation of school rooms should be insisted upon and teachers are requested to co-operate in accomplishing this sometimes difficult object.

"The close assembling of children in the school room is responsible for the increased danger of contact with the disease germs and much can be done to lessen this danger by the observance of strict precautions on the part of the teacher. All children having symptoms of sickness of any kind should sent home and excluded from school until the nature of the disease is determined. Many cases result from ex-posure in the early stage of the contagious disease before the characteristic symptoms have developed. All cases of acute sore throat should be excluded from school until fully recovered.
Children should be provided with their own pens and pencils and not permitted to exchange with other children.

"The use of a common drinking cup is very dangerous and is responsible for many cases of contagious disease.
Pupils should be provided with individual cups which should not be exchanged. The use of an overflow tap is advised where feasible.

"Oil dressing should be applied to floors and wet sawdust should be used in sweeping. School rooms should thoroughly disinfected upon the discovery of a case of contagious disease."
